MILITARY SIEGE OVER HOLY LAND

More Than 75 Per Cent Of 500,000 Jews Under House
Arrest

BRITISH DRAGNET TAKES IN 1,000 FOR QUIZZING

JERUSALEM, June 30.—(Sunday)—
(P)—More than 75 per cent of Palestine's 500,000 Jews were placed under virtual house arrest yesterday as British troops clamped a tight military siege over the Holy Land "to end the state of anarchy."

Early today the British began lifting the 18-hour curfew imposed at dawn yesterday, removing the ban for all of Tel Aviv and most of Jerusalem.

Unconfirmed reports said that five persons were killed in various Jewish settlements during the day and that scores of persons were injured, including 20 in the Yagur settlement near Jerusalem where Jewish resistance was described as particularly fierce. The death of a British soldier and one Jew were reported officially.

The curfew was put in force just as soldiers and police struck swiftly at daybreak in an effort to end a series of disorders, which have spread widely over Palestine in the past two weeks. While in force, it was estimated that the house arrest confined 200,000 Jews to their homes in Tel Aviv, 70,000 in Jerusalem, 30,000 in Haifa and many other thousands in rural areas.

The British dragnet took in at least 1,000 Jews who were detained and questioned. Although most of those later were released, scores were held for further action. Among those held were high officials of the Jewish agency, including Moshe Sherok, head of the agency's political department.

CROWVILLE CHILD FATALLY BURNED

Father In Critical Condition
After Tractor Fuel
Explodes

WINNSBORO, La., June 29.—(Special)—The use of a tractor fuel to hasten the kindling of a cookstove fire brought tragedy to the family of Cornelius Mullins, Crowville farmer, who was critically burned, one of his children was fatally burned, and his home destroyed by fire Friday evening, it was reported here today.

Lonnie Ray Mullins, 18 months old, died this morning at 1 o'clock in a Winnsboro sanitarium of burns suffered in the blaze. Cornelius Mullins, the father, was reported in a critical condition at the sanitarium here tonight.

Accounts of the fire here were that Mullins was preparing a fire in the kitchen stove about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, using a fuel which apparently exploded when it was poured into the stove. The child and father were alone in the kitchen at the time and were badly burned, before Mullins

WANTS TRUMAN TO TAKE OVER TASK

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(P)—Chester Bowles, retiring economic stabilizer, said today he will urge President Truman to take over his efforts to secure a labor-management peace.

Bowles, before tendering his resignation from government service, had been endeavoring to secure a pledge from labor leaders that they would abstain from wage demands in return for firm price controls to keep down the cost of living.

But Bowles resigned yesterday, shortly before the Senate completed action on the OPA bill, which Mr. Truman vetoed.

Bowles told a news conference yesterday that his leaving—his resignation is effective July 10—means the negotiations he has been conducting with labor leaders probably will have to be put aside for the present.

However, he said, he will suggest to President Truman that he take over the discussions and call a conference of labor and management representatives later on.

Bowles disclosed that the proposed agreement he has been discussing with labor leaders calls for a bargain by labor that it would not make demands for wage increases for one year beginning July 15, or until such time as the cost of living went 5 percent over the bureau of labor cost-of-living index for June 15.

The latter figure, Bowles emphasized, had been based on "our getting a good bill" on price control from the Congress.

The one which Mr. Truman vetoed, had been loaded "with booby traps," Bowles had said.

Prior to the house action in sustaining Mr. Truman's veto, Bowles told reporters that he was confident that the congress would extend price controls in their present form.

17-Year-Old Suspected Slayer Of Degnan Tot Feigns Delirium

Convinced This Is 'The Man'

CHICAGO, June 29.—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation, state's Attorney William J. Tuohy said tonight, had found "identical" the fingerprints of 17-year-old William Heirens and a print found on the Suzanne Degnan kidnap note.

Previous to the F. B. I. report, confirming conclusions reached by the Chicago police bureau of identification, Tuohy had stated:

"At the present moment I am satisfied" that Heirens "is the man," but, "as the matter stands now, I have not yet deduced sufficient evidence to prove him guilty beyond all reasonable doubt."

Meanwhile the husky University of Chicago student lay strapped in his bed at Bridewell prison hospital in what officials termed a "shammed delirium," refusing to answer or acknowledge questions put to him by his parents.

His mother, on advice of attorneys she and the father had procured, told him "refuse to answer any questions," but the youth showed no emotion, or indicated that he had heard her.

One of the youth's attorneys, John D. Coghlan, told reporters that "our position is that there are only suspicious circumstances" against Heirens.

Tuohy added, however, that "as matters stand now, I have not yet deduced sufficient evidence to prove him guilty beyond all reasonable doubt."

The youth, husky, 17-year-old William Heirens, lay strapped to a bed in the Bridewell Hospital. He responded to questions about the case with blank stares or unintelligible mutterings.

Tuohy said he was "satisfied" on the basis of the investigation thus far that Heirens is "the man" and added his investigation had produced these findings:

That "nine points of similarity" had been established between the print of Heirens' left little finger and a fingerprint on the $20,000 Degnan ransom note and that veteran fingerprint experts were "convinced" on

For Courses On July
First

Registration for the new private pilot flight and ground school training program under public law 346, seventy-eighth Congress, sponsored by the Veterans Administration's Vocational Rehabilitation Training program will open in the office of the registrar at Northeast Junior College Monday, July 1, and will continue throughout the day under the supervision of a special registration officer from the regional veterans administration office in New Orleans.

Lewis C. Slater, head of the department of biological and natural sciences at the local college, who was chief ground school instructor for the previous flight programs under the Civil Aeronautics Administration's War Training Service, will again direct the ground school work for the college.

Under this special flight training contract, Northeast Junior College will be enabled to offer training leading to a private pilot's license, consisting

MERCHANTS AGAINST SKYROCKET PRICES

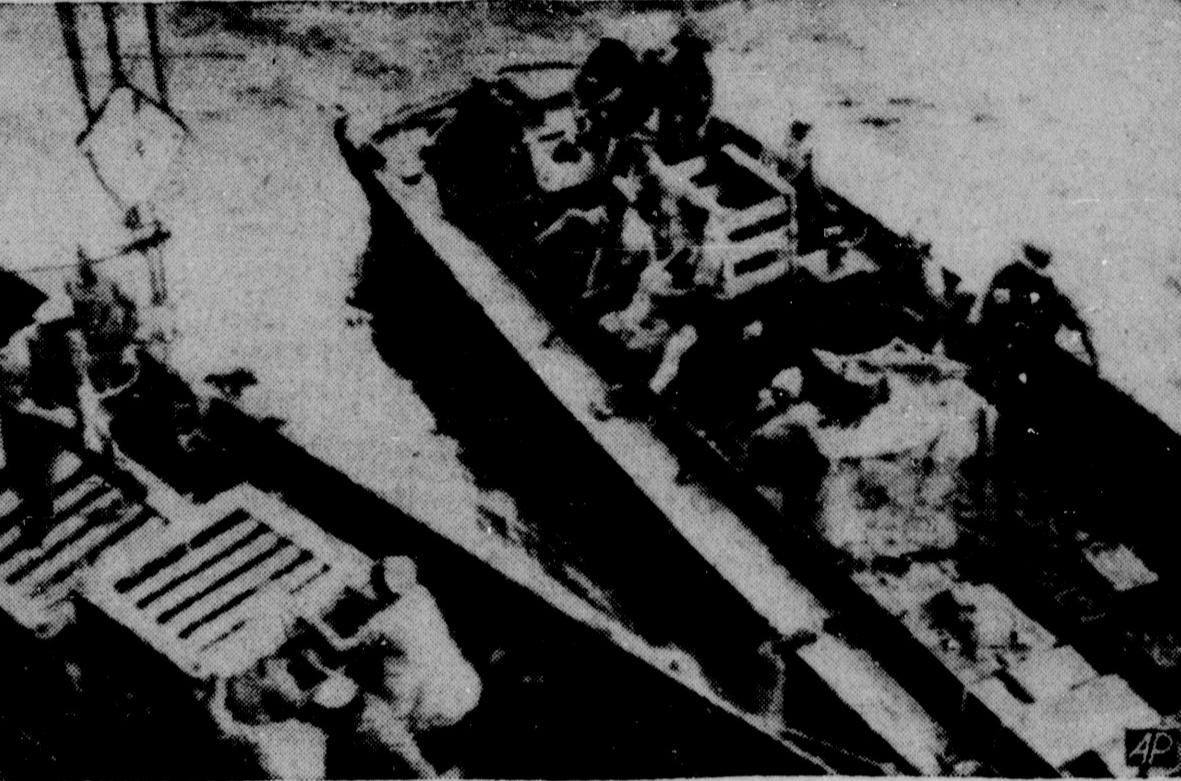

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—(P)—Hotels, restaurants and grocers intend to "hold the line" as far as possible before the demise of the office of price administration.

Spokesmen for the various groups said tonight that any increase would result from higher costs to the retailer or in operation of the various businesses.

SHEREVEPORT, La., June 29.—(P)—The retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, through its executive committee, adopted a resolution pledging that end of price control would not be used as license for unwarranted increases in prices of retail merchandise.

The merchants pledged themselves to "seek only a reasonable profit in the mark-up of merchandise" and to "reject all merchandise offered at black market prices." A telegram of commendation to Congress for upholding the presidential veto was dispatched to Louisiana congressmen and senators. No heavy buying was reported.

Atomic Bombing Test Today

BRITISH FIGURE ATOMIC DAMAGE

Think One Bomb Would Have Killed Or Injured
100,000

LONDON, June 29.—(P)—One hundred thousand persons would be killed or injured, and 300,000 others would be rendered homeless by the explosion of one atomic bomb over a large British city, a British mission reported today.

Summarizing damage and death caused by the American atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the mission put its findings into a somber calculation of equivalent damage if the same type of weapon were used against the United Kingdom.

It estimated: 50,000 persons would be killed instantly or die from internal injuries within eight weeks; another 50,000 would require extended hospital treatment; 100,000 non-casualties would be homeless permanently, or for the months required to carry out major repairs; 200,000 would be temporarily homeless pending lesser repairs.

Effect of the blast, said the report, would be equivalent to a bomb twice the size of Britain's biggest, the six-ton blockbuster, exploding above a model town built to the scale of Gulliver's Lilliput, one-inch-to-one foot.

Only reinforced concrete and steel-frame buildings appear to offer very much resistance, the report said, and such construction "therefore should be advocated for all public and semi-public buildings, and rules drawn up for a reasonable standard of protection."

Presumably, engineers began preparing to load the atomic bomb aboard the B-29 "Dave's Dream" shortly after Blandy made his decision.

The low figures of Negro registration have been blamed by T. B. Wilson, Negro president of the Progressive Voters League, on "ruse and intimidation" by some circuit clerks. He claims clerks have prevented registration by such means as feigned absence from their offices, or by pretending that the deadline has passed.

Patrol ships are busy shepherding vessels into the open sea.

Every ship and every man must be out of the lagoon two hours before the bomb is detonated.

Then all that will be left will be the ghost fleet—silent ships on which there will be no human being. The craft will stand around the bulleseye Nevada as guinea pigs of the first test of atomic power against ships.

The bulk of the non-target fleet is steaming out of the lagoon, which only a few months ago was a little known region inhabited by a few score natives who have since been evacuated to another island.

The evacuation of Bikini lagoon is now under way.

Some 40,000 military personnel, scientists, correspondents and observers must be clear of the lagoon by 5 p.m., leaving only skeleton crews to make last-minute adjustments to the scores of instruments, cameras and recording equipment aboard ships and on islands of Bikini atoll.

rate paid by the Veterans Administration for "qualified veterans."

Students wanting to register for this training who are not already enrolled in the college will have to file Veterans Administration Form No. 1950, which is simply an application for additional benefits under this provision. They also have to execute application form No. 1950-A, which, if approved, entitles them to extra cost educational benefits. Those who are already enrolled in the college will fill out only Application Form No. 1950-A.

The length of time required to complete the course of training, with flight and ground school work running concurrently, will be from 12 to 15 weeks, depending upon weather conditions, with 13 weeks as the average normal completion.

The first program will consist of one class of 25 students. Upon its completion, another class will be started; and it is hoped that more than one class can be offered in the second program so as to increase the enrollment appreciably beyond the 25-student limitation set for the beginning class.

formants said, that he might be able to make a decision concerning a peace conference in two or three days.

The council then adjourned until Monday and the agenda for that day includes the question of Italian colonies, Trieste, the peace conference, and German problems.

In today's session, the ministers discussed freedom of commerce on the Danube river, Italian reparations, units of the Italian navy to be included in Italian reparations and the countries to which they would be awarded. No conclusions were reached in any of the discussions.

In outlining his demands for a peace conference, Byrnes said the American view at the Potsdam conference was that the then proposed foreign ministers' council was to be instructed to make and not obstruct, peace. The ministers were to do the peace work on peace treaties, and not provide the finished product for other nations to rubber stamp with their approval.

Conditions last September delayed the start of the preliminary work on the conference, but during the Moscow conference, American sources quoted Byrnes as saying, the representatives of 21 nations were informed they would be invited to a peace conference on May 1, 1946, when it was expected that the preparation of treaty drafts would be completed. May 1 meant May 1, Byrnes was quoted as declaring, but the 21 nations had been waiting for an invitation since that time, and the United States was becoming unhappy over the situation. In fact, Byrnes said, his country no longer was willing to remain in that situation.

tion against flying debris and glass, heat flash and gamma rays."

The mission said standard British bomb shelters would have resisted collapse, even at the center of damage in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, but occupants presumably would have been affected to varying degrees by penetrating, short-wave radiation. Deep shelters, however, such as refuges provided by the London underground, would have given complete protection.

Victims of the gamma rays, the report said, appear to be unharmed until symptoms of nausea, vomiting and fever set in after 24 hours. The rays damage the bone marrow, preventing formation of new blood cells, and causing progressive anemia eventually followed by "excretion and death."

"It is thought that gamma rays ultimately caused the death of nearly everyone who was fully exposed to them up to a distance of half a mile from the center of damage," the report said.

this basis that the same man made the two prints.

2—"That X-ray examinations showed Heirens did not suffer a skull fracture when a policeman struck him on the head with a flower pot when he resisted capture.

3—"That police had established Heirens' fingerprints corresponded with those found last Oct. 5 in the south side apartment of Lt. Evelyn Peterson, 26-year-old army nurse who was bound and assaulted by an intruder, and that Heirens has been "definitely linked" with several Chicago burglars, some in the neighborhood of the Degnan home.

4—"That a medical kit containing surgical instruments, including a detachable surgical knife and detachable surgical saw, were found in his dormitory room and that a two-bladed fisherman's knife was found between his mattress and the side of the bed.

Tuchy and other top ranking police and state's attorney officials worked through the night and early morning hours after the discovery late yesterday.

Heirens, strapped on a bed in the Bridewell jail hospital, remained silent through hours of questioning after Tuohy said he had told him about the similarity.

"We got absolutely nothing from Heirens," Tuohy said. "No complete statement, no denial. He has feigned irrationality."

The state's attorney said that fingerprint experts had verified nine positive points of similarity between the prints on the ransom note and Heirens' print.

"These points may mean that there was a distinct similarity of whorls, loops, and other lines in the fingerprint," Tuohy said. "There are nine positive points on the fingerprint we have obtained from Heirens which coincide with the print on the Degnan note."

In meeting Heirens, who suffered head injuries Wednesday when he was seized by police for questioning about a burglary, Tuohy said he told him: "We are convinced that the fingerprint on the (Degnan) ransom note is your print."

Heirens, a first-year student at the university, remained silent, the state's attorney said. Dr. Andrew Toman, the hospital chief surgeon, said the youth was feigning a sort of unconsciousness. Other police officials, including Commissioner John C. Prendergast, said he declined to answer their questions.

The new turn in the investigation of the brutal slaying and dismemberment of the six-year-old Degnan child after she was kidnapped from her North Side home last Jan. 7 came yesterday shortly after Richard Russell Thomas, 42, an ex-convict held in Phoenix, Ariz., repudiated story he told there that he was the kidnapping-slayer. Chicago police officials, who have questioned some 2,000 persons in efforts to solve the crime, had flown to Phoenix to interrogate him.

Tuohy said that the discovery of the matching prints was made by officers in the police bureau of identification in making a routine check of Heirens' fingerprints.

Capt. Emmet Evans, head of the bureau for several years and a veteran of 41 years of fingerprint work had earlier announced the finding of seven points of similarity between Heirens' prints and the print of the ransom note.

"I am convinced that the two prints were made by the same man," Evans said.

"The similarities in this case are in the lines and loops. In these seven likenesses, the lines end or connect exactly as they do on the ransom note print."

Evans said the matching prints are those in the little left fingers. He said that sometimes four places of similarity, technically called "points," are sufficient to identify matching prints, although 11 are usually preferred and similarities may sometimes run as high as 22.

Police officials disclosed that they had searched Heirens' dormitory room on the Midway campus and found three guns, a detachable surgical knife, a detachable surgical saw, a hypodermic set, cameras, jewels, $2,100 in war bonds and numerous other items which they valued at $3,421.

Officials, as they probed all angles of the new development, questioned other students, including Heirens' roommates and his parents, who live in suburban Lincolnwood.

Tuohy said Heirens had been definitely linked with several Chicago burglaries and that police had established that his fingerprints correspond with those found in an assault on Lt. Evelyn Peterson, 26 year old army nurse who was attacked in an apartment last Oct. 5.

Heirens, who will be 18 next Nov. 15, was captured by police in the Rogers Park district on the North Side Wednesday after detectives said they found him prowling in an apartment building.

The youth, six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds, resisted arrest, they said, but he was knocked unconscious when Traffic Policeman Abner Cunningham struck him on the head with three empty flower pots. Yesterday police said they had planned to charge Heirens with assault with attempt to kill. He had fired at a policeman in an attempt to escape, police said.

Heirens entered the university last fall after finishing high school in nearby Peru, Ill., in three years.

ment, and Dr. Bernard Joseph, an agency executive committee man.

Despite the violent events of the day, quiet which fell over the Holy Land at dusk was broken in the large cities only by the occasional rumble of military trucks through the streets. Palestine communications were partly "blacked out" during the day and the nation was isolated at times from the rest of the world.

An official statement said that troops met "considerable resistance" at Yagur which "had to be overcome" by the use of tear gas. A cache of arms, including 20 rifles and 30,000 bullets, was found at Yagur, the statement said.

British officials accused the Jewish agency, a recognized Jewish supervisory body, of complicity in recent disorders and killings.

Almost the entire Jewish population of Palestine was kept from attending synagogue services today, and a few who attended early services were picked up as curfew violators as they left the temples.

The troops struck in Jerusalem, seizing Jewish agency headquarters buildings, in Tel Aviv and in at least seven other settlements. Planes circled overhead in Jerusalem.

Soldiers blasted open safes and seized more than a thousand documents in Tel Aviv. Glass littered the streets and walls of buildings were destroyed by explosives used to open strong boxes. The damaged buildings included two or three Jewish banks and the Jewish agency's sub-headquarters.

The soldiers searched also for three missing British officers believed held in a Jewish underground group in Tel Aviv.

Britain cracked down after Palestine, long the disputed land of the Jews and Arabs, had seethed in growing tension for many weeks while both factions awaited acceptance or rejection of the British-American committee's recommendations for admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine.

An official communiqué said a soldier and a Jew were killed in a clash between troops and residents of Tel Yoseph, a Jewish settlement in northern Palestine.

lins succeeded in dashing from the burning house with his baby.

Four other children of the family were playing in the yard, and Mrs. Mullins was in the yard washing some clothes, it was said.

Funeral services for the child were held this morning at 10 o'clock at Harpers cemetery under the direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnisboro.

The tragedy was almost identical in nature to those that brought death in two other families in this section last Christmas and New Year's day.

Mrs. Mary Jane Lord, a 21-year-old mother, and her nine-months-old daughter, Patricia Ann, were burned to death in their home at Baskin. The fire occurred on Christmas Eve as Mrs. Lord was preparing a fire by using tractor fuel. The Lord home was destroyed, and the husband, Clint Lord, suffered severe burns while rescuing a three-year-old son from the blaze.

Then near St. Joseph on New Year's day, Jesse Thompson, 12-year-old boy, was burned to death and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson, and two brothers, were hospitalized with burns. Again it was reported an instance of using a motor fuel to start a stove fire. The Thompson home was also destroyed.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, June 29.—The Angela Lansbury-Richard Cromwell reconciliation try has flunked; she'll press divorce plans when she's picture-free. . . . Ha! The Hollywood press photographers annual award to the most cooperative star will be discontinued because Joan Crawford, who's always won, was destined to repeat, and the whole thing's getting boresome. . . . The Frank Sinatra-Autry is the first actor-vet to apply for a residential primary under the G. Bill of Rights.

Angela Greene and Stuart Martin are scheduling their altar-trek for September. . . . Height-of-something-or-other: Never-well Lillian Gish is authoring an article on married life for a digest magazine. . . . London hears that Madeline Carroll will ask for restoration of her British citizenship next month. . . . What next? A group of New York ladies demands that movie-makers cease using women's names for animals. They say that naming a movie mule "Shirley" makes ladies with that name the butt of jokes! . . . Now she's divorced from Phil Terry, Joan Crawford will legally change her adopted son's name from Phil, Jr., to Christopher. . . . Samuel Goldwyn will appeal an O.P.A. ruling which denied him permission to sell $5,000 worth of drug store items used as props in "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty."

It took Ann Miller weeks to admit this pillar's report of her approaching motherhood—and how she shouted denials when it was first printed. . . . Acquitted was secretly married, six weeks ago in Mexico, to Luciano Baschuk, a wealthy Russian. . . . Doctors say Robert Cummings who swallowed a broken glass while drinking from a thermos bottle, is now out of danger. . . . Wotis about Lou Costello dropping a small fortune in a recent poker game? . . . Erin O'Brien Moore (Academy Award nominee for her work in "Emile Zola") has just divorced Mark Barron in Las Vegas, Nevada. She's been on USO duty overseas for the past two years.

Speaking of boomerangs, give a thought to the amazing new contract between Robert Taylor and MGM. He's been signed for 15 years, without options, and the agreement carries a guarantee that should he, for any reason, be unable to continue acting, he will be employed at top pay as either a producer or a director. It seems rather obvious to me that such a contract reflects his studio bosses' fear that he might join the legion of top-flight stars who are rushing into independent production. I'll predict that other contracts, just as favorable, are going to be dashed out to the stars, who, like Taylor, are smart enough to continue their studio affiliations. They're going to be the real winners in the present stampede for "independence."

When you hear the sensational charges being flung back and forth between Kay Williams (now Mrs. Adolph Spreckels, Jr.) and her ex-husband Macoco, reflect that while they've both been identified with Hollywood, neither one of them is, properly speaking, of Hollywood. Filmville wash so much dirty linen of its own that it shouldn't be unfairly blamed for washings that don't actually belong on its clothes line. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

BY HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK.—What in the world are they making men's clothes of these days, and who, either in or out of this world, is designing them?

That goes for suits, shirts, shorts and all the other items of haberdashery with which men bedeck themselves. I have never seen such outrageous garments at such outrageous prices in my life. And that is here in New York, too—the city that is supposed to have more quality stores, with a greater selection than any other place on earth. After five or six shopping trips in this city, I wonder what the retailers in Goud, Arkansas; Banjo, Oklahoma, and Whittling Knife, Maine, are offering their customers.

It makes me shudder to consider the shorts situation. The manufacturers have put their best advertising minds to work thinking up cute (and patented) names for their type of shorts, but the fact still remains that they are pretty dreadful. You have the accordion seat short, the three-way land gear short, the jet plane short, and the buttonless, hookless, swingless, creep-up-never and call me Will short, but none of them would comfortably fit anything but a ring-tailed gibbon.

In simple political lingo, O.P.A. is being crushed under a lot of logs. It is political log-rolling such as has not been seen in Washington since the good old Republican days when sectional blocs made deals that gave everybody something in the way of a high protective tariff. Price control renewal bills emerging from both the House and the Senate have a lot of resemblance to the old-fashioned Fordney-McCumber tariff bill. All were designed to keep prices high—and to give the consumers a good squeeze.

In tracing the political maneuvering which produced this result, one fact stands out. It was not entirely Republican opposition that killed off the Democratic administration program to hold down the cost of living for another year. The Democrats in Congress are just as much to blame for this sabotage as are the Republicans.

The trouble began in the solid Democratic South. It began when Chester Bowles, as price administrator, declared it might be necessary to put a ceiling on raw cotton. It was intensified when Bowles put new trading regulations on the cotton exchanges. They were intended to curb speculation, but they had the effect of holding down the price of raw cotton.

Political rule number one in the cotton belt is that no candidate for office can face his voters if he has at any time done anything to prevent the price of cotton from going up.

The south may have one-party dominance, but it also has pretty hot competition in the primaries.

Any congressman who approved O.P.A. after Bowles announced his new cotton policies would have been committing political suicide.

The fact that the Bowles motive was to keep down the cost of cotton clothing offered no sop whatever.

The second bloc in this situation comes from the industrial north and east. Office-seekers in this area depend for their campaign expenses on contributions from manufacturers and businessmen. A politician must have campaign money before he can go after votes. If a group of business-men-campaign contributors and a group of consumer-voters are waiting in a congressman's outer office to influence him on price controls, there is no question which will get the congressman's vote.

The third bloc is from the 20 western states. They are largely agricultural. Regardless of party, every farmer and stockman, grain dealer, feeder and packer in this area sees ahead a great chance to make a killing in meat. The only thing that stood in the way was O.P.A. price control.

It shouldn't take a slide rule to figure out which way the wind blows in this part of the country, for or against O.P.A.

The stage being set in this fashion, action was easy. Western and southern Democrats could see much in each other's needs. Mid-western and eastern Republicans could likewise find much in common.

They must have left a profound impression upon sensitive and seriously minded youth. And we cannot overestimate their importance in the earthly life and development of the boy Jesus subject to His parents and always in the synagogue on the Sabbath, "as was His custom."

Jesus made a distinction, I think, between the moral precepts of the law and mere petty regulations. The law which Jesus fulfilled was summed up not only by Jesus Himself, but also by the lawyer who asked Him, in the prelude to the Parable of the Good Samaritan, what he must do to inherit eternal life.

At Bikini and in the fifth or underwater test, knowledge of the destructive effect of the atom in fission will be rounded out. It could well be said that after Hiroshima, new evidence could be nothing more than cumulative. And—who knows—perhaps at least part of the scientific knowledge gained at Bikini will be susceptible of development for industrial and other peaceful purposes.

AT BIKINI

The hour approaches when an obscure lagoon in the Marshall Islands will become the center of international attention. What is to happen there is not the signature of a peace, but the fourth detonation of the most destructive weapon ever invented—the atomic bomb.

At Los Alamos, N. M., it was proved that the bomb would work. At Hiroshima and Nagasaki it was demonstrated what it would do to people and cities. At Bikini atoll the navy will attempt to learn what it will do to a fleet when exploded in the air. There will soon be a fifth detonation to learn what it will do to submarines, when exploded under water.

After that, no further detonations should be needed to learn the destructive power of this new weapon, of which the United States is in sole possession. But knowledge gained in these tests will no doubt be valuable in the construction of a great chain of naval and air bases in and across the Pacific.

The ultimate technical results of the Bikini test will not of course be made public. But Washington has sought to publicize the test with all means at its command. There will be 35,000 observers, of whom 175 will be newspapermen, plus broadcasters, still and movie photographers. It will be the most public test of a secret weapon that has ever been held.

At Bikini and in the fifth or underwater test, knowledge of the destructive effect of the atom in fission will be rounded out. It could well be said that after Hiroshima, new evidence could be nothing more than cumulative. And—who knows—perhaps at least part of the scientific knowledge gained at Bikini will be susceptible of development for industrial and other peaceful purposes.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK.—Thinking out loud: I do not think that a repetition of the La Salle hotel fire in Chicago is possible in any first-class New York hotel. . . . In flop-houses and $1.50-up joints, yes, since they are all housed in otherwise unrentable old buildings. But there is no hotel of a thousand rooms, which, I'm told, was the La Salle capacity, in New York, in which such a fire could get any sort of start. No, no any hotel that I know of that is half that size.

Chicago has furnished some of the most spectacular fires in American history. From the day when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked the bucket and the lantern, on Oct. 9, 1871, until the blazing morning when somebody kicked over something which must have been at least a barrel of gasoline, in or under the cocktail lounge of the La Salle, Chicago's history has been punctuated in red blazes.

The cow burned down 18,000 buildings in three days, at a cost of about two hundred million dollars—a sum that made an impression in those innocent days before deficiency financing was known.

In the last days of December, 1903, Chicago gave the world a great lesson at great cost when the Iroquois theater burned, with a loss of more than 600 lives.

The Iroquois fire was the cause of thousands of anti-fire and anti-panic laws, in every state and city. Theater doors must open outward, easily, by pressure bars, and be kept always unlocked during occupancy.

Good regulation, now generally and flagrantly disobeyed. You will find thousands of exit doors locked in theaters, hotels and movies in New York, any evening you may care to try. I don't know about enforcement in Chicago, but this latest fire doesn't sound too good.

The custom of locking permanently one of the two double exit doors exists in most New York churches, and results in inconvenience at every service, because of the slow emptying of the church.

In schools, conditions are much better, because teachers and principals, remembering the terrible school fire at Collinwood (now a part of Cleveland), Ohio, which killed 175, mostly children, on March 4, 1908, have drummed daily, in and out of school, upon the necessity for having good laws, and then obeying them to the letter.

It is well to remember that the La Salle was built in 1908. Most of the big New York hotels, as well as hundreds of smaller ones, have been built during the last 20 years, and have modern safeguards.

When I began going about and occupying hotel rooms, I found many first-class hotels, particularly in Kansas, equipped with an escape rope, coiled on the floor beside one window in each room. There were extensive instructions as to how to use these desperate inventions in case of fire.

I used to look up all exits before going to sleep, as the notices advised me to do.

It has been many years since I have even thought of fire when registering or sleeping in a hotel, and I've stayed in most of them. One hotel in Washington burned while Daughter Mary and I were customers there. We took our time, didn't get excited, and passed through the ordeal unhurt. And we took time to dress fully before going downstairs, where scores were parading about in nightgowns, pajamas and nightshirts. Yes, politicians were among the patrons.

BLACKSTRAP WILL CONTINUE SCARCE

Won't Be Enough To Meet Demand For Livestock Feed

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(P)—Unless the world has plenty of sugar, there won't be enough blackstrap molasses to meet the demand of livestock feed and industrial alcohol manufacturers and other users of the cane by-product in this country, a civilian production administration official declared today.

The spokesman, an official of CPA's alcohol and molasses branch said present demands far exceed the supply and the situation for next year appears to be about the same.

This outlook for both present and future, he said, is brought on by increased demands throughout the world for sugar for human consumption, blackstrap for livestock feed and industrial use in the reconversion period, and below normal domestic production and imports.

The blackstrap is converted into ethyl and butyl alcohol and has other industrial uses.

On the credit side for 1946, he pointed out, are about 135,000,000 gallons of blackstrap produced in this country and Hawaii, and imports totaling and estimated 150,000,000 from Puerto Rico, Cuba and other Caribbean countries.

These figures compare with a normal domestic production of an estimated 165,000,000 million gallons, and imports totaling around 175,000,000 gallons of blackstrap.

That leaves a net shortage of more than 50,000,000 gallons. What is available must be allocated equitably to all users, the spokesman said.

Since the beginning of the war, he added, government imported blackstrap has been controlled by the combined food board, which allocates foodstuffs and supplies to Allied nations. This country's share of imports and all domestic production is allocated by the CPA.

"Since January, 1942," the official who declined use of his name said, "blackstrap has been under control of a general preference order which limited the amount used for livestock feed to 50 percent of the amount used during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941. The allocation was raised to 65 percent last October because we had anticipated a 15,000,000 gallon increase in the domestic supply. This increase did not materialize."

The domestic supply includes that produced in this country and in Hawaii. The CPA had estimated it would be around 152,000,000 gallons for 1946 use, but production actually will be around 135,000,000 of the 150,000,000 gallons expected from the Caribbean, the division by the combined food board between the United States, Great Britain and other European countries will leave only "between 40,000,000 and 45,000,000 gallons for industrial alcohol in this country," the official said.

PRINTING GIVEN WITHOUT BIDDING

Inspection Of Files Shows Moran's Sons Awarded Jobs

BATON ROUGE, La., June 29.—(Special)—Inspection of files of two state departments, the state land office and the state auditor, revealed today that a quantity of departmental printing and orders for office supplies have been awarded Thomas J. Moran's Sons without competitive bidding.

State general law provides that competitive bids shall be advertised for and received on all jobs totalling in value $500 or more. State fiscal law requires at least three quotations shall be received on jobs of less than $500.

Many purchase orders to Moran's Sons, while omitting to list a specified price, are accompanied by neither quotations nor bids. Files showed, Carl Campbell of the land office admitted that the bulk of land office printing goes to Moran's Sons without quotations that have not been brought to light at the present time."

Meanwhile, spokesmen of independent printers of the state continued their fight on a senate bill which they contend will restore a "vicious political printing monopoly," and made new charges of "many gross irregularities that have not been brought to light at the present time."

Fred G. Benton of Baton Rouge, attorney for the printers, asserted "several departments of state are in practical effect continuing to perpetuate without any legal action the monopoly of Thomas J. Moran's Sons."

In a prepared statement, Benton declared, "despite the decision of the supreme court in the case of Waller v. Close, 203 La. 346, and on opinion of the attorney general rendered thereunder to the Hon. Wade O. Martin, secretary of state on June 26, 1944, ruling that the functions of the old state printing board are now in large measure transferred to the department of finance, several departments of state are in practical effect continuing to perpetuate without any legal sanction whatever the monopoly of Thos. J. Moran's Sons under old state printing board contracts by giving all printing and office supply business to that firm without fixed price and without competitive bidding of any kind."

"In the meantime the manifest purpose of senate bill 44, now pending in the house, is to legally restore the old monopoly on a scale far beyond the scope of the old discarded plan. A full investigation might reveal many gross irregularities that have not been brought to light down to the present time."

Opponents of the present printing bill, which would set up a printing board and bulk-bidding system even more extensive than that of the Leche-Long administration, assert that 80 percent of all state printing falls outside the scope of bulk contracts.

The firm holding contracts, they maintain, may arbitrarily fix its own prices on such printing without competitive bidding.

The bill, which has passed the senate and is now awaiting action in the house of representatives, provides for a board of state printing which will grant contracts on a bulk basis in eleven different printing classifications. State printing contracts are presently awarded on a job-to-job basis.

The job-to-job system, when installed during the Jones administration, resulted in a saving of 75 percent on printing costs to the state.

Martin H. Close of Alexandria, finance director in the Jones administration, aired charges in a Shreveport Times exclusive story last week that the printing bill under consideration is the result of a political "deal" between Gov. Jimmie Davis and Moran's Sons, whereby the New Orleans-Baton Rouge printing firm contributed $25,000 of printing to the Davis campaign in return for future concessions and favors if Davis were elected.

Also last week, it was revealed that, after an investigation launched by then-supervisor of public funds Jerome Hayes, payment of $23,000 was made by Moran's Sons to the state of Louisiana in settlement of claims for overcharges.

Pay was made in the form of a credit memorandum, enclosed in a letter from H. Payne Breazeale, attorney for Moran's Sons, to Hayes. The letter was dated June 2, 1941. Settlement was made, Hayes said, after an audit of state printing costs by Frank Berger of New Orleans, printing consultant employed by the state.

"I found a very definite error of actual measurement of printing," Berger charged. "I also found several misinterpretations of existing law relative to printing."

After his investigation, said Berger, Alfred Moran of the New Orleans-Baton Rouge printing firm, represented by Breazeale, was called before Attorney General Eugene Stanley to answer his charges. Also present at the conference, according to Berger, were Hayes and Gratz of the department of finance.

The $25,000 settlement was subsequently made out of court.

WEED CUTTING MACHINE USED

Will Be Given Demonstration At Farms Of Parish This Week

A series of demonstrations of pasture renovations on local farms is to be held under the direction of J. J. Joyce, Jr., parish farm demonstration agent, it was announced Saturday. Equipped with a special machine that is to be attached to a tractor, weeds, briars and bushes can be cut down as the tractor and its trailer machine passes over the field, Mr. Joyce states.

To give the advantage of seeing the machine in full operation, Mr. Joyce has arranged a series of demonstrations, starting Monday, July 1, at the farm of J. B. Johnson, Jr., at Sterlington at 9 a.m. At 1:30 p.m. of the same day, the farm of E. N. Steen, Prairie road will be visited for a demonstration.

On Tuesday at 9 a.m. the farm of Clifford Benson, Millhaven road, will be the scene of the demonstration and at 1:30 p.m. that day the demonstration will be at the farm of E. B. Beard, Jonesboro road.

On Wednesday the demonstrations will be continued thus: At 9 a.m. at the farm of J. E. Rutledge, near Lapine School and 1:30 p.m. at the farm of Bernard Biedenharn on Arant road.

Swanecourt will climb to about 30,000 feet while other planes are moving into position. Then he will make the bomb run, with Major Harold H. Wood of Bordentown, N. J., the bombardier, taking over the job of dropping the missile about six miles through space toward the Nevada.

The destroyer O'Brien will be downwind 35 miles from the target, with pilotes "drones" being herded through the air by "mother" planes to record the turbulence and radioactivity of the cloud mass rising from the explosion.

But once the bomb explodes, the two destroyers will begin a race with death to escape the radioactive cloud which will be driven by the wind in their direction. Once safely out of the path of the cloud, the destroyers will circle and keep track of its movements.

PERSUADES ORLEANS MAN NOT TO JUMP

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—(AP)—A man who "wanted to end it all," was saved from jumping from a Mississippi river excursion steamer today by a smooth talking policeman.

Poised on the rail of the vessel, as horrified fellow-passengers looked on, the man spotted Patrolman Phillip Nicaud pushing his way through the crowd.

"Don't come any closer," he yelled, "or I'll jump."

"Just a minute," Nicaud shouted back. "If you're going to jump give me your name and address. That'll save me a lot of trouble."

"If I took off my shoes, what'd I be?" the man asked.

"Barefoot."

"That's my name."

Nicard wrote this down.

"I'm getting ready to jump," the man told his audience.

"Look," Nicaud said. "This isn't a good place to jump. It's only six feet to the water. Why don't you go up to the Mississippi river bridge and make it more thrilling?"

"Say, I never thought of that," was the reply.

"Suppose we talk this over. Maybe I'll take you up to the bridge," the officer suggested.

Coming down from the rail the man said: "I'm not going to talk to you here. For goodness sake, let's get out of the rain."

During a 20 minute conversation with the officer the man insisted he wanted to end it all" because of domestic difficulty.

Finally he was booked as John W. Barefoot, 63, on a charge of disturbing the peace.

damage. The pigs and goats in the pens at the stern of the Nevada and on other ships in the fleet will help answer this question. I visited the little pig and goat pens on the Nevada. A curly-coated goat stuck his head out between the wood slats. I patted his nose. Better that his life be taken, I thought, than leave unanswered the question of what an enemy might do to his masters. Four pigs grunted quietly in a pen. Beside the goats a big bale of hay spread under canvas on the deck was the most incongruous note of the day. I wondered if ever before in American naval history a bale of hay had been a necessary article on the main deck.

Back on the Appalachian we look forward to a visit to Bikini island this evening.

It is about two miles distant this morning. We awaited word from the task force commander, Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, as to whether he will order the bomb drop. If he rules that conditions are favorable the 24-hour cycle of preparation will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, which is 5:30 p.m. Saturday in Louisiana. It has now been stated that the bomb may be dropped as early as 8:30 a.m. July 1. Previous earliest hour had been 9:30 a.m.

NO K. OF P. MEETING

There will be no meeting of Stonewall Lodge No. 8, Knights of Pythias, this week since the regular meeting date falls on a holiday, July 4, it was announced by Dr. H. C. Shelton, commander.

LEGISLATURE WILL RECONVENE TONIGHT

BATON ROUGE, La., June 29.—(AP)—In a "this week or never" atmosphere the state legislature will reconvene here Sunday night with a number of controversial measures still to be threshed out on the floors of both houses.

Subject to call from the calendar in the house is Rep. W. J. Cleveland's proposed constitutional amendment, H. B. 104, which duplicates the provisions of his "right-to-work" bill before Gov. Jimmie Davis for his signature.

Also hanging fire is H. B. 605, a measure which proposes a 2 cents per thousand cubic feet sales tax on natural gas.

Supporters of both measures admit that time is fast running out, with less than two weeks to the end of the session, but hold that to get them through nearly full attendance in the house is necessary.

With only a handful of senate bills having received house action in the 47 days of this meeting, indications are that morning, afternoon and night sessions will be the regular order, by failing to fight aggressively enough for white supremacy.

No plans have been announced by the fifth candidate, Frank Harper, former state senator and peachtree salesman, who has traveled on his campaign tour by hitchhiking.

for the coming week at least, in an effort to catch up.

A floor fight appears to be in the offing in both chambers on the general appropriations bill, particularly with regard to the state welfare department, with the house attempting to increase its appropriation and the senate finance committee attempting to top off some of its funds.

Governor Davis, who did not come to his office in the capitol this morning, is still faced with the necessity of taking a stand on the "right-to-work" bill, either by signature or by veto.

A third alternative, of letting the bill become a statute by taking no action, also is open to him.

The army, which received $21,496,902 this year, was given approximately $7,500,000 for the coming year.

The navy's record total of $23,601,136,042 this year was chopped to $4,119,659,300 for next year.

On the other hand, many of the so-called "old line" departments, whose operations had been cut during the all-out war effort, received more for the coming year when they get back to normal peacetime programs.

The Ouachita Valley Baptist Sunday School Association will meet at College Place Church, Sunday, July 7, at 2:30 p.m. with Rev. C. Roger Johnson, presiding.

The program will be as follows:

12:30-2:40 p.m.—Devotional, Rev. C. S. Cadwallader, Jr.

2:40-2:55 p.m.—Business session. (a)

Miss Winnie Smith, secretary, request

for Sunday School data. (b) Other items of business.

2:55-3:30 p.m.—Giving out awards earned in Association Training School and report on Sunday School week at Ridge Crest by Winnie Smith, association secretary.

3:15-3:30 p.m.—Men's chorus, First Baptist Church, West Monroe, under leadership of O. F. Watts, minister of education and music, First Baptist Church, West Monroe.

3:30-4:00 p.m.—Address by B. B. Fields, minister of education and music, First Baptist Church, Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller left to attend the Sunday School meeting at Ridge Crest, N. C., on July 1, and will make a stop on the return trip at Charleston, W. Va., where Mr. Miller was employed in defense work several years ago.

MILLION TEXTBOOKS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

The Veterans Administration has completed arrangements with the Library of Congress to distribute more than a million surplus textbooks to colleges and universities for the use of veteran-students, it was announced by John C. Tucker, contact representative in Monroe.

Formerly used in the Army and Navy college training programs, the books are expected to alleviate the textbook shortage somewhat. It is estimated they will save VA more than $3,000,000.

Distribution will be made to schools and not to veterans. VA is asking veterans not to apply for the books at VA offices or at the Library of Congress.

The VA has transferred funds to the Library of Congress to cover the cost of handling and mailing the books. VA acquired them from the War Assets Administration.

The library will mail printed lists of the books to accredited colleges and universities so that they may select the volumes they need. The schools then must requisition the library for the books they want.

Each school will set up its own distribution system to assure that only veterans will get the books. The supply of surplus textbooks must be exhausted before others of the same source are purchased from any other source for veterans, VA said.

Each adult inhales a gallon of air per minute, and consumes 30 ounces of oxygen daily.

And when I make loans like to do so without asking for a lot of security or making it difficult or embarrassing for folks "Personal" makes loans from $25 to $900 on signature alone, or on furniture or auto. Friends, relatives or employer not noticed.

Using my name "Yes" to loan requests in a hurry. But even when circumstances are unusual, I try to find a way to work out a deal. That's why "Personal" is so often able to make loans that others cannot.

Like most people, I don't believe in unnecessary borrowing . . . but when a loan is needed or to your advantage, I'll be glad to say "Yes." Any time you need extra cash—see me, won't you? I'm at Personal Finance Co., 2nd floor Bernhardt Building or phone me at 1288.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Editor's note.—This is the last of three stories on the British loan which congress may approve next week.

By James Marlow.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(P)—Why does Britain need a loan of $3,750,000,000 from this country?

To get back on her feet. Her foreign trade was shot by the war.

Is Britain the only country which will benefit by such a loan?

Government officials here repeatedly have said the loan will not only help Britain but us, too, and world trade in general.

Why?

Because Britain agrees—if congress approves the loan—to end her wartime trading methods, which had hurt American trade, and to join the United States in creating a free world trade.

If Britain didn't get the loan, what then?

The same government officials have said Britain would have to continue her wartime trade methods which would hurt American trade and also world trade.

Here's an explanation:

Before the war Britain manufactured a lot of things which she sold abroad to help pay for what she bought.

Her merchant fleet, which carried a lot of world freight and charged fees for it, helped build up Britain's income.

Came the war. Her factories turned to war work. This meant less goods to sell abroad although Britain had to continue buying lots of things abroad to help fight the war.

And her merchant fleet was shot to pieces by the German submarines. All of this meant less income for Britain and therefore put her in debt since she had to continue buying abroad.

Fred M. Vinson, now supreme court chief justice but recently treasury secretary, told a senate committee:

Britain has a "new foreign debt of more than $17,000,000,000, with $6,000,000,000 damage done by German bombs, robots and rockets, and $3,000,000,000 damage done by German submarines."

The senate committee which listened to Vinson, investigated the loan, and then okayed it, later said:

"It will take England 3 to 5 years to restore her export trade and her services to the point where they can provide the imports necessary for the functioning of British industry and the subsistence of the British people."

Before the war Britain had a big supply of dollars in this country where she bought so much and where Americans wanted to be paid for their goods in dollars.

During the war, because she bought so much here and sold so little, she used up a lot of her dollars.

To conserve her dollars for spending only where necessary, Britain set up some trading deals with other countries of the British empire.

If they sold anything to this country and were paid in dollars, they turned their dollars over to Britain which gave them British money, pounds sterling, instead.

American producers lost money by this deal.

Further, Britain set up other controls which could prohibit, or limit, the import of goods bought with dollars. This, too, shut off American trade.

But, further to save its dollar supplies, Britain wouldn't permit use of dollars for purchases in this country if the needed goods could be bought within the sterling group, using sterling paid for her imports from those special countries with sterling.

Then those countries could use the sterling to buy goods from Britain or other countries in the sterling bloc.

If Britain gets the American loan, thus building up its supply of dollars, it agrees to end the restrictive trade methods outlined here. If it can't, it will be forced to continue the wartime methods.

If that happened—with Britain dealing with one block of nations—this country probably would have to set up a bloc of nations of its own to do business only in dollars.

Then there'd be government officials have suggested, the two trading blocks bucking each other. And that wouldn't help world trade.

Classmate Dedicates Book To
Wisner Officer Who Gave
His Life

A touching tribute to the memory of Maj. George Aubert, a Wimber, La., World War II officer, who was killed in action in the South Pacific in 1943, was paid at Tampa University, Fla., recently when a booklet, dedicated to him and written by a university classmate, George Kayton, was placed in the library of the institution. It is entitled: "Swing It High Sweet Saxophone."

Major Aubert was born March 15, 1915, and attended Ouachita Parish High School, where he graduated June 2, 1933. He then attended Northeast Junior College two years, being active in athletics. Later he was graduated from the Tampa (Fla.) University. He then entered with a class

TREE WASTE AT CROSSETT SCANT

Everything But Leaves And Stumps Serves Useful Purpose

By Sam G. Harris

CROSSETT, Ark., June 29—(P.T.)—Everything but the leaves and stumps is utilized from the trees growing on the vast timber domain of the Crossett Lumber Company in Ashley, Drew and Dallas Counties, Ark., and Union Parish, La.

And, says General Manager Peter F. Watzek of the "Crossett Arkansas Companies" here, it need not be a surprise to anyone if the research laboratories in Crossett find a commercial use for those items.

The lumber company, the first of 12 corporations making up "Crossett Arkansas Companies," pioneered scientific forestry methods which, among other things, have insured the company a constant permanent source of material for its mills.

One of the first things learned by these methods was that waste was economically sinful—no matter how seemingly plentiful the raw materials were, Watzek declared. Research and more research piled on top of the basic truths of planned forestry have made this community one of the state's largest and most diversified manufacturing centers.

The Crossett Lumber Company, with its scores of acres of mills where whining saws turn out 200,000 feet of choice, finished lumber daily, still is the primary industry here.

The Crossett Chemical Company and the Crossett Paper Mill are companion industries. Both utilize scrub hardwoods and waste from the forests and sawmills while the lumber company concentrates on wholesale production of choice pine and oak lumber.

The Chemical Company produces alcohol, wood oils, concentrated smokes and wood extracts for flavoring meats and cheeses, pitch, tar, acetic acid, a dozen grades of charcoal used for everything from fuel to chicken feed, and other wood products. From the time a small railway car of knotty, twisted and cullied timber enters the kiln until the car comes out loaded with dross charcoal, these products are extracted and processed.

The paper mill produces 80 tons of high grade heavy paper an hour. A visitor sees cords of logs of assorted sizes and varieties dumped onto conveyor belts, hauled up into a huge revolving drum that de-barks them, dumped into choppers which reduce them to chips, and then loses track of the subsequent processes involved until at the end of long rows of vats, boilers, kilns, extractors, presses and kindred machinery he sees great webs of paper or cardboard being twirled into vast rolls.

Ordinarily from each of these operations a certain amount of waste would be expected—such as bark, small limbs, trimmings and sawdust. But, everything that can't be converted into something saleable is whisked away by suction pipes and conveyor belts into huge hoppers. From these, it is dumped into automatic stokers as fuel for the batteries of furnaces which generate steam for rows of turbines that produce electricity for the mills, the city and all other enterprises here.

Each production corporation here has its own control laboratories that keep Crossett products up to a hairline specification. But, dwarfing any product of the wildest imagination of a Hollywood designer of a horror laboratory is the big research laboratory maintained by the "Crossett Arkansas Companies."

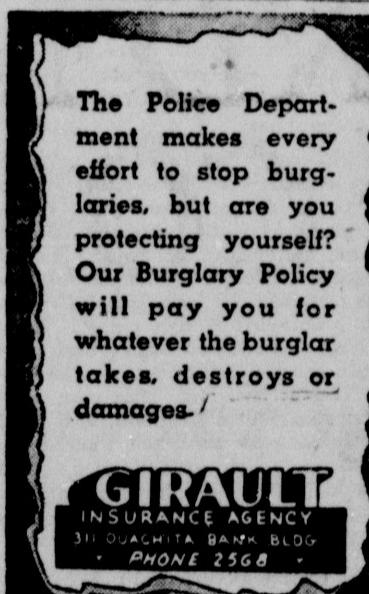

In that research laboratory, skilled chemists are hunting for new products to be made from Arkansas timber, searching for new uses of the products already pouring out in increasing streams to the railway loading docks.

And, incidentally, they are after some use to which the leaves and stumps can be put.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Lee Hall, West Monroe, announce the birth of a daughter, Gloria Patricia, at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel Clinic on June 29.

The 1945 production of broilers reached a new high of 312 million—a ninefold increase since 1934.

Waiting is tough on us, too

For months we've been hoping to present each and every one of you with the new Packards you've ordered, and have been waiting for so patiently.

Last fall, the outlook was good. Packard was confident it would double its pre-war output in 1946. (The factory is equipped to turn out far more than that.)

Look what has happened!

Then came material shortages. Parts shortages. For reasons completely beyond its own control, Packard was able to keep its assembly line moving only nine days in the first quarter of this year.

In the meantime . . .

Our friends have kept calling us up and asking, "Hey! Where's that new Packard I ordered weeks ago?" Many of these are old friends—Packard owners since way back.

But to make life more complicated, everybody seems to want one of these grand new Packards. Over 65% of the people out to buy new Packards are now driving some other make.

Honest, it's gotten so we hate to answer the telephone or look our friends in the face. But...

Your patience will pay off!

One of these days, the shortage of parts and materials is bound to ease up. And when it does, those twin-assembly lines at Packard will really roll.

Anyway, you can depend on this:

As fast as the factory ships cars to us, we'll do everything we can to deliver yours at the earliest possible moment.

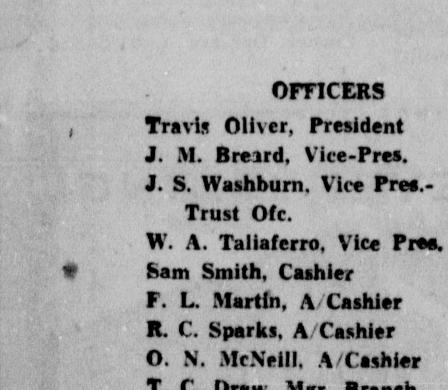

So, we hope you'll be patient a little longer. We're doing the best we can, and so are the folks at the factory!

8-GAME FOOTBALL SCHEDULE FOR N. J. C. INDIANS REVEALED

Six Of Redskin's 1946 Games Will Be Played Here, Malone Says

Coach James L. Malone yesterday announced an eight-game football schedule, featuring six home contests, for his Northeast Junior College of Louisiana State University Indians here next fall. The only road trips facing the Redskins will be journeys to Kilgore, Tex., and to Lake Charles.

The 1946 campaign looms big with the return of some of the Tribe's old pre-war foes to the schedule which will open here September 27 against the United States Merchant Marines of Pas Christian, Miss. The Marines first appeared on the N. J. C. schedule last year with the Malonemens winning a close and hard-fought contest, 13 to 10.

Kansas Tech, which returned to the Tribe schedule last season for the first time since 1940 and shelled back to Redskins, 14 to 0, is back this year along with Arkansas A. and M. which the locals haven't played since 1938.

John McNeese Junior College of Lake Charles, which tackled the Tribe on a home-and-home basis for the first time last fall, returns in the same capacity this year with the first game batted for Monroe October 18, and a return game slated for Lake Charles on November 1.

Since John McNeese and N. J. C. are the only junior colleges in Louisiana their battles are expected to be tops in rivalry and something of state championship scrambles.

The Kilgore Junior College Rangers, a strong pre-war rival of the locals, is back for the first time since they shaded the Tribe 7 to 0 in 1942. The Copiah-Lincoln Wolves of Wesson, Miss., long a figure in N. J. C. grid campaigns, are again included this year along with the addition of the University of Mississippi "B" team. The appearance of the Old Miss "B" club marks the first time the Tribe has tackled a major college eleven

LEGION LEADERS WILL MEET HERE

Farmerville Nine Faces Monroe-West Monroe At Neville At 3 P. M.

Farmerville, with its great depth in pitching, comes to Monroe today for the last scheduled game of the northeast Louisiana district American Legion Junior baseball campaign, meeting the Monroe-West Monroe club at Neville High School at 3 o'clock.

Coach "Doc" Elliott's Union parish aggregation and Pete Medak's locals are currently running neck-and-neck in the district race with eight victories and one defeat each. The result of today's game will only determine the leader at the close of the ten-game schedule and will have no bearing on the district title since both Farmerville and Monroe-West Monroe clinched playoff spots with their victories Friday when the locals stopped Winnboro and Farmerville downed Bastrop.

When the ten-game schedule was adopted for the six teams in the district, it was decided that the two leading teams on a percentage basis at the close of the schedule would meet in a three-game championship playoff the first week in July.

Farmerville and the local McCains-Richards will be the representatives in the playoffs since the loser of today's game here will clinch second place and thus still be eligible to continue play.

Plans for the playoff will probably be completed today, relative to the sites for the games. The series winner will then move into another playoff, probably with one of Shreveport's, for the north Louisiana crown.

Coach Pete Medak is expected to call on George Laffey, big righthander, to try and hold the Farmers today. Charlie Ferlito, little L. T. I. athlete, who was at his best Friday against Winnboro, will also be ready along with Shortstop Ernest King and Outfielder Roy Brennan, who have been taking turns on the mound when needed.

Coach Elliott yesterday reported that since Avoid LaBeff, Henry Albritton, and Bob Albritton had already pitched victories this week, that his likely starters for today would be either Charles Savage or Thomas Keith Patterson. Farmerville is also well fortified in the catching department with Carroll ready to relieve Hodge. It has been only recently that Hodge has had any help, and Carroll has been a welcome addition to the Farmerville staff. It was Carroll who caught Bob Albritton's no-hit no-run game against Bastrop Friday.

Available for field duty with Farmerville are Dumas, Miller, Pace, B. Albritton, Morris Albritton and Cole. The outfit chores will be ably handled by Henderson, Pratt and Gillum.

Monroe's catching will be in charge of "Sonny" Webb or Demaree. Infielders are Hugh Smith, McBeth, Parsons, Matkins, King, C. J. Fontana and Roy Scalio. In the garden patrol Medak will draw on Robert Kirby, Brennan, Buckley, Guy Woods and "Sonny" Richards.

More than 4 1/2 millions of pounds of whitefish is caught annually in the United States.

More Than 75 Per Cent Of
500,000 Jews Under House

BRITISH DRAGNET TAKES IN 1,000 FOR QUIZZING

JERUSALEM, June 30.—(UPI)—More than 75 per cent of Palestine's 500,000 Jews were placed under virtual house arrest yesterday as British troops clamped a tight military siege over the Holy Land "to end the state of anarchy."

Early today the British began lifting the 18-hour curfew imposed at dawn yesterday, removing the ban for all of Tel Aviv and most of Jerusalem.

Unconfirmed reports said that five persons were killed in various Jewish settlements during the day and that scores of persons were injured, including 20 in the Yagur settlement near Jerusalem where Jewish resistance was described as particularly fierce. The deaths of a British soldier and one Jew were reported officially.

The curfew was put in force just as soldiers and police struck swiftly at daybreak in an effort to end a series of disorders, which have spread widely over Palestine in the past two weeks. While in force, it was estimated that the house arrest confined 200,000 Jews to their homes in Tel Aviv, 70,000 in Jerusalem, 30,000 in Haifa and many other thousands in rural areas.

The British dragnet took in at least 1,000 Jews who were detained and questioned. Although most of them later were released, scores were held for further action. Among those held were high officials of the Jewish agency, including Moshe Shertok, head of the agency's political department.

CROWVILLE CHILD FATALLY BURNED

Father In Critical Condition
Explodes

WINNSBORO, La., June 29.—(Special)—The use of a tractor fuel to hasten the kindling of a cookstove fire brought tragedy to the family of Cornelius Mullins, Crowville farmer, who was critically burned, one of his children was fatally burned, and his home destroyed by fire Friday evening, it was reported here today.

Lonnie Ray Mullins, 18 months old, died this morning at 1 o'clock in a Winnsboro sanitarium of burns suffered in the blaze. Cornelius Mullins, the father, was reported in a critical condition at the sanitarium here tonight.

Accounts of the fire here were that Mullins was preparing a fire in the kitchen stove about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, using a fuel which apparently exploded when it was poured into the stove. The child and father were alone in the kitchen at the time and were badly burned, before Mullins

17-Year-Old Suspected Slayer Of Degnan Tot Feigns Delirium

Convinced This Is 'The Man'

CHICAGO, June 29.—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation, state's Attorney William J. Tuohy said tonight, had found "identical" the fingerprints of 17-year-old William Heirens and a print found on the Suzanne Degnan kidnap note.

Previous to the F. B. I. report, confirming conclusions reached by the Chicago police bureau of identification, Tuohy had stated:

"At the present moment I am satisfied" that Heirens "is the man," but, "as the matter stands now, I have not yet deduced sufficient evidence to prove him guilty beyond all reasonable doubt."

Meanwhile the husky University of Chicago student lay strapped in his bed at Bridewell prison hospital in what officials termed a "shamed delirium," refusing to answer or acknowledge questions put to him by police on his parents.

His mother, on advice of attorneys she and the father had procured, told him "refuse to answer any questions," but the youth showed no emotion, or indicated that he had heard her.

One of the youth's attorneys, John D. Coghlan, told reporters that "our position is that there are only suspicious circumstances" against Heirens. Tuohy added, however, that, "Americans stand now, I have not yet deduced sufficient evidence to prove him guilty beyond all reasonable doubt."

The youth, husky, 17-year-old William Heirens, lay strapped to a bed in the Bridewell Hospital. He responded to questions about the case with blank stares or unintelligible mutterings.

Tuohy said he was "satisfied" on the basis of the investigation thus far that Heirens is "the man" and added his investigation had produced these findings:

1—That "nine points of similarity" had been established between the print of Heirens' left little finger and a fingerprint on the $20,000 ransom note and that veteran fingerprint experts were "convinced" on

Registration for the new private pilot flight and ground school training program under public law 346, seventy-eighth Congress, sponsored by the Veterans Administration's Vocational Rehabilitation Training program will open in the office of the registrar at Northeast Junior College Monday, July 1, and will continue throughout the day under the supervision of a special registration officer from the regional veterans administration office in New Orleans.

Lewis C. Slater, head of the department of biological and natural sciences at the local college, who was chief ground school instructor for the previous flight programs under the Civil Aeronautics Administration's War Training Service, will again direct the ground school work for the college.

Under this special flight training contract, Northeast Junior College will be enabled to offer training leading to a private pilot's license, consisting

MERCHANTS AGAINST SKYROCKET PRICES

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—(AP)—Hotels, restaurants and grocers intend to "hold the line" as far as possible despite the demise of the office of price administration.

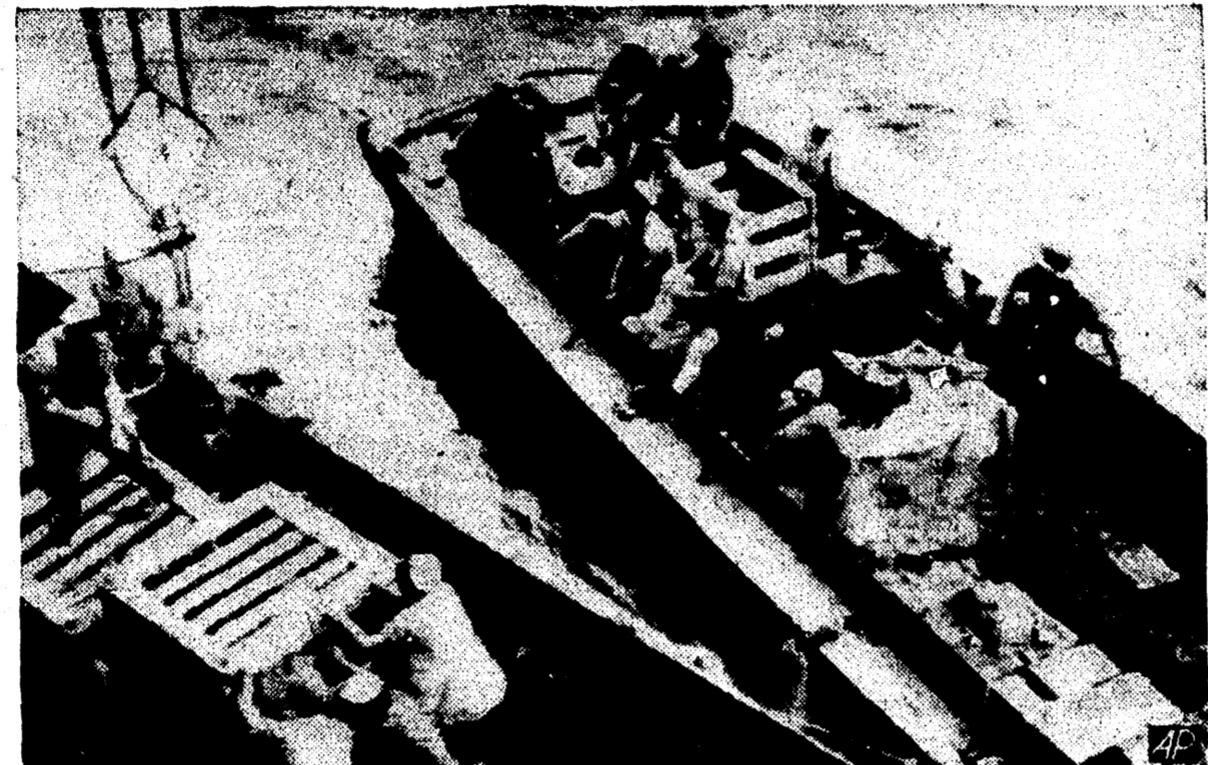

Spokesmen for the various groups said tonight that any increase would result from higher costs to the retailer or in operation of the various businesses.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 29.—(AP)—The retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, through its executive committee, adopted a resolution pledging that end of price control would not be used as license for unwarranted increases in prices of retail merchandise.

The merchants pledged themselves to "seek only a reasonable profit in the mark-up of merchandise" and to "reject all merchandise offered at black market prices." A telegram of commendation to Congress for upholding the presidential veto was dispatched to Louisiana congressmen and senators. No heavy buying was reported.

Think One Bomb Would Have Killed Or Injured 100,000

LONDON, June 29.—(AP)—One hundred thousand persons would be killed or injured, and 300,000 others would be rendered homeless by the explosion of one atomic bomb over a large British city, a British mission reported today.

Summarizing damage and death caused by the American atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the mission put its findings into somber calculation of equivalent damage if the same type of weapon were used against the United Kingdom.

It estimated: 50,000 persons would be killed instantly or die from internal injuries within eight weeks; another 50,000 would require extended hospital treatment; 100,000 non-casualties would be homeless permanently, or for major repairs; 200,000 would be temporarily homeless pending lesser repairs.

Patrol ships are busy shepherding vessels into the open sea.

Every ship and every man must be out of the lagoon two hours before the bomb is detonated.

Then all that will be left will be the ghost fleet—silent ships on which there will be no human being. The craft will stand around the hulls of Bikini as guinea pigs of the first test of atomic power against ships.

Presumably, engineers began preparing to load the atomic bomb aboard the B-29 "Dave's Dream" shortly after Blandy made his decision on the weather.

As soon as possible after daybreak, the pilot of the superfortress—Major Woodrow P. Swancutt of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.—will take off and the fleet of aircraft assigned to the show will begin maneuvering into position.

The other planes will carry cameras, recording instruments, newsmen, observers and members of President Truman's evaluation commission and

SAYS PROPOSED LAW WOULD END FISHING

BAYOU LA BATRE, Ala., June 29.—(AP)—The enactment by the Louisiana legislature of a $2,500 levy on out-of-state fishing boats, already passed by the House of Representatives, would virtually "wipe out" Alabama's fishing industry, an official of a leading seafood company here said today.

The spokesman reported that present levies on out-of-state boats by Louisiana are $10 per boat for trawling and $10 per boat for freighting.

Such a hike in the license rate would make it impossible for Alabama boats to fish in Louisiana waters, he continued.

Without those waters, he asserted, the fishing industry in south Alabama "would dry up."

He explained that Alabama waters provide only enough shrimp to keep fishing boats of this state busy about two months of the year, while in Louisiana there is a year-around supply.

The official expressed hope a conference between Gov. Chauncey Sparks of Alabama and Gov. James Davis of Louisiana could be arranged to discuss the "drastic changes."

Another fishing company official said prospects for a reciprocal agreement between the two states were dim because "Louisiana fishermen don't need to fish in Alabama waters."

History's Greatest Military Experiment Will Get Under Way

By Don Whitehead

ABOARD U. S. S. APPALACHIAN, Bikini, Sunday, June 30.—(P)—Despite a sudden clouding up in the weather Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy gave the signal today for the start of history's greatest military experiment—the dropping of an atomic bomb on the target fleet in Bikini lagoon.

The atomic test force commander announced that barring a storm the bomb would be dropped at approximately 9:30 a.m. Monday, Bikini time (4:30 p.m. Sunday, Central Standard time).

The evacuation of Bikini lagoon is now under way.

Some 40,000 military personnel, scientists, correspondents and observers must be clear of the lagoon by 5 p.m., leaving only skeleton crews to make last-minute adjustments to the scores of instruments, cameras and recording equipment aboard ships and on islands of Bikini atoll.

A last survey showed that the Negro registration is only a tiny percentage of the total number of names on the books. Many counties have no Negro registrants, and in the state's largest county, Hinds, there are only about 500 Negroes registered as compared with 25,000 white voters.

But the smallness of the potential Negro vote did not diminish its importance as an issue in the eyes of Senator Theo G. Bilbo, who has stressed white supremacy in his campaign for re-nomination.

"If you let a handful of投票 this time," Bilbo has said, "it will be two handfuls next time and four handfuls the time after, and soon white supremacy will be lost."

The low figures of Negro registration have been blamed by T. B. Wilson, Negro president of the Progressive Voters League, on "ruse and intimidation" by some circuit clerks. He claims clerks have prevented registration by such means as feigned absence from their offices, or by pretending that the deadline has passed.

Meanwhile, the Senate elections committee in Washington was considering whether a federal investigation of the Mississippi primary was warranted, and the national Negro council asked President Truman to send troops "to guard the polls."

The elections committee met today, but deferred action in the matter until Monday.

The message to the president was sent by Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro Council, protest-

SPOTLIGHT IS ON MISSISSIPPI RACE

Senate Investigation May Fol- low That State's Balloting

JACKSON, Miss., June 29.—(P)—The Negro voting question today turned the national spotlight, and perhaps a Senate investigation, upon Tuesday's Democratic primary election in Mississippi, but only a corporal's guard of Negroes, at most, can cast ballots.

A last survey showed that the Negro registration is only a tiny percentage of the total number of names on the books. Many counties have no Negro registrants, and in the state's largest county, Hinds, there are only about 500 Negroes registered as compared with 25,000 white voters.

DELAY DECISION ON PEACE MEET

Ministers Ponder New Pro- posal On Disputed Port Of Trieste

AMERICANS BELIEVE PLAN WON'T SOLVE SITUATION

Paris, June 29.—(P)—The four-power foreign ministers tonight postponed a decision on a general European peace conference and pondered a new compromise proposal on the disputed port of Trieste which French sources said might break the conference deadlock, but which American quarters declared could not be seriously considered.

The compromise Trieste plan, submitted by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, calls for establishing Trieste as an autonomous region under international guidance for 10 years, French sources said. At the end of that time, a plebiscite would determine whether the city would be under Italian or Yugoslav control. Both nations have demanded Trieste outright.

French sources said Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had declared that in his opinion the French plan on Trieste was not a good proposal, but that in view of the conflicting ideas on that key subject, it would be acceptable.

Americans who attended the meeting, however, described the plan as too complicated and added that it would solve nothing. They insisted that no indication had been given that any of the ministers would accept the plan. British informants said only that their group was "studying" it.

In a session lasting more than four hours, the ministers reached no agreement on U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' demands to call the 21-nation peace parley, and postponed action over the weekend. American informants said, Byrnes declared yesterday he wanted a straight "yes or no" answer from the ministers today.

American sources said that Byrnes, in effect, enunciated the United States' foreign policy when he listed the reasons for calling a general peace conference soon, and then called for a vote on holding a conference.

Both Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin voted affirmatively, Molotov voted no.

Byrnes was said, then remarked that the world now knows where the veto stands.

Molotov replied, the American in-

P. O. CHANGE IS SLATED JULY 1

West Monroe Office To Op- erate Independently Hereafter

July 1 will be of interest as a date in West Monroe as the post office is to function as a first-class one independent of the Monroe post office of which it has been for years a branch. Tomorrow Leon Lile, general branch manager, will become acting postmaster. He announces that a new schedule of arrival and departure of mail pouches will become effective. West Monroe incoming and outgoing, will be placed in separate West Monroe pouches and not mixed with the Monroe mail as is the present custom.

Mail received over the Illinois Central system will arrive at the West Monroe office as follows: Eastbound—10:15 a.m. and 8:30 p.m.; westbound—11:20 a.m. and 8:30 p.m.

SEMI-PROS SET TO PLAY TODAY

North Louisiana Games Slated For Good Pine, Columbia, Winnsboro

The North Louisiana League, its second-half openers postponed because of rain Wednesday, will try to get its last half race underway today, weather permitting, with games scheduled at Columbia, Winnsboro and Good Pine.

Good Pine, slated to have made its league debut against Bastrop Wednesday, will play host to a league opponent for the first time today against R. W. Carter's Olla Tigers.

The Clarks White Sox, champions of the first-half race, to Winnsboro today for a tussle with Edgar Lowry's strengthened Franklin parish club.

The Bastrop Buckshots will furnish the opposition for the Columbia Ramblers at Columbia. The Ramblers are reportedly grabbing up new talent and will present a vastly changed club from the one that took over the Bastrop franchise late in the first half campaign.

But the Bucks are in the improvement stage also, and the general opinion is that Bastrop, like two or three other league members, will turn out a much stronger team for the final go-around. Business Manager John Wright's already reported the addition of A. R. "Red" Sims, infielder, and Jack Futch, pitcher, both of whom were with the West Monroe team, managed by Sims, during the first-half race. Paul Cook, after a brief whirl at pro ball, is also back in Bastrop.

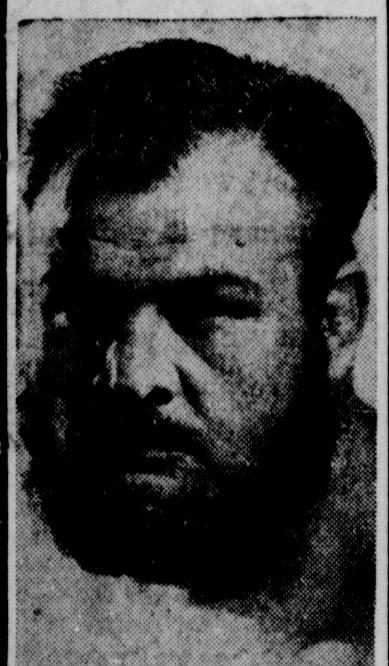

BUDGE AND RIGGS REACH NEW ENGLAND NET FINAL

BROOKLINE, Mass., June 29.—(AP)—After a three-hour struggle in the torrid heat, second-seeded Don Budge of Oakland, Calif., gained the final round of the New England Professional Singles Tennis Tournament by out-lasting Frank Kovas, his fellow townsmen, for a hard-earned 6-4, 7-5, 5-7, 4-6, 6-3 victory today at Longwood.

Top-seeded Bobby Riggs of Chicago, became the other finalist by defeating Fred Perry, former British star, now of Las Vegas, Nev., 3-6, 6-1, 9-7, 6-2.

Dashiell Hammett, detective fiction writer, was a Pinkerton detective for eight years.

MURDOCK AND VALLINA TO BATTLE FOR TITLE VACATED BY LOVELOCK

STATE WRESTLING CROWN AT STAKE

Murdock And Vallina To Battle For Title Vacated By Lovelock

Al Lovelock, the Pennsylvania tussler first recognized as heavyweight wrestling champion of Louisiana, may be surprised to learn that his title has been declared forfeited and that a brawl between Jerry Vallina, East St. Louis, Ill., and Paul Murdock, Waxahachie, Tex., will be recognized as a title scramble with the winner to become the state's second heavy champ.

Promoter Gus Kallio last night revealed that the Vallina-Murdock scrap had the approval of District Commissioner Dave Silverstein and the state wrestling commission.

Lovelock has made only two defenses of the crown he was awarded several months ago who beat Jack Kennedy, Dallas, Tex., in a match set up for the creation of a state heavy champion. Jack LaRue last met Lovelock for the title here April 23, but since that time efforts to have Lovelock face new challengers have failed, Kallio said.

The title can be put at stake only within the borders of the state, and wrestlers currently appearing in this section have been asked for Lovelock bouts. Kallio said last night the last account he had of Lovelock, the Philadelphia brawler, was campaigning in Colorado, but on recent trip to Dallas, it was said Lovelock had declined to come on to Louisiana for another title defense.

Lovelock's continued absence has been taken up with the commission, Kallio declared. "Lovelock's title has been declared vacant, and I have been granted permission to match Vallina and Murdock with the winner to be recognized as the state champion. If Lovelock should feel he's not being treated fairly, all he has to do is return to Louisiana and I'll do all I can to get him an early match with the Vallina-Murdock winner."

The Vallina-Murdock scrap, billed as the main event on Tuesday night's card at Gus Gallio's arena, will be a return match between a pair of brawlers who gave local fans their best show of the summer season two weeks ago.

The barefooted Texan and the villainous Illinois son of Spanish ancestry have proven Kallio's best drawing matmen in recent weeks, and he feels they're deserving in being given the title scramble which will be over a 90-minute time limit distance with two falls to win.

Final semi attraction on the Tuesday card will be a battle between Jimmy Lott, former University of Alabama football player, and Jim "Nick" Lufkin, the Chicago Greek, also known as Jim Lucas.

Lott made himself fairly well known here during the spring, but Lufkin was before Kallio's customers for the first time last Tuesday.

The Lott-Lufkin match, which will be the program opener, will begin at 8:30 o'clock, and proceed over an hour time limit distance with two falls to win.

WILLIAMS BIDDING FOR BASEBALL DISTINCTION

(By Associated Press)

Terrible Teddy Williams, generally acclaimed as one of the all-time hitting greats, appears well on the way today to become the first player ever to lead the American League in the "big four" hit department—batting, home runs, runs batted in and total bases—in two different years.

Not even Williams' immortal predecessors, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Jimmie Foxx, could accomplish the feat. Gehrig and Foxx made the grand slam just once, while Ruth failed to do it at all. Columbia Lou finished on top in all departments in 1934, one year after Foxx did it. Ruth just missed out in 1934, the only time he led the league in batting.

Williams joined the exclusive pair in 1942, after missing out in one department the year before, to become only the sixth major leaguer to clean up in all four departments in the same season. Rogers Hornsby (twice), Chuck Klein and Joe Medwick did it in the National League.

of 72 hours of ground school work and 40 hours of flight instruction, including 19 hours of dual instruction and 21 hours of solo flight training, to veterans qualified under the terms of the contract. The expense incurred for both flight and ground training, textbooks, and supplies will be borne by the Veterans Administration. The training is also open to non-veterans who desire to take it, and who pay for such training individually at the rate paid by the Veterans Administration for qualified veterans.

Students wanting to register for this training who are not already enrolled in the college will have to file Veterans Administration Form No. 1950, which is simply an application for additional benefits under this provision. They also have to execute application form No. 1950-A, which, if approved, entitles them to extra cost educational benefits. Those who are already enrolled in the college will fill out only Application Form No. 1950-A.

The length of time required to complete the course of training, with flight and ground school work running concurrently, will be from 12 to 15 weeks, depending upon weather conditions, with 13 weeks as the average normal completion.

The first program will consist of one class of 25 students. Upon its completion, another class will be started; and it is hoped that more than one class can be offered in the second program so as to increase the enrollment appreciably beyond the 25-student limitation set for the beginning class.

forms said, that he might be able to make a decision concerning a peace conference in two or three days.

The council then adjourned until Monday and the agenda for that day includes the question of Italian colonies, Trieste, the peace conference, and German problems.

In today's session, the ministers discussed freedom of commerce on the Danube river, Italian reparations, units of the Italian navy to be included in Italian reparations and the countries to which they would be awarded. No conclusions were reached in any of the discussions.

In outlining his demands for a peace conference, Byrnes said the American view at the Potsdam conference was that the then proposed foreign ministers council was to be instructed to make and not obstruct peace. The ministers were to do the spade work on peace treaties, and not provide the finished product for other nations to rubber stamp with their approval.

Conditions last September delayed the start of the preliminary work on the conference, but during the Moscow conference, American sources quoted Byrnes as saying, the representatives of 21 nations were informed they would be invited to a peace conference on May 1, 1946, when it was expected that the preparation of treaty drafts would be completed.

May 1 means May 1, Byrnes was quoted as declaring, but the 21 nations have been waiting for an invitation since that time, and the United States was becoming unhappy over the situation. In fact, Byrnes said, his country no longer was willing to remain in that situation.

tion against flying debris and glass, heat flash and gamma rays."

The mission said standard British bomb shelters would have resisted collapse, even at the center of damage in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, but occupants presumably would have been affected to varying degrees by penetrating, short-wave radiation. Deep shelters, however, such as refuges provided by the London underground, would have given complete protection.

Victims of the gamma rays, the report said, appear to be unharmed until symptoms of nausea, vomiting and fever set in after 24 hours. The rays damage the bone marrow, preventing formation of new blood cells, and causing progressive anemia eventually followed by "infection and death."

"It is thought that gamma rays ultimately caused the death of nearly everyone who was fully exposed to them up to a distance of half a mile from the center of damage," the report said.

this basis that the same man made the two prints.

"That X-ray examinations showed Heirens did not suffer a skull fracture when a policeman struck him on the head with a flower pot when he resisted capture.

"That police had established Heirens' fingerprints corresponded with those found last Oct. 5 in the south side apartment of Lt. Evelyn Peterson, 26-year-old army nurse who was bound and assaulted by an intruder, and that Heirens has been "definitely linked" with several Chicago burglars, some in the neighborhood of the Degnan home.

"That a medical kit containing surgical instruments, including a detachable surgical knife and detachable surgical saw, were found in his dormitory room and that a two-bladed fisherman's knife was found between his mattress and the side of the bed.

Tuohy and other top ranking police and state's attorney officials worked through the night and early morning hours after the discovery late yesterday.

Heirens, strapped on a bed in the Bridewell jail hospital, remained silent through hours of questioning after Tuohy said he had told him about the similarity.

"We got absolutely nothing from Heirens," Tuohy said. "No complete statement, no denial. He has feigned irrationality."

The state's attorney said that fingerprint experts had verified nine positive points of similarity between the prints on the ransom note and Heirens' print.

"These points may mean that there was a distinct similarity of whorls, loops and other lines in the fingerprint," Tuohy said. "There are nine positive points on the fingerprint we have obtained from Heirens which coincide with the print on the Degnan note."

In meeting Heirens, who suffered head injuries Wednesday when he was seized by police for questioning about a burglary, Tuohy said he told him: "We are convinced that the fingerprint on the (Degnan) ransom note is your print."

Heirens, a first-year student at the university remained silent, the state's attorney said. Dr. Andrew Toman, the hospital chief surgeon, said the youth was flailing a sort of unconsciousness. Other police officials, including Commissioner John C. Prendergast, said he declined to answer their questions.

The new turn in the investigation of the brutal slaying and dismemberment of the six-year-old Degnan child after she was kidnapped from her North Side home last Jan. 7 came yesterday shortly after Richard Russell Thomas, 42, an ex-convict held in Phoenix, Ariz., repudiated a story he told there that he was the kidnap-slayer. Chicago police officials, who have questioned some 2,000 persons in efforts to solve the crime, had flown to Phoenix to interrogate him.

Tuohy said that the discovery of the matching prints was made by officers in the police bureau of identification in making a routine check of Heirens' fingerprints.

Capt. Emmet Evans, head of the bureau for several years and a veteran of 41 years of fingerprint work had earlier announced the finding of seven points of similarity between Heirens' prints and the print of the ransom note.

"I am convinced that the two prints were made by the same man," Evans said.

"The similarities in this case are in the lines and loops. In these seven likenesses, the lines end or connect exactly as they do on the ransom note print."

Evans said the matching prints are those in the little left fingers. He said that sometimes four places of similarity, technically called "points," are sufficient to identify matching prints, although 11 are usually preferred and similarities may sometimes run as high as 22.

Police officials disclosed that they had searched Heirens' dormitory room on the Midway campus and found three guns, a detachable surgical knife, a detachable surgical saw, a hypodermic set, cameras, jewelry, $2,100 in war bonds and numerous other items which they valued at $3,421.

Officials, as they probed all angles of the new development, questioned other students, including Heirens' roommates, and his parents, who live in suburban Lincolnwood.

Tuohy said Heirens had been definitely linked with several Chicago burglaries and that police had established that his fingerprints correspond with those found in an assault on Lt. Evelyn Peterson, 26 year old army nurse who was attacked in an apartment last Oct. 5.

Heirens, who will be 18 next Nov. 15, was captured by police in the Rogers Park district on the North Side Wednesday after detectives said they found him prowling in an apartment building.

The youth, six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds, resisted arrest, they said, but he was knocked unconscious when Traffic Policeman Abner Cunningham struck him on the head with three empty flower pots. Yesterday afternoon he was charged with assault to kill. He had fired at a policeman in an attempt to escape, police said.

Heirens entered the university last fall after finishing high school in nearby Peru, Ill., in three years.

Mr. Passman stated that he would announce his platform later but wanted to go on record now in regard to his stand concerning veterans.

"I am convinced that our veterans are entitled to have the promises kept that were made to them, especially do I refer to homes, jobs and adequate pensions and hospitalization for those who came back with service-connected disability. Government red tape and bureaus should not stand in the way of immediate aid to the men who made possible our victory," he said.

KHORASSANS TO MEET

El Miro Temple No. 187, Knights of Khorassans, will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Castle Hall. M. C. Williams, royal viceroy, announced. Friday night the El Miro Dukies went to Little Rock, Ark., where they conducted a ceremonial at Al Hassen Temple No. 136 and initiated a large class of Tyras.

lins succeeded in dashing from the burning house with his baby.

Four other children of the family were playing in the yard, and Mrs. Mullins was in the yard washing some clothes, it was said.

Funeral services for the child were held this morning at 10 o'clock at Harrison cemetery under the direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnboro.

The tragedy was almost identical in nature to those that brought death in two other families in this section last Christmas and New Year's day.

Mrs. Mary Jane Lord, 21-year-old mother, and her nine-month-old daughter, Patricia Ann, were burned to death in their home at Baskin. The fire occurred on Christmas Eve as Mrs. Lord was preparing a fire by using tractor fuel. The Lord home was destroyed, and the husband, Clint Lord, suffered severe burns while rescuing a three-year-old son from the blaze.

Then near St. Joseph on New Year's day, Jesse Thompson, 12-year-old boy, was burned to death and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson, and two brothers, were hospitalized with burns. Again it was reported an instance of using a motor fuel to start a stove fire. The Thompson home was also destroyed.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, June 29.—The Angela Lansbury-Cromwell reconciliation try has flunked; she'll press divorce plans when she's picture-free, . . . Ha! The Hollywood press photographers annual award to the most cooperative star will be discontinued because Joan Crawford, who's always won, was destined to repeat, and the whole thing's getting boresome . . . The Frank Sinatra will be five in December . . . Gene Autry is the first actor-vet to apply for a residential priority under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

Angela Greene and Stuart Martin are scheduling their altar-trek for September . . . Height-of-something-or-other: Never-wed Lillian Gish is authoring an article on married life for a digest magazine . . . London hears that Madeline Carroll will ask for restoration of her British citizenship next month . . . Wot next? A group of New York ladies demands that movie-makers cease using women's names for animals. They say that naming a movie mule "Shirley" makes ladies with that name the butt of jokes! Now she's divorced from Phil Terry, Joan Crawford will legally change her adopted son's name from Phil, Jr., to Christopher. Samuel Goldwyn will appeal an OPA ruling which denied him permission to sell $500 worth of drug store items used as props in "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty."

It took Ann Miller weeks to admit this pillar's report of her approaching motherhood—and how she shouted denials when it was first printed! Asquettina was secretly married, six weeks ago in Mexico, to Luciano Baschuk, a wealthy Russian . . . Doctors say Robert Cummings who swallowed broken glass while drinking from a thermos bottle, is now out of danger . . . Wotis about Lou Costello dropping a small fortune in a recent poker game? . . . Ern O'Brien Moore (an Academy Award nominee for her work in "Emile Zola") has just divorced Mark Barron in Las Vegas, Nevada. She's been on USO duty overseas for the past two years.

BY HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK.—What in the world are they making men's clothes of these days, and who, either in or out of this world, is designing them?

That goes for suits, shirts, shorts and all the other items of haberdashery with which men bedeck themselves. I have never seen such outrageous garments as such outmoded . . . SO-DO: RKO's "Crack-Up" (Pat O'Brien-Claire Trevor-Herbert Marshall). The psycho-analytical cycle acquires another loose spoke . . .

When you hear the sensational stories being flung back and forth between Kay Williams (now Mrs. Adolph Spreckels, Jr.) and her ex-husband Macoco, reflect that while they've both been identified with Hollywood, neither one of them is properly speaking of Hollywood. Filmville wash so much dirty linen of its own that it shouldn't be unfairly blamed for washings that don't actually belong on its clothes line. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

PLEASANT HILL PLANS REVIVAL

Dr. James Clinton Of Philadelphia, Pa., To Bring Messages

Dr. James R. Clinton, Philadelphia, Pa., is the evangelist who will conduct the preaching mission at the Pleasant Hill Community Church (Congregational) beginning Wednesday, July 3, at 8 p.m. and continuing through July 14.

He is described as a fascinating speaker, possessed of a pleasing personality and bringing messages of inspiration in song as well as in his addresses.

Assisting Dr. Clinton and acting as pianist and leader of young people is Rev. Edwin Dale Baker, a young minister of Oklahoma City, Okla.

The Pleasant Hill Community Church is expecting these 12 days of meetings to be rich in experiences, states Rev. A. O. Wright, pastor. He assures there will be good singing, good preaching and good fellowship and urges the public, especially young people, to plan to attend.

LIST WINNERS IN 2 CONTESTS

4-H Contestants In Garden Production Are Made Known

The 4-H Garden Contest, sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Company, through the efforts of C. D. McAdams, store manager, has proved most successful in producing bumper crops. Twenty-five Ouachita parish 4-H club girls competed in the contest.

Winners, as announced by Audrey H. Dawson, associate home agent, are: First, Myrtis Lennard, $7.00; second, Melba Cloud, $5.00; third, Modell Lennard, $3.00.

Five girls will receive $1.00 each as honorable mention: Thelma Parsons, Nellie Ruth Martin, Betty Sue Lovelady, Dorothy Adams and Martha Krumm.

The judging of the gardens was done by Miss Eva Gae Penton, Home Service representative, of the Louisiana Power and Light Company.

The results were most gratifying according to Miss Penton and the agent. The girls who took part in the program took great pride in their efforts and the yield of the various gardens throughout the parish was far in excess of expectations.

The canning contest in connection with the garden will be judged in September.

Five other gardens were given honorable mention: Jo Ann Gilland, Sue Greer, Eva Joyce Wright, Betty Aldridge and Laura Lee Smith.

The Chamber of Commerce furnished each of the fifteen garden contestants with enough seed to plant a garden for a family of five. These girls have done a good job in the program of food production. Each of the gardens is furnishing an ample supply of fresh vegetables and the surplus is being canned for use during the winter months.

Miss Eva Gae Penton, Home Service representative, of Louisiana Power and Light Company, judged the gardens.

NUTRI-TIPS

The predicted 120 days of famine emergency is almost at an end, but there is no prospect that food will cease to be a problem. The carry-over of food into the new harvest period in most countries was extremely low. Pressure on the United States to help hungry people will continue for many months to come, for we are one of the few countries in the world from which supplies can be obtained at the present time.

Since this is true it seems only sensible that this country should plan to handle its own food supply in the most economical fashion possible for the next twelve months, so that we can feed our own people adequately and at the same time have what is needed to ship abroad. Such good management requires:

(1) A government policy of requiring set-asides at the source of foods for famine relief.

(2) Rationing of food to consumers so that the domestic supply which, because of our great amount of consumer purchasing power, is less than the demand will be fairly distributed.

One year ago many people, including the League of Women Voters, predicted the famine emergency which came this spring. There is no excuse for the United States government to make the same mistake twice. This time we can be prepared. There is no more crucial problem so far as the future of the United Nations is concerned. We cannot forget General Eisenhower's words—"Without food there will be no peace."

Red Cross Nutrition Service suggests that housewives use substitutes in every way possible to meet this emergency.

PRINTING GIVEN WITHOUT BIDDING

Inspection Of Files Shows Moran's Sons Awarded Jobs

BATON ROUGE, La., June 29.—(Special)—Inspection of files of two state departments, the state land office and the state auditor, revealed today that a quantity of departmental printing and orders for office supplies have been awarded Thomas J. Moran's Sons without competitive bidding.

State general law provides that competitive bids shall be advertised for and received on all jobs totalling in value $500 or more. State fiscal law requires at least three quotations shall be received on jobs of less than $500.

Many purchase orders to Moran's Sons, while omitting to list a specified price, are accompanied by neither quotations nor bids. Files showed, Carl Campbell of the land office admitted that he is next in line for assignment to the academy. He is a graduate of Neville High school and is now 19 years of age.

Meanwhile, spokesmen of independent printers of the state continued their fight on a senate bill which they contend will restore a "vicious political printing monopoly," and made new charges of "many gross irregularities that have not been brought to light at the present time."

Fred G. Benton of Baton Rouge, attorney for the printers, asserted "several departments of state are in practical effect continuing to perpetuate without any legal action . . . the monopoly of Thomas J. Moran's Sons."

In a prepared statement, Benton declared, "despite the decision of the supreme court in the case of the Wallace vs. Close, 203, La., 346, and on opinion of the attorney general rendered thereunder to the Hon. Wade O Martin, secretary of state on June 26, 1944, ruling that the functions of the old state printing board are now in large measure transferred to the department of finance, several departments of state are in practical effect continuing to perpetuate without any legal sanction whatever the monopoly of Thomas J. Moran's Sons."

"In the meantime the manifest purpose of senate bill 44, now pending in the house, is to legally restore the old monopoly on a scale far beyond the scope of the old discarded plan. A full investigation might reveal many gross irregularities that have not been brought to light down to the present time."

Opponents of the present printing bill, which would set up a printing board and bulk-bidding system even more extensive than that of the Leche-Long administration assert that 80 percent of all state printing falls outside the scope of bulk contracts. The firm holding contracts, they maintain, may arbitrarily fix it own prices on such printing without competitive bidding of any kind.

"In the meantime the manifest purpose of senate bill 44, now pending in the house, is to legally restore the old monopoly on a scale far beyond the scope of the old discarded plan. A full investigation might reveal many gross irregularities that have not been brought to light down to the present time."

The bill, which has passed the senate and is now awaiting action in the house of representatives, provides for a board of state printing which will grant contracts on a bulk basis in eleven different printing classifications. State printing contracts are presently awarded on a job-to-job basis.

The job-to-job system, when installed during the Jones administration, resulted in a saving of 75 percent on printing costs to the state.

Martin H. Close of Alexandria, finance director in the Jones administration, aired charges in a Shreveport Times exclusive story last week that the printing bill under consideration is the result of a political "deal" between Gov. Jimmie Davis and Moran's Sons, whereby the New Orleans-Baton Rouge printing firm contributed $25,000 of printing to the Davis campaign in return for future concessions and favors if Davis were elected.

Also last week, it was revealed that, after an investigation launched by then-supervisor of public funds Jerome Hayes, payment of $25,000 was made by Moran's Sons to the state of Louisiana in settlement of claims for overcharges.

Pay was made in the form of a credit memorandum, enclosed in a letter from H. Payne Breazeale, attorney for Moran's Sons, to Hayes. The letter was dated June 2, 1941. Settlement was made, Hayes said, after an audit of state printing costs by Frank Berger of New Orleans, printing consultant employed by the state.

"I found a very definite error of actual measurement of printing," Berger charged. "I also found several misinterpretations of existing law relative to printing."

After his investigation, said Berger, Alfred Moran of the New Orleans-Baton Rouge printing firm, represented by Breazeale, was called before Attorney General Eugene Stanley to answer his charges. Also present at the conference, according to Berger, were Hayes and Gratz of the department of finance.

The $25,000 settlement was subsequently made out of court.

WEED CUTTING MACHINE USED

Will Be Given Demonstration At Farms Of Parish This Week

A series of demonstrations of pasture renovations on local farms is to be held under the direction of J. J. Joyce, Jr., parish farm demonstration agent, it was announced Saturday. Equipped with a special machine that is to be attached to a tractor, weeds, briars and bushes can be cut down as the tractor and its trailer machine passes over the field, Mr. Joyce states.

To give the advantage of seeing the machine in full operation, Mr. Joyce has arranged a series of demonstrations, starting Monday, July 1, at the farm of E. N. Steen, Prairie road will be visited for a demonstration.

On Tuesday at 9 a.m. the farm of Clifford Benson, Millhaven road, will be the scene of the demonstration and at 1:30 p.m. that day the demonstration will be at the farm of E. B. Beard, Jonesboro road.

On Wednesday the demonstrations will be continued thus: At 9 a.m. at the farm of J. E. Rutledge, near Lepine School and 1:30 p.m. at the farm of Bernice Biedenharn on Arant road.

Swanect will climb to about 30,000 feet while other planes are moving into position. Then he will make the bomb run, with Major Harold H. Wood of Bordentown, N. J., the bombardier, taking over the job of dropping the missile about six miles through space toward the Nevada.

The destroyer O'Brien will be down 35 miles from the target and destroyer R. K. Huntington will be 50 miles southwest of the target, acting as reference or guide ship to "Dave's Dream" on the bombing run.

But once the bomb explodes, the two destroyers will begin a race with death to escape the radioactive cloud which will be driven by the wind in their direction. Once safely out of the path of the cloud, the destroyers will circle and keep track of its movements.

PERSUADES ORLEANS MAN NOT TO JUMP

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—(AP)—A man who "wanted to end it all" was saved from jumping from a Mississippi river excursion steamship today by a smooth talking policeman.

Poled on the rail of the vessel, as horrified fellow-passengers looked on, the man spotted Patrolman Phillip Nicaud pushing his way through the crowd.

"If I took off my shoes, what'd I be?" the man asked.

"Barefoot."

"That's my name".

Nicaud wrote this down.

"I'm getting ready to jump," the man told his audience.

"Look," Nicaud said. "This isn't a good place to jump. It's only six feet to the water. Why don't you go up to the Mississippi river bridge and make it more thrilling?"

"Say, I never thought of that," was the reply.

"Suppose we talk this over. Maybe I'll take you up to the bridge," the officer suggested.

Coming down from the rail the man said: "I'm not going to talk to you here. For goodness sake, let's get out of the rain."

During a 20 minute conversation with the officer the man insisted he wanted to end it all" because of domestic difficulty.

Finally he was booked as John W. Barefoot, 63, on a charge of disturbing the peace.

ing postponement of the elections committee inquiry. Brown declared the use of soldiers in the Japanese elections last April furnished a precedent for their use in Mississippi.

At least four of the senator candidates will continue vigorous campaigning right up to the eve of the primary. Bilbo, who has called upon all red-blooded Anglo-Saxons to prevent Negro voting "by any means," will climax his speaking program with a radio address Monday night over all radio stations in Mississippi and one in Tennessee.

Nelson T. Levings of Gulfport, naval veteran who has asked other ex-service men to help him "end the Billie-bone plague," likewise will end his campaign in Jackson, with an outdoor rally which also will be broadcast.

Supreme Court Clerk Tom Q. Ellis closes his tour with talks Monday in three smaller towns. Ellis, alone of the five candidates, largely has steered clear of personalities. He has characterized his campaign as a "crusade of dignity and honor in high places," and has denounced "the religious bigotry and the use of blasphemy by those seeking office."

Former Representative Ross Collins will wind up in Meridian. In his addresses Collins has accused Bilbo of being responsible for Negro voting

BATON ROUGE, La., June 29.—(AP)

In a "this week or never" atmosphere the state legislature will reconvene here Sunday night with a number of controversial measures still to be threshed out on the floors of both houses.

Subject to call from the calendar in the house is Rep. W. J. Cleveland's proposed constitutional amendment, H. B. 104, which duplicates the provisions of his "right-to-work" bill now before Gov. Jimmie Davis for his signature.

Also hanging fire is H. B. 605, a measure which proposes a 2 cents per thousand cubic feet sales tax on natural gas.

Supporters of both measures admit that time is fast running out, with less than two weeks to the end of the session, but hold that to get them through nearly full attendance in the house is necessary.

With only a handful of senate bills having received house action in the 47 days of this meeting, indications are that morning, afternoon and night sessions will be the regular order, by failing to fight aggressively enough for white supremacy.

No plans have been announced by the fifth candidate, Frank Harper, former state senator and preacher, salesman, who has traveled on his campaign tour by hitchhiking.

for the coming week at least, in an effort to catch up.

A floor fight appears to be in the offing in both chambers on the general appropriations bill, particularly with regard to the state welfare department, with the house attempting to increase its appropriation and the senate finance committee attempting to top off some of its funds.

Governor Davis, who did not come to his office in the capitol this morning, is still faced with the necessity of taking a stand on the "right-to-work" bill. A third alternative, of letting the bill become a statute by taking no action, also is open to him.

APPROPRIATIONS DOWN 60 PER CENT

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP)

The 86th congress ended its first post-war fiscal year today with a spending record showing appropriations cuts of approximately 60 percent from last year's war-time financial allotments.

With only a few major bills to be disposed of, and but little controversy over the money provisions in them, the fiscal year appropriation totals as estimated by the house appropriations committee will be approximately $24,000,000,000. They are for all activities of the government for the year starting next Monday.

The total appropriated for the year ending at midnight tomorrow was $58,921,422,229.

priated this year, congress recaptured during the year $61,328,626,487 in appropriations made previously for war activities. A large part of that total came off of the $58,921,422,229 provided during the first part of 1945.

The biggest peacetime cuts were made in the budgets of the largest war-time spenders, the army and the navy.

The army, which received $21,496,902,030 this year, was given approximately $7,500,000,000 for the coming year.

On the other hand, many of the so-called "old line" departments, whose operations had been cut during the all-out war effort, received more for the coming year when they get back to normal peacetime programs.

Will Be Held In College Place
Church, Sunday
July 7

The Ouachita Valley Baptist Sunday School Association will meet at College Place Church, Sunday, July 7, at 2:30 p.m. with Rev. C. Roger Johnson, presiding.

The war will be as follows, states Superintendent E. H. (Bing) Miller:

2:30-2:40 p.m.—Devotional, Rev. C. S. Cadwallader, Jr.

2:40-2:55 p.m.—Business session. (a)

Miss Winnie Smith, secretary, request

for Sunday School data. (b) Other items of business.

2:55-3:00 p.m.—Hymn.

3:00-3:15 p.m.—Giving out awards earned in Association Training School and report on Sunday School week at Ridge Crest by Winnie Smith, association secretary.

3:15-3:30 p.m.—Men's chorus, First Baptist Church, West Monroe, under leadership of O. F. Watts, minister of education and music, First Baptist Church, West Monroe.

3:30-4:00 p.m.—Address by B. B. Fields, minister of education and music, First Baptist Church, Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller left to attend the Sunday School meeting at Ridge Crest, N. C., on July 1, and will make a stop on the return trip at Charleston, W. Va., where Mr. Miller was employed in defense work several years ago.

MILLION TEXTBOOKS TO BE DISTRIBUTED

The Veterans Administration has completed arrangements with the Library of Congress to distribute more than a million surplus textbooks to colleges and universities for the use of veteran-students, it was announced by John C. Tucker, contact representative in Monroe.

Formerly used in the Army and Navy college training programs, the books are expected to alleviate the textbook shortage somewhat. It is estimated they will save VA more than $3,000,000.

Distribution will be made to schools and not to veterans. VA is asking veterans not to apply for the books at VA offices or at the Library of Congress.

The VA has transferred funds to the Library of Congress to cover the cost of handling and mailing the books VA acquired from the War Assets Administration.

The library will mail printed lists of the books to accredited colleges and universities so that they may select the volumes they need. The schools then must requisition the library for the books they want.

Each school will set up its own distribution system to assure that only veterans will get the books. The supply of surplus textbooks must be exhausted before others of the same titles are purchased from any other source for veterans, VA said.

Each adult inhales a gallon of air per minute, and consumes 30 ounces of oxygen daily.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

Editor's note.—This is the last of three stories on the British loan which congress may approve next week.

By James Marlow.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP)—Why does Britain need a loan of $3,750,000,000 from this country?

To get back on her feet. Her foreign trade was shot by the war.

Is Britain the only country which will benefit by such a loan? Government officials here repeatedly have said the loan will not only help Britain but us, too, and world trade in general.

Why? Because Britain agrees—if congress approves the loan—to end her wartime trading methods, which had hurt American trade, and to join the United States in creating a free world trade if Britain didn't get the loan, what then?

The same government officials have said Britain would have to continue her wartime trade methods which would hurt American trade and also world trade.

Here's an explanation: Before the war Britain manufactured a lot of things which she sold abroad to help pay for what she bought.

Her merchant fleet, which carried a lot of world freight and charged fees for it, helped build up Britain's income.

Came the war. Her factories turned to war work. This meant less goods to sell abroad although Britain had to continue buying lots of things abroad to help fight the war.

And her merchant fleet was shot to pieces by the German submarines. All of this meant less income for Britain and therefore put her in debt since she had to continue buying abroad.

Fred M. Vinson, now supreme court chief justice but recently treasury secretary, told a senate committee: Britain has a "new foreign debt of more than $17,000,000,000, with $6,000,000,000 damage done by German bombs, robots and rockets, and $3,000,000,000 damage done by German submarines."

The senate committee which listened to Vinson, investigated the loan, and then okayed it, later said:

"It will take England 3 to 5 years to restore her export trade and her services to the point where they can provide the imports necessary for the functioning of British industry and the subsistence of the British people."

Before the war Britain had a big supply of dollars in this country where she bought so much and where Americans wanted to be paid for their goods in dollars.

During the war, because she bought so much here and sold so little, she used up a lot of her dollars.

To conserve her dollars for spending only where necessary, Britain set up some trading deals with other countries of the British empire.

If they sold anything to this country and were paid in dollars, they turned their dollars over to Britain which gave them British money, pounds sterling, instead.

Then when one of the countries in this sterling group needed dollars for some purchases here, it asked permission of Britain to use dollars.

But, further, to save its dollar supplies, Britain wouldn't permit use of dollars for purchases in this country if the needed goods could be bought within the sterling group, using sterling instead of dollars for payment.

American producers lost money by this deal.

Further, Britain set up other controls which could prohibit, or limit, the import of goods bought with dollars. This, too, shut off American trade.

And Britain had deals with certain countries not in the sterling group at all. They worked like this: England paid for her imports from those special countries with sterling. Then those countries could use the sterling to buy goods from Britain or other countries in the sterling bloc.

If Britain gets the American loan, thus building up its supply of dollars, it agrees to end the restrictive trade methods outlined here. If it can't, it will be forced to continue the wartime methods.

If that happened—with Britain dealing with one block of nations—this country probably would have to set up a bloc of nations of its own to do business only in dollars.

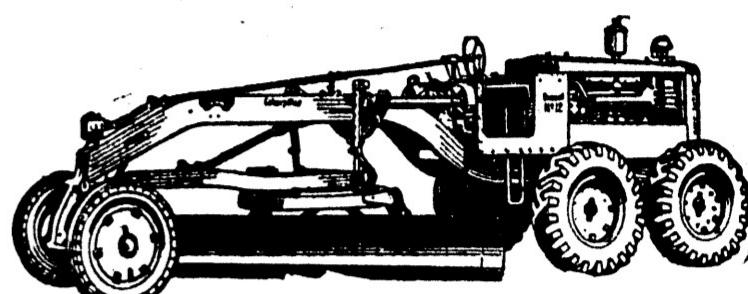

Then there'd be, government officials have suggested, the two trading blocks bucking each other. And that wouldn't help world trade.

TRIBUTE PAID TO MAJ. AUBERT

His Life

A touching tribute to the memory of Maj. George Aubert, a Wisner, La., World War II officer, who was killed in action in the South Pacific in 1943, was paid at Tampa University, Fla., recently when a booklet dedicated to him and written by a university classmate, George Kayton, was placed in the library of the institution. It is entitled: "Swing It High Sweet Saxophone."

Major Aubert was born March 15, 1915, and attended Ouachita Parish High School, where he graduated June 2, 1933. He then attended Northeast Junior College two years, being active in athletics. Later he was graduated from the Tampa (Fla.) University. He then entered with a class of 180 as cadet in the West Point of the Air at San Antonio, Tex., being trained at Randolph and Kelly Fields. He was awarded his wings and became a second lieutenant Nov. 28, 1939.

His first assignment was at Maxwell Field where he trained for bomber pilot and was attached to the 54th bomb squadron when it moved to an army air base at Orlando, Fla., in March, 1941.

He was transferred to Eglin Field, Fla., and soon after made a first lieutenant. In November he was transferred to Turner Field, Albany, Ga., to assume command of a squadron and was promoted to captain.

He received many citations for outstanding work. At his request Captain Aubert was transferred to the air depot at Rome, N. Y., where he was a test pilot, testing planes to be sent overseas for combat.

In December, 1942, he was promoted to major and in the spring of 1943 he sailed with the 15th air depot repair squadron, 15th air depot group, for duty in the Southwest Pacific. His plane crashed June 22, 1943, in Townsville, Queensland, Australia, in which he lost his life.

FIVE NEW SAILORS ARE BACK ON LEAVE

Five youths who enlisted in the navy at Monroe last April 16 have completed boot training and are home on leave prior to receiving their station assignments.

The new sailors are Roy Lavelle Wilson, of 1300 North Second Street; Wallace Ray Bromley of Route 1 and Homer Clyde Cook of 200 Clayton Avenue, all of West Monroe; William Roy Green of Grayson, and Lester Bryant Pinkham of Winnsboro, Route 4.

Wilson and Cook were company leaders while in training.

Everything But Leaves And Stumps Serves Useful Purpose

By Sam G. Harris
CROSSETT, Ark., June 29—(P)—

Everything but the leaves and stumps is utilized from the trees growing on the vast timber domain of the Crossett Lumber Company in Ashley, Drew and Dallas Counties, Ark., and Union Parish, La.

And, says General Manager Peter F. Watzek of the "Crossett Arkansas Companies" here, it need not be a surprise to anyone if the research laboratories in Crossett find a commercial use for those items.

The lumber company, the first of 12 corporations making up "Crossett Arkansas Companies," pioneered scientific forestry methods which, among other things, have insured the company a constant permanent source of material for its mills.

One of the first things learned by these methods was that waste was economically sinful—no matter how seemingly plentiful the raw materials were, Watzek declared. Research and more research piled on top of the basic truths of planned forestry have made this community one of the state's largest and most diversified manufacturing centers.

The Crossett Lumber Company, with its scores of acres of mills where whining saws turn out 200,000 feet of choice, finished lumber daily, still is the primary industry here.

The Crossett Chemical Company and the Crossett Paper Mill are companion industries. Both utilize scrub hardwoods and waste from the forests and sawmills while the lumber company concentrates on wholesale production of choice pine and oak lumber.

The Chemical Company produces alcohol, wood oils, concentrated smokes and wood extracts for flavoring meats and cheeses, pitch, tar, acetic acid, a dozen grades of charcoal used for everything from fuel to chicken feed, and other wood products. From the time a small railway car of knotty, twisted and curled timber enters the kiln until the car comes out loaded with dross charcoal, these products are extracted and processed.

The paper mill produces 80 tons of high grade heavy paper an hour. A visitor sees cords of logs of assorted sizes and varieties dumped onto conveyor belts, hauled up into a huge revolving drum that de-barks them, dumped into choppers which reduce them to chips, and then loses track of the subsequent processes involved until at the end of long rows of vats, boilers, kilns, extractors, presses and kindred machinery he sees great webs of paper or cardboard being twirled into vast rolls.

Ordinarily from each of these operations a certain amount of waste would be expected—such as bark, small limbs, trimmings and sawdust. But, everything that can't be converted into something saleable is whisked away by suction pipes and conveyor belts into huge hoppers. From these, it is dumped into automatic stokers as fuel for the batteries of furnaces which generate steam for rows of turbines that produce electricity for the mills, the city and all other enterprises here.

Each production corporation here has its own control laboratories that keep Crossett products up to a hairline specification. But, dwarfing any product of the wildest imagination of a Hollywood designer of a horror laboratory is the big research laboratory maintained by the "Crossett Arkansas Companies."

In that research laboratory, 25 skilled chemists are hunting for new products to be made from Arkansas timber, searching for new uses of the products already pouring out in increasing streams to the railway loading docks.

And, incidentally, they are after some use to which the leaves and stumps can be put.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Lee Hall, West Monroe, announce the birth of a daughter, Gloria Patricia, at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel Clinic on June 23.

The 1945 production of broilers reached a new high of 312 million—a ninefold increase since 1934.

Waiting is tough on us, too

For months we've been hoping to present each and every one of you with the new Packards you've ordered, and have been waiting for so patiently.

Last fall, the outlook was good. Packard was confident it would double its pre-war output in 1946. (The factory is equipped to turn out far more than that.)

Look what has happened!

Then came material shortages. Parts shortages. For reasons completely beyond its own control, Packard was able to keep its assembly line moving only nine days in the first quarter of this year.

In the meantime . . .

Our friends have kept calling us up and asking, "Hey! Where's that new Packard I ordered weeks ago?" Many of these are old friends—Packard owners since way back.

But to make life more complicated, everybody seems to want one of these grand new Packards. Over 65% of the people out to buy new Packards are now driving some other make.

Honest, it's gotten so we hate to answer the telephone or look our friends in the face. But...

Your patience will pay off!

One of these days, the shortage of parts and materials is bound to ease up. And when it does, those twin-assembly lines at Packard will really roll.

Anyway, you can depend on this:

As fast as the factory ships cars to us, we'll do everything we can to deliver yours at the earliest possible moment.

So, we hope you'll be patient a little longer. We're doing the best we can, and so are the folks at the factory!

Beautiful Ceremony Unites Young Couple

First Methodist Church Is The Scene Of Beautiful June Nuptial Event

Considerable sentiment was reflected in the wedding of Miss Peggy Strong and Mr. Calvin Bernard Folds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Bernard Folds, as it took place on the Golden wedding anniversary of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strong, June 23 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony, performed by Rev. L. T. Hastings in the presence of a wide concourse of friends and relatives, took place before an arch entwined with clematis and flanked on either side with tall baskets of white gladioli and fern. In the background cathedral tapers gleamed in tall floor candelabra. At the nuptial hour the candles were lighted by John H. Scogin III who wore a crisp white linen suit.

The pews reserved for members of the family and intimate friends were designated by bows of white tulle and sprays of white gladioli.

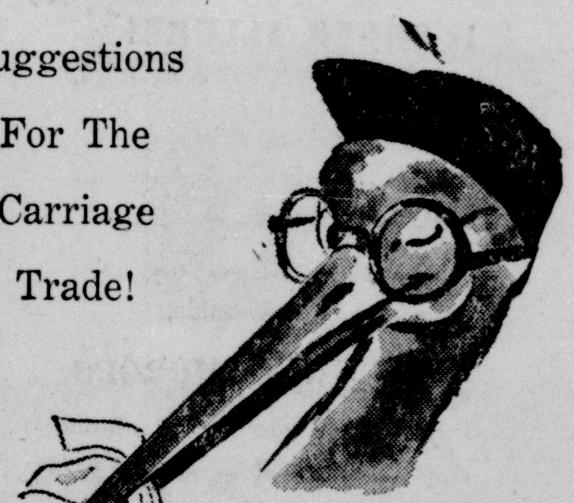

Mrs. Everett Ziegler, wearing a bouffant gown of sheer pink dimity, with pink flowers in her hair, rendered an organ concert of pre-nuptial music. While the ushers, Messrs. Van Clark, J. E. Freeman, Elmer Culpepper, Jr., and J. M. Bushy, Jr., were seating the guests, Schubert's serenade and Ava Maria were played, and just prior to the ceremony "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star," was rendered.

line of her gown. Her flowers were Esther Reed daisies, tube roses and orchids.

For something old she carried her grandmother's lace wedding handkerchief.

Her only ornament was an antique cameo lavaliere encircled with tiny pearls, her wedding gift from the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Scogin, Jr., on Marine Place. It served the two-fold purpose as the bride's grandparents were also honored on this occasion.

The decorative note was in keeping with the two important events, yellow calla lilies, Peruvian lilies and yellow roses for the golden wedding anniversary and pure white blossoms for the bridal theme.

Mrs. Strong, assisting in receiving, wore a pink lace dinner dress with corsage of Talisman roses. She wore the diamond encrusted watch presented to her by Mr. Strong on their wedding day fifty years ago.

Mrs. Folds, the bridegroom's mother, wore a pastel pink model with small hat of pink maline and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Scogin, also in the receiving line, wore a white marquisette model with corsage of pink carnations.

The table in the dining room was covered with imported white lace. At one corner, the three-tiered wedding cake was placed, and diagonally across stood the tiered cake which spelled fifty years of wedded bliss for Mr. and Mrs. Strong. Dresden figurines held white satin ribbon.

Mrs. G. M. Gleason, in pink, and Mrs. G. H. Strong, in an orchid-colored gown, alternated at the punch bowl. Miss Marion Simtoms and Mrs. G. H. Thomas passed trays of cakes embossed in white lilies and mints embossed in white and yellow.

The bride changed her gown for a smart tailleur of dusty pink with matching coat of wool in the same shade. Her brown maline hat harmonized perfectly with her other accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

The bride, a lovely blonde, wore a picturesque wedding gown of white embroidered marquisette over taffeta. The tight bodice was buttoned down the back with self-covered buttons. The yoke was trimmed with soft bias folds of self material. The sleeves, which were slightly puffed at the shoulder, came to a point over the hands. The bouffant skirt fell in a long train. Her veil of illusion, fashioned with a coronet, fell to the hem.

After the honeymoon the young couple will be at home to their friends in their apartment on Jackson street until September when Mr. Folds will go to Philadelphia, Penn., to enter Eckels College.

Mrs. Folds was graduated from

Quachita Parish High School and has held a responsible secretarial position for several years.

Mr. Folds was graduated from Quachita Parish High School and was a student at Northeast Junior College when he entered the service over three years ago, having only recently received his discharge.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Harper and daughter, Linda, El Paso, Texas; Mrs. Thomas Hasty, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Dixon, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pyron, Bastrop; Mrs. Pauline Carter, Mrs. G. F. Garrett and Mrs. W. V. Prominent Wedding Held In Bastrop, La.

Miss Betty Jane Robinson Weds Dr. Boykin At Presbyterian Church

A wedding of prominence attracting wide spread interest was that of Miss Betty Jane Robinson, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Furman Purvin Robinson of Bastrop, Louisiana, and Dr. Frederick Carpenter Boykin, lieutenant (j. g.) U. S. naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ancren.

Boys of Wilmington, Delaware and New York City, which was solemnized the evening of Friday, June 21, at the First Methodist Church. The Reverend George M. Smiley of the First Presbyterian Church officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Reverend Jolly B. Harper of the First Methodist Church.

The altar and choir loft, backed with southern smilax and plumes fern formed an unusually beautiful background for the fan shaped bouquets of large white gladioli tied with wide white satin bows and lengths of satin ribbons. Gladioli and evergreens also graced the chancel railing. Hundreds of white tapers of graduated lengths gleamed in the background.

The pews on either side of the center aisle were adorned with clusters of white gladioli and fern. Pews reserved for family and friends were designated by satin streamers and bows. During the lighting of the candles the organist, Mr. Leon Hammond of Monroe, Louisiana, rendered a concert of traditional nuptial music. Lieutenant Thomas Terry Milliken, United States army, sang "I Love Thee" and "Be-cause."

The wedding party entered to the strains of the Wagner Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used as the recessional. "Claire De Lune," "I Love You Truly" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told" was softly played while the wedding vows were being exchanged.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in her wedding gown of imported lace and marquisette, with sweetheart neckline. The sleeves ended in tulip points at the wrist and the full skirt ended in a graceful train. Her veil of illusion was held in place with a coronet of pearl tipped orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of matched white orchids showered with clusters of bovardia. Her only ornament was a necklace of pearls, her wedding gift from the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Moss Madison, wore an ice blue marquisette gown over blue taffeta with tucked yoke and off the shoulder effect. The skirt was long and extremely full. She carried a bouquet of yellow sun Roosevelt roses with yellow satin streamers.

The bridesmaids, Miss Jean Chevington, Jenkins, Kentucky; Miss Lucille Cunningham, Mobile, Alabama; Miss Margaret Scott, Rome, Georgia; Miss Ann Register, Fitzgerald, Georgia; Miss Mary Alice Jackson, Monroe, Louisiana; and Miss Shirley Campbell of Bastrop, Louisiana, wore dresses of blue ice marquisette similar to the maid of honor. They carried fan shaped bouquets of white and yellow miniature calla lilies with long yellow satin streamers.

The little flower girls, Suzanne Soard and Ann Rinehart wore dresses of white net over white taffeta and carried old fashioned nosegays of yellow roses and peruvian lilies.

Mr. Lowell Henry of Anderson, South Carolina, uncle of the groom, served as best man and the groomsman were Dr. Earl McMurphy of Mobile, Alabama; Dr. F. B. Ogden, W. C. Hornsby, Jr., Joe Rigsby, Joe Turpin, and Emile Liles of Bastrop, Louisiana.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Morehouse Country Club. Receiving were the bride and bridegroom, their parents and members of the wedding party.

Baskets of greenery and white gladioli artistically placed decorated the club lounge and formed a lovely background for the receiving line.

For her daughter's wedding and reception, Mrs. Robinson chose a pastel pink crepe evening model embroidered in beads of pastel hues. She wore long white gloves and a small evening hat of pink maline. Her corsage was performed by Dr. C. E. Autrey.

The bride was lovely in a dress of azure blue jersey with a corsage of white carnations. Miss Sidney Raye, Monroe, the bride's only attendant, wore a nile green crepe model and a corsage of pink carnations. Mr. Isaac Freeman served as best man.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Mrs. Raymond Spence, who played McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin," and Schumann's "Traumerei." Miss Eula Barret sang "Because."

The living room of the Green home was banked with white gladioli and Burbank daisies. During the informal reception which followed the ceremony frosted punch and wedding cake was served.

Cut-of-town guests included the bride's aunts, Mrs. Violet Gates and her son Carroll, and Mrs. Houston Gates and daughter, Gloria Jane, of Winfield.

Mrs. Moss is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, where she was a member of Beta Delta Sorority, and graduated from Northeast Junior College in 1944. She has been employed in the office of the registrar at N. J. C. since her graduation.

Mr. Moss is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, and served in the navy for three years before returning to school at Northeast Junior College.

At present, the couple are making their home with the bride's parents, in West Monroe.

Immediately following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Boykin left for a wedding trip to Ponte Vedra, Florida. For traveling the bride wore a handsome navy crepe two-piece suit with navy and white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Agnes Scott College of Decatur, Georgia.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson College, North Carolina and Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Alice Eve Bielski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bielski of Ambridge, Pa., and Mr. Ray Sherrard son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sherrard of West Monroe, in Yuma, Arizona, June 20.

The bride attended Ohio University and graduated with a bachelor of science degree. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Mr. Sherrard is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School. He was recently discharged from the marine corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherrard are making their home for the time being in West Monroe.

Six Of Redskin's 1946 Games Will Be Played Here, Malone Says

Coach James L. Malone yesterday announced an eight-game football schedule, featuring six home contests, for his Northeast Junior College of Louisiana State University Indians here next fall. The only road trips facing the Redskins will be journeys to Kilgore, Tex., and to Lake Charles.

The 1946 campaign looms big with the return of some of the Tribe's old pre-war foes to the schedule which will open here September 27 against the United States Merchant Marines of Pas Christian, Miss. The Marines first appeared on the N. J. C. schedule last year with the Maloners winning a close and hard-fought contest, 13 to 10.

Arkansas Tech, which returned to the Tribe schedule last season for the first time since 1940 and shelled out to Redskins, 14 to 0, is back this year along with Arkansas A. and M. which the locals haven't played since 1938.

John McNeese Junior College of Lake Charles, which tackled the Tribe on a home-and-home basis for the first time last fall, returns in the same capacity this year with the first game billed for Monroe October 18, and a return game slated for Lake Charles on November 1.

Since John McNeese and N. J. C. are the only junior colleges in Louisiana their battles are expected to be tops in rivalry and something of state championship scrambles.

The Kilgore Junior College Rangers a strong pre-war rival of the locals is back for the first time since they shaded the Tribe 7 to 0 in 1942. The Copiah-Lincoln Wolves of Wesson, Miss., long a figure in N. J. C. grid campaigns, are again included this year alone with the addition of the University of Mississippi "B" team.

The appearance of the Old Miss "B" club marks the first time the Tribe has tackled a major college eleven of its nature since the L. S. U. "B" outfit was met in 1942.

September 27—U. S. Merchant Marines, here.

October 5—Kilgore Junior College, at Kilgore, Tex.

October 11—Ole Miss "B," here.

October 18—John McNeese, here.

October 26—Copiah-Lincoln, here.

November 1—John McNeese, at Lake Charles.

November 8—Arkansas A. and M., here.

November 21—Arkansas Tech, here.

LEGION LEADERS WILL MEET HERE

Farmerville Nine Faces Monro-West Monroe At Neville At 3 P.M.

Farmerville, with its great depth in pitching, comes to Monroe today for the last scheduled game of the northeast Louisiana district American Legion Junior baseball campaign, meeting the Monroe-West Monroe club at Neville High School at 3 o'clock.

Coch "Doc" Elliott's Union parish aggregation and Coach Pete Metak's locals are currently running neck-and-neck in the district race with eight victories and one defeat each. The result of today's game will only determine the leader at the close of the ten-game schedule and will have no bearing on the district title since both Farmerville and Monroe-West Monroe clinched playoff spots with their victories Friday when the locals stopped Winnboro and Farmerville downed Bastrop.

When the ten-game schedule was adopted for the six teams in the district, it was decided that the two leading teams, on a percentage basis at the close of the schedule would meet in a three-game championship playoff the following week in July.

Farmerville and the local McCann-Ridrichs will be the representatives in the playoffs since the loser of today's game here will clinch second place and thus still be eligible to continue play.

Plans for the playoff will probably be completed today, relative to the dates for the games. The series winner will then move into another playoff, probably with one of Shreveport's teams, for the north Louisiana crown.

Coach Pete Medik is expected to call on George Laffey, big right-hander, to try and hold the Farmers to day. Charlie Feitko, little L. T. 1 athlete, who was at his best Friday against Winnboro, will also be ready when Shortstop Ernest King and Outfielder Roy Brennan, who have been taking turns on the mound when needed.

Coach Elliott yesterday reported that since Avail LoBoff, Henry Albritton and Bob Albritton had already pitched victories this week, that his likely starters for today would be either Charles Savage or Thomas Keith Patterson. Farmerville is also well fortified in the catching department with Carroll ready to relieve Hodges. It has been only recently that Hodges has had any help, and Carroll has been a welcome addition to the Farmerville staff. It was Carroll who caught Bob Albritton's no-ho-ho run against Bastrop Friday.

Available for infield duty with Farmerville are Dunn, Miller, Pace, B. Albritton, Morris Albritton and Cole. The outfield chores will be ably handled by Henderson, Pratt and Gilham.

Monroe's catching will be in charge of "Sonny" Webb or Demaree. Infielders are Hugh Smith, McBeth, Parsons, Matkins, King, C. Fontana and Roy Scala. In the garden patrol, Medok will draw on Robert Kirby, Brennan, Buckley, Guy Woods and "Sonny" Richards.

BROOKS TRIUMPH AGAIN FOR HIGBE

Unbeaten This Year, Kirby Wins 8th As Dodgers Blast Braves, 12-3

BROOKLYN, June 29.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers concentrated most of their scoring in two big innings, a five-run fifth and a six-run sixth, to whip the Boston Braves today for the third straight time, 12-3. Kirby-Higbe gave up seven hits to register his eighth triumph without a setback.

Miss Flournoy Weds Donald E. Simmons

E. N. Faulk Home Is The Scene Of An Impressive June Wedding Ceremony

Sentiment, dignity and impressive ceremony characterized the wedding of Miss Laura Morris Flournoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene K. Flournoy of this city and Mr. Donald E. Simmons, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Simmons of New York, on June 22.

The ceremony was performed by Reverend A. M. Serex at eight o'clock in the evening in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Noble Faulk in the presence of members of the two families and a few intimate friends.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Mary Grace Lunn and were shown where to stand by Miss Byrne Hand and Mrs. John Salisbury, who during the ceremony carried the white satin ribbons which marked the aisle for the bridal procession. Mrs. Flournoy, mother of the bride, wearing a soft aqua draped chiffon model, stood at the door of the drawing room to welcome the guests as they entered. Standing nearby were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Faulk who graciously greeted their guests. Mrs. Faulk wore a white embroidered chiffon evening gown with jeweled pin. Mrs. Simmons, mother of the groom, wore a stunning model of deep blue crepe and lace and a corsage of white gardenias.

A picturesquely arched doorway with southern smilax and English ivy at the extreme end of the drawing room formed the improvised altar. It was flanked with Grecian urns overflowing with white gladioli. Baskets of white gladioli formed a flowered enclosure for the wedding party.

Miss Gene Flournoy, the bride's sister, home from New York for the wedding, was the only attendant. She wore a diaphanous gown of flesh colored marquisette with short cap sleeves edged with a narrow ruffle and a long full skirt, bustle effect. She wore long lace mitts and carried an exquisite bouquet of pink Columbia roses, blue candytuft and white tube roses.

The flower girl, Alma Faulk, three year old blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Faulk, preceded the bride to the altar. Her gown was an exact replica of the one worn by the maid of honor. She scattered rose petals from a small French basket.

At the nuptial hour the bride walked down the ivy entwined stairs to the accompaniment of Lohengrin's wedding march. She was met at the foot of the stairs by her father who gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown was of white marquisette with long, full sleeves tight at the wrists and bodice fashioned with a square cut neckline.

MONROE (LA.) MORNING WORLD

NIGHTINGALE-TRIMBLE NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED AT THE TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH OF MONROE

On Saturday, June 15, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Mrs. Elsa Nightingale became the bride of Monroe S. Trimble, Jr. The wedding took place in the beautiful little chapel of Trinity Lutheran Church. Lighted tapers burned in wrought-iron candelabra and garlands of ferns and evergreens added to the beauty of the ceremony. The altar was banked with white gladioli and asters.

Mr. Donald E. Simmons, acted as best man for his son. The bride adhered to all the traditions by wearing "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue." For something old she wore the wedding ring of her maternal great grandmother, Susan Faulk.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Faulk, the bride's grandparents, holds special significance for the bride as her mother, the former Miss Mary Faulk, walked down the same stairway on her wedding day.

The beautiful prenuptial music rendered by Mr. Leon Hammond, pianist, was a distinct contribution to the ceremony. One of the bride's favorites "O Gentle Presence" was rendered softly during the ceremony performed by Reverend A. M. Serex. Miss Louise Rinehart delighted the guests with her song numbers including "At Dawnning" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," the latter having also been sung at the wedding of the bride's mother. As a benediction Miss Helen Hayes, sang "The Lord Bless Thee and Keep Thee," a special favorite of the bride's.

Immediately following the ceremony the families of the young couple gathered to extend their best wishes as did their friends present for the wedding. At this time additional friends began arriving for the reception, who, because of limited numbers, had not been present for the ceremony.

Eight young girls in summery formal passed ices and petit fours during the reception. They were Misses Jo Ann Biedenham, Betty Ann Taylor, Barbara Faulk, Joan Boardman, Clarice Slagle, Byrnle Handy, Florence Fluker and Mrs. John Salisbury. Also assisting in the courtesies during the reception and wearing becoming evening gowns were the following close friends of the bride's family: Mrs. A. B. Hopson, Mrs. George Gunby, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. Francis Faulk, Mrs. Louise Unglesby, Mrs. James Ball, Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. Mike Smith and Miss Ann Braun. During the reception Miss Betty Rinehart sang two lovely songs accompanied by Mr. Leon Hammond at the piano and Mr. Harvey Bau of Monroe, violinist.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a black crepe suit with flower hat and black accessories. Following a honeymoon at Miami, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Simmons will be at home at 20 Magaw Place, New York City.

The bride, born and reared in this city where her great grandfathers lived on adjoining plantations and were prominently identified with the civic life of Monroe from early pioneer days, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School, Principia College, St. Louis, Mo., and the Louisiana State University. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Beta Sigma sororities.

Mr. Simmons has recently returned to civilian life after serving as first lieutenant in the air corps for three years. He was in the Pacific theater of operations where he served first as a navigator on bombing raids and later as a special service officer. He is at present associated with General Motors Acceptance Corporation, Newark, N. J., until he returns to college in the fall.

Out of town guests present for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Simmons, Sr., Miss Marcia Simmons, of New York City; Mrs. Nelson Hull of Vermilion, Ohio; Miss Mary Evelyn Johnson of Pasadena, California; Miss Cynthia Taylor of Baton Rouge, Louisiana; Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Cade and Mr. John Cade of Alexandria, Louisiana.

Engagements And Weddings

Mr. Trimble was attended by Mr. Charles Snider. The ushers were Messrs Fred Culpepper, Jr., and Lan-don Miles.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Hurville Moak.

On this occasion the groom's mother wore a handsome grey mesh model.

Her corsage was of white sphynx.

The reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Frey.

Urns of pink gladioli and lighted pink tapers adorned the reception suite, and more than a hundred guests were served from the lace-covered wedding table.

Mrs. Woodrow Hatherne presided at the punch bowl assisted by Mrs. Hurville Moak. Mrs. Hatherne wore a lovely white print model and Mrs. Moak wore a navy dotted sheer.

After cutting the tiered wedding cake, the bride and groom departed in a shower of rice for a wedding trip to points of interest in southern Texas.

Personals

Mrs. A. G. Bauer, Jr., completed a visit of several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Marie Frazier and brother, Monty Frazier, and left via airways on Friday for her home in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Bauer is the former Miss Leila Dean Frazier.

Mrs. H. W. Soard and children, Sue and Charles, of Denver, Colo., are at the bedside of Mrs. Henkel's mother, Mrs. G. L. Wood, who is in a critical condition at Riverside Sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Kelly, Route 3, announce the arrival of a son, Delbert Evans, at St. Francis Sanitarium, June 23.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Gimler, Jr., announce the arrival of a son, Charles Michael, at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel Clinic June 24.

Sgt. and Mrs. Marine will make their home in Santa Ana, Calif., where Sgt. Marine is now stationed at the Edison Hotel. En route they will motor through the Blue Ridge Mountains and before returning home will spend several days in Atlantic City.

ACTIVE OZONE CREAM

Neglect a dry skin, and you invite that "years older" look. You tempt lines, and later wrinkles, and you encourage a noticeable scuffing of cuticle that simply won't take a smooth make-up. This dryness needs Active Ozone Cream, with its balance of moisture, oil and nascent oxygen, because this skin type, so fine and fragile, with proper care can be so beautiful.

Notice the exhilarating tingling as this cream starts to lubricate and soften that dry surface... to relieve that tense pull of dry skin... to awaken a flower dewiness to make others say, "How well you look!"

SEMI-PROS SET TO PLAY TODAY

North Louisiana Games Slated For Good Pine, Columbia, Winnsboro

The North Louisiana League, its second half openers postponed because of rain Wednesday, will try to get its last half race underway today, weather permitting, with games scheduled at Columbia, Winnsboro and Good Pine.

Good Pine, slated to have made its league debut against Bastrop Wednesday, will play host to league opponent for the first time today against R. W. Carter's Olin Tigers.

The Clarks White Sox, champions of the first-half race, journey to Winnsboro today for a tussle with Edgar Lowry's strengthened Franklin park club.

The Bastrop Buckshoos will furnish the opposition for the Columbia Ramblers at Columbia. The Ramblers are reportedly grabbing up new talent and will present a vastly changed club from the one that took over the Basin franchise late in the first half campaign.

But the Bucks are in the improvement stage also, and the general opinion is that Bastrop, like two or three other league members, will turn out a much stronger team for the final go-around. Business Manager John Wright's team has already reported the addition of A. R. "ted" Sims, infielder, and Jack Futch, pitcher, both of whom were with the West Monroe team managed by Sims during the first-half race. Paul Cook, after a brief whirl at pro ball, is also back in Bastrop.

BUDGE AND RIGGS REACH NEW ENGLAND NET FINAL

BROOKLINE, Mass., June 29.—(AP)—After a three-hour struggle in the torrid heat, second-seeded Don Budge of Oakland, Calif., gained the final round of the New England Professional Singles Tennis Tournament by out-lasting Frank Kovas, his fellow townsmen, for a hard-earned 6-4, 7-5, 5-7, 4-6, 6-3 victory today at Longwood.

Top-seeded Bobby Riggs of Chicago, became the other finalist by defeating Fred Perry, former British star, now of Las Vegas, Nev., 3-6, 6-1, 9-7, 6-2.

Dashelli Hammatt, detective fiction writer, was a Pinkerston detective for eight years.

Popular Monroe Girl Becomes The Bride Of Mr. B. H. Kellogg Of Wellesley, Mass.

Lovely is the word for Miss Martha Clayton Kilpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armon K. Kilpatrick when she walked down a white carpeted aisle flooded with mellow candlelight at Grace Church to become the bride of Mr. Branton Holden Kellogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Kellogg of Wellesley Hills, Mass., on the night of June the twenty-second, at eight o'clock.

Cathedral tapers, hundreds of them, pricked the dimness of the altar and cast a shining radiance on the flowery enclosure where the wedding party stood. The lighting of the candles by the acolytes in crisp white and black vestments was one of the impressive features of the ceremony performed by Dr. Edward F. Hayward, rector of Grace Church, who wore the ecclesiastic robes of his office.

This wedding will linger long in memory as it was characterized by considerable beauty of detail. White predominated in the floral decor with subtle touches of green creating a lush background perfect for a mid-summer night. Marconi daisies were gracefully arranged in classic-shaped urns and tall floor receptacles entwined with English ivy. In the background myriad cathedral tapers in white candelabra of graduated lengths were silhouetted against southern ford of Shreveport, Miss Satchie Naiden, Miss Barbara Faulk and Miss Mary Brownrigg of Beaumont, Tex., wore diaphanous gowns of white embroidered batiste. They carried white maline fans adorned with tube roses and wore wreaths of gardenias in their hair.

Mrs. Kilpatrick, the bride's mother walked down the aisle in a beautiful lime-green crepe model with accessories of the same unusual color. She wore at her waistline a cluster of cream-colored gardenias.

The bridegroom's aunt, Miss Edith Kellogg of Wellesley, Mass., wore a lime-green evening model with accessories of the same unusual color. She wore at her waistline a cluster of cream-colored gardenias.

The bridegroom's aunt, Miss Edith Kellogg of Wellesley, Mass., wore a lime-green evening model with accessories of the same unusual color. She wore at her waistline a cluster of cream-colored gardenias.

The bride, walking down the white carpeted aisle with her father who gave her in marriage, wore a wedding gown of gleaming white satin designed with a high round neckline and extended shoulders forming the sleeves. A wide fold of the satin appliquéd with Aloncon lace formed an off-the-shoulder bertha around the deep sheer yoke. Appliques of lace accented the flared satin pepplum. The full gored skirt extended into a chapel train.

The bride's veil was of finger-tip length with a wide circle of imported bridal illusion edged with Rosepoint lace. She carried a superb bouquet of white stephanotis and white orchids.

The reception, held on the Virginia roof in place of the gardens of the Kilpatrick home, due to inclement weather, was a brilliant one with fashionable Monroe out en masse.

The wedding party including Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick, Mr. Henderson Kellogg and Miss Edith Kellogg, stood at the entrance to the roof to receive the guests. Tall floor standards overflowing with pink gladioli were placed at vantage points and formed a decorative background for the wedding party.

The bride's table placed in the center of the floor was circular and skirted with white tulles over white satin. Mystery gardenias of pronounced beauty encircled the table.

The wedding cake embossed in white roses and valley lilies formed the central decorative note and at either end of the table white tapers gleamed in handsome Colonial silver candelabra.

White clad attendants passed trays of champagne and individual wedding cakes throughout the evening. Before the bride left on her honeymoon she tossed her bouquet and fell into the outstretched hands of Miss Barbara Faulk.

The bride's going away ensemble was quite stunning and very becoming. It was a sage green gabardine tailleur with cocoa brown accessories and corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg will spend their honeymoon at Three Mile Island, an exclusive resort on Lake Winnipesaukee, New Hampshire. After the 20th of July they will be at home at 14 Belaire Road, Wellesley, Mass.

The bride, born and reared in Monroe, is a graduate of Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans, and was a member of this year's graduating class at the University of Texas. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. The number of prenuptial affairs in her honor testified to her extreme popularity, not only in younger socials, but with the older set as well.

Mr. Kellogg is a graduate of South Kent Preparatory School in Connecticut. He will continue his education at the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Ruth Greer
Is The Bride Of
Arthur Lee Moses

The beautiful double-ring wedding ceremony of Miss Ruth Greer, daughter of Mrs. S. E. Greer of Monroe, La., and Mr. Arthur Lee Moses, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Moses of West Monroe, La., was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cash on June 15, 1946, at 6:30 p. m. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. M. Caraway around an improvised alter of daisies and gladioli. The living room was beautifully decorated with daisies and gladioli.

The bride wore a beautiful grey and white model of light wool with corsage of white carnations. The matron of honor, Mrs. Walter Cash wore a model of light blue with corsage of pink gladioli, while the bride's mother was dressed in white with pink gladioli.

The groom was attended by Walter Cash, and the bride was given away by her brother, T. M. Greer. The flower girl, Ester Ann Cash, wore a blue dress adorned with daisies, and was accompanied by her brother, Larry.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home, and a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom. The bride's table was overlaid with handsome lace, and the dining room was adorned with beautiful yellow and orchid dahlia. The punch bowl was presided over by the bride's niece, Miss Mabel Doris Greer, and the groom's niece, Miss Helen Prothro.

After the reception the bride donned a smart beige model with white accessories, left with the bridegroom for a honeymoon in New Orleans.

Upon their return they will be at home to friends at 513 Catalpa street, Monroe.

Mrs. Moses is a registered nurse, and received her training at St. Francis Sanitarium, where she will continue nursing. The groom is employed by the Twin-City Printing Company.

LAMBDA SIGMA CHI ANNUAL SUMMER FORMAL IS ONE OF INTERESTING EVENTS OF SEASON

Members of Lambda Sigma Chi sorority held their annual summer formal on the Virginia Hotel roof.

The high-light of the evening was the presentation of the new president, Miss Mary Louise Guerriero, following the grand march which was led by Miss Jo Ann Meredith, the outgoing president. Miss Guerriero received a bouquet of gladiolas, carnations, and gardenias, and Miss Meredith was presented with a silver identification bracelet. The outgoing sponseurs, Stewart Scott and Tommy Inskeep, also received identification bracelets. The sorority mother, Mrs. M. L. Meredith, and the sorority sponsor, Mrs. B. B. Martin, received corsages of white calla lilies and garlands.

The bride, walking down the white carpeted aisle with her father who gave her in marriage, wore a wedding gown of gleaming white satin designed with a high round neckline and extended shoulders forming the sleeves. A wide fold of the satin appliquéd with Aloncon lace formed an off-the-shoulder bertha around the deep sheer yoke. Appliques of lace accented the flared satin pepplum. The full gored skirt extended into a chapel train.

A breakfast at the home of Miss Francis Whittlesey followed the dance. Mrs. C. C. Whittlesey, Mrs. B. B. Martin, and Mrs. M. L. Meredith acted as co-hostesses.

Members of their dates who enjoyed the evening of dancing were: Miss Sharon Anderson and Homer Sandifer, Miss Ann Atkinson and Sonny DeLoach, Miss Betty Benson and Stewart Scott, Miss Barbara Beuse and George Lester, Jr., Miss Jane Birdsong and Bernard Kramer, Miss Ann Braun and Bobby Ledbetter, Miss Sara Ellen Bruno and Jeff Dalar, Miss Libby Butler and Charles

HOME CEREMONY UNITES IN MARRIAGE MISS JOY MICHAEL AND MR. ISRAEL LEVINE

Of interest to a wide circle of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Joy Elaine Michael, daughter of Mrs. Mollie Michael of this city, and Mr. Israel Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Levine of New York City on June 23. The ceremony took place in the bride's home with Dr. F. K. Hirsch, officiating in the presence of a small group of friends and members of the family.

The ceremony, characterized by charming simplicity, was performed before an improvised altar banked with California daisies and magnolias and white tapers burning in the background.

Miss Irma Jane Nussbaum, of Dermot, Ark., served as maid of honor. She wore an aqua model with white accessories.

Her corsage was of talisman roses. Mr. Leo Levine, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride, entering on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Joe Dante of Winnsboro, wore a beautiful advanced model of bronze sheer with cherry accessories. The bronze orchids on her prayer book were in perfect harmony with the handsome amber comb she wore in her hair.

An informal reception was held and before departing on their honeymoon the young couple cut their beautiful embossed wedding cake. It centered in a lace covered, candlelit table in the dining room where daisies and magnolias continued the floral theme. A variety of confections and punch was served by Miss Regenia Scherck and Mrs. Joe Dante.

The bride's mother, assisting in the ceremonies, wore a multi-colored summer sheer with corsage of carnations. The groom's mother wore black with corsage of carnations. The maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lilly Michael, was dressed in black and white marquise with orchid corsage.

The bride, until recently, a student at Northeast Junior College, is a graduate of Neville High School. The groom, who graduated from City College, New York and is now employed there as a public relations council. He was discharged from the air corps last October after serving as lieutenant with the Eighth Air Force.

The young couple will reside in New York.

Mr. Levine was in training as a navigator at Selman Field when he met Miss Michael.

Mrs. Levine has many friends in this area, and it was reflected in the many lovely parties and showers given the bride when her date was announced. Among those entertaining for her within the past week were Miss Emily Cunningham, Miss Shirley Kaplan, Miss Marilyn Rosenberg, Miss Regenia Scherck and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dante.

Out of town guests for the wedding

Purely Personal

Gentry Jones, Jr., left last week for Boston, Mass., where he will spend the summer studying dancing under Ted Shawn who is associated with the Ballet Russes De Monte Carlo.

Mrs. Fannie Livaudais, of Washington, D. C., prominent in music circles and a great favorite during her residence in this city many years ago, comes back to renew friendship every year. She is in the city now and is enjoying meeting old friends at the charming little affairs being given in her honor. Mrs. Livaudais and Mrs. Edward Strong engaged in pleasant reminiscences at the reception following the marriage of Mrs. Strong's granddaughter, Miss Peggy Strong, and Mr. Bernard Folds last week. The marriage took place on Mr. and Mrs. Strong's golden wedding anniversary and Mrs. Livaudais recalled the night before the wedding fifty years ago included Mr. Eli Dante, Mr. Morris Dante, Mr. Jules Dante, and Mrs. Joe Cohen among others.

Horse Show Will Be Spectacular Event At Neville Stadium

HORSE SHOW TO ATTRACT MANY TO NEVILLE FIELD

Thoroughbreds To Be On Display In Annual Event Starting Saturday

Hoofbeats on the turf at Neville stadium will be sweet music to the ears of horse lovers next Saturday and Sunday when the second annual horse show will be staged in spectacular manner. The event will be a brilliant one with owners of pedigreed horses from six states and every horse lover in this parish in attendance.

Horse racing, a national pastime, is called the sport of kings because it has been one of their favorite amusements since the earliest dawn of civilization. Horse racing is particularly popular in the South and practically grew up in the saddle and were as much at home astride their fine horses as they were in the drawing room.

Today the art of riding is almost lost, but even so there are many Southerners who still thrill to the sight of a fine pedigreed horse, and especially when it is being put through its paces at a horse show. The trotting and pacing horse, several of which will be entered in the horse show, is perhaps the most popular of all. These horses have two gaits and are the connecting link between the walk and the gallop. No one has ever been able to explain why a horse goes from one to the other of these gaits when urged from the walk and guided by the rein to keep from the gallop.

Gentlemen of the Old South spent as much money as their means allowed in raising, training and driving good horses. There was much rivalry and constant vying of each horse-fancier to excel among his fellows and the interest displayed today in selling and "swapping" horseflesh is typical of the Old South.

The horse show in Monroe next Saturday and Sunday is largely the outgrowth of this far reaching interest in horses.

As is always the case it takes men of vision and unbound enthusiasm to make a horse show possible. In Monroe it was Herbert Fink who conceived the idea of a horse show and it was inaugurated last October with such overwhelming success it has now become an annual event. Mr. Fink owns some of the most highly pedigreed horses in this section and has gone in for this sport on a large scale. His stables at his country home are the finest in the country and when completed will accommodate twenty or more horses. One of his horses, "Miss Monroe," has been carrying away blue ribbons at horse shows for the past year. "Miss Monroe" will be entered in the show on Saturday and Sunday and will be shown.

SIX LOVELY MEMBERS OF THE YOUNG SET, ROSALIE RILEY, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. W. J. RILEY, MISS ESTHER EWING, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. WILSON EWING, MISS SUE ANNE WINDES, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. EUGENE WINDES, MISS MARGUERITE LAMKIN, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. E. T. LAMKIN, MISS IDA SOPHIE DAVIDSON, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. D. L. DAVIDSON, AND MARY ANNETA LENNON, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. HUGH LENNON, HAVE BEEN SELECTED BY THE PROMOTERS OF THE MONROE HORSE SHOW TO SERVE AS RIBBON GIRLS.

GREETINGS, MINA GENEVIEVE
LAKE PROVIDENCE, June 29.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmus H. Coleman announce the arrival of a daughter, Mina Genevieve, 7 pounds and 10 ounces, on June 25 at Mercy hospital, Vicksburg, Miss. Mrs. Coleman is the former Genevieve Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gross of Lake Providence.

ridden by Richard Mary of the famous Hillside stables in Arcadia. The wide acreage at "Hideaway," the Fink home, offers fine grazing land for horses.

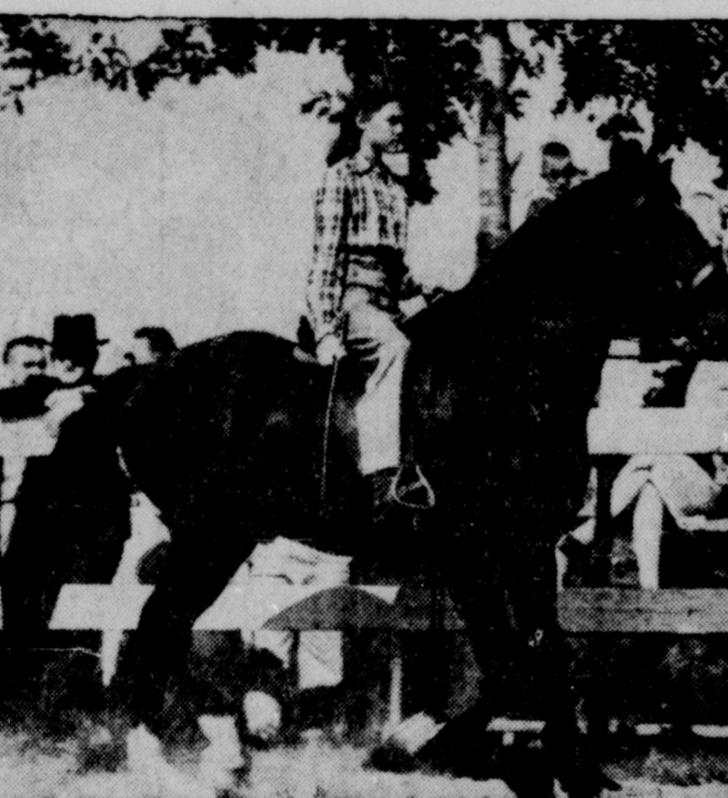

It is the aim and desire of Mr. Fink to make Monroe famous for its type of horse shows. No doubt his ambition will be rewarded as he has gone a long way since last October when the first horse show attracted country-wide interest.

The thoroughbred American horse is the production of pure breeds imported from England during the 17th and 18th centuries. They first found their way into the Old Dominion of Virginia where they founded a tribe of early race horses, to which are traced today many of the most fashionable pedigrees. From Virginia the thoroughbreds finally found their way into the Carolinas and as far south as Mississippi and Louisiana and later Kentucky. The breeding of thoroughbreds became what might be termed an industry.

The most favorable condition which has proved successful in raising the thoroughbred in the South is that he is housed less and has at all times access to lands covered by the finest of grasses which brings his feet constantly into contact with moisture. The frog of the foot, being like a sponge, absorbs this moisture, thus creating a gentle pressure which spreads the hoof. It is a conceded fact that "no foot, no horse." This is one of the reasons Mr. Fink gives particular attention to his grazing land at "Hideaway."

Many pedigreed horses, all blue ribbon winners and owned by local horse fanciers, will be entered in the horse show. "High Ball," for instance, owned by L. C. Hammons, and J. M. Moreland's "Strutin' Gal," J. C. Liner's horses, all thoroughbreds, will be shown.

Six lovely members of the younger set, Rosalie Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Riley, Miss Esther Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ewing, Miss Sue Anne Windes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Windes, Miss Marguerite Lamkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Miss Ida Sophie Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson, and Mary Anetta Lennon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lennon, have been selected by the promoters of the Monroe horse show to serve as ribbon girls.

PLEASANT HILL PLANS REVIVAL

Dr. James Clinton Of Philadelphia, Pa., To Bring Messages

Dr. James R. Clinton, Philadelphia, Pa., is the evangelist who will conduct the preaching mission at the Pleasant Hill Community Church (Congregational) beginning Wednesday, July 3, at 8 p.m. and continuing through July 14.

He is described as a fascinating speaker, possessed of a pleasing personality and bringing messages of inspiration in song as well as in his addresses.

Assisting Dr. Clinton and acting as pianist and leader of young people is Rev. Edwin Dale Baker, a young minister of Oklahoma City, Okla.

The Pleasant Hill Community Church is expecting these 12 days of meetings to be rich in experiences, states Rev. A. O. Wright, pastor. He assures there will be good singing, good preaching and good fellowship and urges the public, especially young people, to plan to attend.

JOINER GRADUATES AT NOTRE DAME

NOTRE DAME, Ind., June 29—(Special)—Forty-one graduates of the class of 1946 of the naval R. O. T. C. unit at the University of Notre Dame have elected to receive inactive commissions in the United States naval reserve; it has been announced by Captain J. Richard Barry, U. S. N., commandant of the Notre Dame unit.

These graduates will proceed to their units on June 30 and then will receive commissions as ensigns from the commandants of their respective naval districts. They will revert immediately to inactive status.

Among them is Charles J. Joiner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ocie S. Joiner, of Route 1, Box 166, West Monroe, La.

REVIVAL STARTS IN SWARTZ CHURCH

The revival at the Swartz church was initiated Saturday night. The public is cordially invited to attend all services each night.

Rev. Herbert Johnson, Simsboro, La., is the preacher. Rev. Elmo Johnson is pastor of this church. The two ministers are not related.

4-H Contestants In Garden Production Are Made Known

The 4-H Garden Contest, sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Company, through the efforts of C. D. McAdams, store manager, has proved most successful in producing bumper crops. Twenty-five Ouachita parish 4-H club girls competed in the contest.

Winners, as announced by Audrey H. Dawson, associate home agent, are:

First, Myrtis Leonard, $7.00; second,

Melba Cloud, $5.00; third, Model Leonard, $3.00.

Five girls will receive $1.00 each as honorable mention: Thelma Parsons, Nellie Ruth Martin, Betty Sue Lovette, Dorothy Adams and Martha Krumm.

The judging of the gardens was done by Miss Eva Gae Penton, Home Service representative, of the Louisiana Power and Light Company.

The results were most gratifying according to Miss Penton and the agent. The girls who took part in the program took great pride in their efforts and the yield of the various gardens throughout the parish was far in excess of expectations.

The canning contest in connection with the garden will be judged in September.

First, Myrl Kilpatrick; second, Mary Lou Meachum; third, Faye George.

Five other gardens were given honorable mention: Jo Ann Gilland, Sue Greer, Eva Joyce Wright, Betty Aldridge and Laura Lee Smith.

The Chamber of Commerce furnished each of the fifteen garden contestants with enough seed to plant a garden for a family of five. These girls have done a good job in the program of food production. Each of the gardens is furnishing an ample supply of fresh vegetables and the surplus is being canned for use during the winter months.

Miss Eva Gae Penton, Home Service representative, of Louisiana Power and Light Company, judged the gardens.

TROOPERS BOOK 5 AS DRUNK DRIVERS

One Fined $100 And Jailed For 30 Days, Another Forfeits $150

Five of the eight arrests made by members of Troop F of the Monroe state police post during the week were on charges of drunk driving, and one of the accused, Robert P. Peterson of West Monroe, route 4, was fined $100 and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail.

The four others arrested for operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor were E. L. Stubbs, Oak Grove, route 2; Leonard Lee, Chestnut; Henry C. Martin, Jr.,

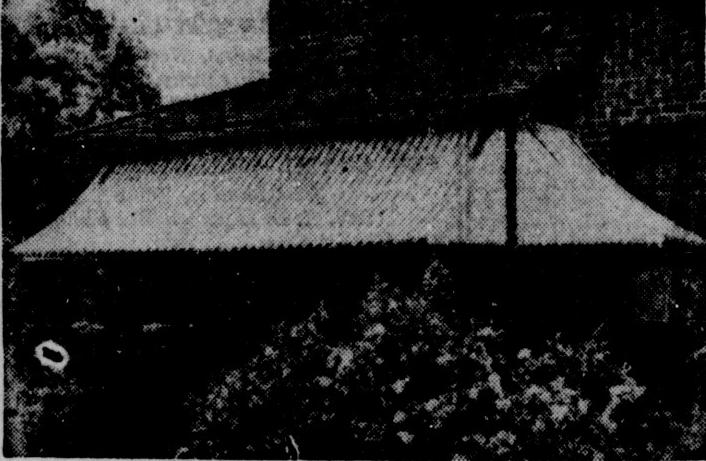

Homer, and Allen Soo Hoo, Eudora, Ark. They have not been arraigned. Also awaiting trial are J. D. Bell, Columbia, reckless driving, and Richard Gardner, Ruston, hit-and-run. Leon Brown, Oak Grove, route 2, pleaded guilty of reckless driving and inadequate brakes and was fined $15 and costs.

Jack C. Burton, arrested during the previous week on drunk driving and hit-and-run charges, forfeited a cash bond of $150 when he failed to appear for arraignment. Other court dispositions were: J. W. Brown, reckless driving, $5 and costs; W. P. Causey, disturbing the peace, $20 and costs; Wayne R. McGee, disturbing the peace and carrying a concealed weapon, $45 and costs; C. C. Chapman, burglary, sentenced to 12 months' road work, and Laura Noflis, reckless driving, $5 and costs.

A long-handled brush for washing glasses, bottles and other tall containers will prove very useful.

TRIO OF EAGLE SCOUTS

In May, 1943, the Pierian club sponsored the formation of Troop 90, Boy Scouts of America in Oak Ridge. From this troop the first to reach Eagle rank are those shown above. They are (left to right) William Earl Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nolan, who finished grammar school last month; Bruce Files, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Files, is a junior in high school and holds 36 merit badges; James McLendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McLendon, is a senior patrol leader and cub scout organizer. He is a freshman in Louisiana Tech. McLendon and Files are members of the Order of the Arrow and all three have been at camp at Ki-Ro-Li.

ARE YOU AN ALCOHOLIC? IF SO "A. A." OFFERS HELP

(This is the first in a series of articles which will appear in the Monroe World from time to time, dealing with the organization known as "Alcoholics Anonymous" and is offered to our readers as a means of disseminating true principles and purposes of that organization.)

Unobtrusively—the basic principle of their organization is not to obtrude—a group of men and women, unashamedly admitting themselves to be alcoholics, has established in Monroe a chapter of "Alcoholics Anonymous" and is extending an invitation to others afflicted with the "illness" of alcoholism to join with them in conquering the malady.

At the outset the group wants it understood that it has no quarrel with those who drink. Its slogan is:

"...you drink that is your business; if you want to quit that is our business."

"Alcoholics Anonymous" is a national organization, founded ten years ago with branches or "groups," as the local organizations are known, in nearly every geographical center in the United States and Canada. It has no paid officers; it operates without fees or dues; it offers no "noseum"—requires no oaths or pledges. But it does offer, by precept and example and understanding cooperation, a means of restoring the afflicted alcoholic to normal and happier living. And its methods have been publicly accepted by press and pulpit and the medical profession as one of the most effective—if not the most effective—means of attaining that goal.

"A. A." has no desire to foist itself on anyone. To join in the movement the "alcoholic" must do it of his or her own volition. Each group operates as a separate unit—anonymously. It operates without fanfare—without publicity. No one who joins ever is embarrassed. All of the members are, or has been, in the "same boat." Each is an "alcoholic" and the sole purpose of each member is to help others and to help others, to help themselves—by proven methods to master their craving for alcohol.

"A. A." does not consider everyone who may take a drink an alcoholic. "Alcoholism" is regarded as a disease—and is so accepted by the medical profession. It is to help those that "Alcoholics Anonymous" was founded by men and women themselves a victim and who have found the desired results obtained by the methods of the organization.

As set forth by the national organization and the founders of the movement "we think of alcoholism as an illness; an obsession of the mind coupled with an "allergy" of the body. It is a shattering sickness—physical, emotional and spiritual. How to expel the obsession that compels us to drink against our will is the problem of every alcoholic.

"The only requirement of A. A. membership is an honest desire to stop drinking. We feel that each man's religious views, if any, are his own affair. While every shade of opinion is found among us, we take no position, as a group, upon controversial questions. No particular point of view is demanded of anyone. Our sole aim is to show sick alcoholics who want to get well how they may do so."

And, it is pointed out "not being reformers, we offer our experience only to those who want it."

The Monroe group may be reached through P. O. Box 309.

BABY SHOW WILL END IN PAGEANT

The grand prize baby show which is being held here under the auspices of the United Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary closed registrations with 250 babies entered for the event. The baby revue will be held in the Ouchita Parish High School Auditorium Monday, July 1, at 3 p.m. Babies will be arranged according to ages and sex.

The handsomest boy and the prettiest girl will be presented a gift.

The grand champion award will be presented to the baby having the greatest number of health, beauty and friendship votes and will be awarded at the pageant Wednesday evening, July 3.

The historical pageant which will be held in the Ouchita Parish High School, Wednesday night, July 3, will be composed of a cast of girls from the school. They will depict different periods of American history, and there will be songs, dances and drills. A queen of victory will be chosen from the cast and will receive a diamond ring. Members of her court will also be recipients of gifts.

Photographs of the entrants in the show are on display in the windows of the J. C. Penney Company.

All prizes will be presented Wednesday night at the high school pageant.

ENLIST TODAY ARMY IS URGING

Deadline Nears For Men To Receive Re-Enlistment Privileges

The army recruiting office will be open all day Sunday as June 30 is the deadline for reenlistment privileges.

An announcement of vital importance to army officers on terminal leave was made by the Barksdale Field recruiting office in regard to such officers reenlisting in the regular army by June 30. The Barksdale recruiting officer stated that authority has been received for officers on terminal leave who desire to reenlist as master sergeants, and retain family allowances privileges, to waive their terminal leave by telegraphic application to the adjutant general. This provision will enable many officers to receive the benefits of the family allowance who otherwise would not be able to reenlist before the deadline.

The base recruiting officer also pointed out that many veterans do not fully understand the provisions and privileges of reenlistment before June 30.

According to present war department directives, ex-servicemen who were discharged after May 12, 1945, may reenlist in the grade they held at time of discharge, provided they do so within 30 days after discharge, or before June 30, whichever date comes first. After June 30 ex-service men may reenlist in grade provided they do so within 20 days after separation.

Any man discharged after May 12,

1945, who has let the 90-day deadline expire, may reenlist before June 30 and will receive a grade commensurate with his training and ability. The recruiting officer further pointed out that men who reenlist by June 30 will be assured of the family allowance for the entire period of enlistment. For further information contact your army air forces recruiting officer at 200 South Grand street or call 3063. The A. A. F. recruiting office will be open all day Sunday.

Beautiful Ceremony Unites Young Couple

First Methodist Church Is The Scene Of Beautiful June Nuptial Event

Considerable sentiment was reflected in the wedding of Miss Peggy Strong and Mr. Calvin Bernard Folds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Bernard Folds, as it took place on the Golden wedding anniversary of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strong, June 23 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony, performed by Rev. L. T. Hastings in the presence of a wide concourse of friends and relatives, took place before an arch entwined with clematis and flanked on either side with tall baskets of white gladioli and fern. In the background cathedral tapers gleamed in tall floor candelabra. At the nuptial hour the candles were lighted by John H. Scogin III who wore a crisp white linen suit.

The pews reserved for members of the family and intimate friends were designated by bows of white tulle and sprays of white gladioli.

Mrs. Everett Ziegler, wearing a bountiful gown of sheer pink dimity, with pink flowers in her hair, rendered an organ concert of pre-nuptial music. While the ushers, Messrs. Van Clark, J. E. Freeman, Elmer Culpepper, Jr., and J. M. Busby, Jr., were seating the guests, Schubert's serenade and Ave Maria were played, and just prior to the ceremony "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star," was rendered.

Miss Beverly Ringwald, wearing lilac-colored net over the same shade line of her gown. Her flowers were Esther Reed daisies, tube roses and orchids.

Her only ornament was an antique cameo lavaliere encircled with tiny pearls, her wedding gift from the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Scogin, Jr., on Marie Place. It served the two-fold purpose as the bride's grandparents were also honored on this occasion.

The decorative note was in keeping with the two important events, yellow calla lilies, Peruvian lilies and yellow roses for the golden wedding anniversary and pure white blossoms for the bridal theme.

Mrs. Strong, assisting in receiving, wore a pink lace dinner dress with corsage of Talisman roses. She wore the diamond encrusted watch presented to her by Mr. Strong on their wedding day fifty years ago.

Mrs. Folds, the bridegroom's mother, wore a pastel pink model with small hat of pink maline and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Scogin, also in the receiving line, wore a white marquise model with corsage of pink carnations.

The table in the dining room was covered with imported white lace. At one corner, the three-tiered wedding cake was placed, and diagonally across stood the tiered cake which spelled fifty years of wedded bliss for Mr. and Mrs. Strong. Dresden figurines held white feverfew.

Mrs. G. M. Gleason, in pink, and Mrs. G. H. Strong, in an orchid-colored gown, alternated at the punch bowl. Miss Marion Simmons and Mrs. G. H. Thomas passed trays of cakes embossed in valley lilies and mints embossed in white and yellow.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a smart tailleur of dusty pink with matching coat of wool in the same shade. Her brown maline hat harmonized perfectly with her other accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

After the honeymoon the young couple will be at home to their friends in their apartment on Jackson street until September when Mr. Folds will go to Philadelphia, Penn., to enter Eckels College.

Mrs. Folds was graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and has held a responsible secretarial position for several years.

Mr. Folds was graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and was a student at Northeast Junior College when he entered the service over three years ago, having only recently received his discharge.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Harper and daughter, Linda, El Paso, Texas; Mrs. Thomas Hasty, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Dixon, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Pyron, Bastrop; Mrs. Pauline Carter, Mrs. G. F. Garrett and Mrs. W. V. Baldwin, all of Wichita Falls, Texas; Mr. William Strong and daughter, Elizabeth, Charleston, S.C.; Mrs. Webster Thompson of Boyce, and Mr. Orrell Bledsoe and son, Norman, of El Dorado, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McLain and family of Sunray, Tex., are enjoying a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Richie of Swartz. Their daughter, Betty Gail McLain, is recovering after a slight operation performed at a local clinic.

Miss Betty Jane Robinson Weds Dr. Boykin At Presbyterian Church

A wedding of prominence attracting wide spread interest was that of Miss Betty Jane Robinson, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Furman Purvin Robinson of Bastrop, Louisiana, and Dr. Frederick Carpenter Boykin, lieutenant (j. g.) U. S. naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Anrum

Boykin of Wilmington, Delaware and New York City, which was solemnized the evening of Friday, June 21, at the First Methodist Church, The Reverend George M. Smiley of the First Presbyterian Church officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Reverend Jolly B. Harper of the First Methodist Church.

The altar and choir loft, banked with southern smilax and plumous fern, formed an uniquely beautiful background for the fan shaped bouquets of large white gladioli tied with wide white satin bows and lengths of satin ribbons. Gladioli and evergreens also banked the chancel railing. Hundreds of white tapers of graduated lengths gleamed in the background.

The pews on either side of the center aisle were adorned with clusters of white gladioli and fern. Pews reserved for family and friends were designated by satin streamers and bows. During the lighting of the candles the organist, Mr. Leon Hammond of Monroe, Louisiana, rendered a concert of oriental nuptial music. Lieutenant Thomas Terry Milliken, United States Army, sang "I Love Thee" and "Be-cause."

The wedding party entered to the strains of the Wagner Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used as the recessional. "Claire De Lune," "I Love You Truly," and "Sweetest Story Ever Told" was softly played while the wedding vows were being exchanged.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in her wedding gown of imported lace and marquise, with sweetheart neckline. The sleeves ended in tulip points at the wrist and the full skirt ended in a graceful train. Her veil of illusion was held in place with a coronet of pearl tipped orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of matched white orchids showered with clusters of bovardia. Her only ornament was a necklace of pearls, her wedding gift from the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Moss Madison, wore an ice blue marquise gown over blue taffeta with tucked yoke and off the shoulder effect. The skirt was long and extremely full. She carried a bouquet of yellow Roosevelt roses with yellow satin streamers.

The bridesmaids, Miss Jean Chevington, Jenkins, Kentucky; Miss Narvie Lucille Cunningham, Mobile, Alabama; Miss Margaret Scott, Rome, Georgia; Miss Ann Register, Fitzgerald, Georgia; Miss Mary Alice Jackson, Monroe, Louisiana; and Miss Shirley Campbell of Bastrop, Louisiana, wore dresses of ice blue marquise similar to the maid of honor. They carried fan shaped bouquets of white and yellow miniature calla lilies with long yellow satin streamers.

The little flower girls, Suzanne Soard and Ann Rinehart wore dresses of white net over white taffeta and

'LONG HOLIDAY' HAZARDS CITED

Chief Asks Drivers To Be 'Extra Cautious' Over July Fourth

Foreseeing a tremendous volume of traffic during the Fourth of July week-end holiday that will extend for many from next Thursday through Sunday night, Chief of Police J. D. Busby yesterday called upon the public to cooperate with his department's continuous safety campaign by being extra-cautious and observe all regulations during this particularly perilous period.

Highways and streets will be thronged over the holiday this year with the thousands of persons who have foregone trips and vacations during the war and are starting to catch up in their pleasure driving, said the chief, and he added, "This long week-end, worn out tires and the seasonal festive spirit combine to create a most serious hazard."

Recalling the annual heavy toll exacted by the mid-summer holiday in the nation over past Independence days, the chief addressed this appeal to drivers: "Let's make Monroe one place where the Fourth does not mean death to any of our residents, but a city dedicated to thanksgivings for the freedom for which Americans have fought and won."

Mattie Ula Benjamin, colored, of Monroe, is in parish jail in default of $1,000 following arraignment on a charge of forgery. She is accused of endeavoring to cash a government check belonging to Georgia Lee Benjamin.

At liberty under $300 bond on a whiskey charge is Henry Williams, Negro, alias Acy Washington, of near Ferriday. The bond was provided by Dr. W. C. Kailer, a Ferriday veterinarian.

While on the topic of safety, Chief Busby remarked the frequency of accidents caused by the sudden careless opening of doors on the "traffic side" of vehicles, and he again pointed out that such an act is a violation of the traffic code and is punishable by a fine of $1 to $250 or imprisonment from one to 60 days. He cited Section 25 of the traffic code, which reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to open the door of a vehicle, or to attempt to enter or alight from a vehicle, on the left side, or traffic side, when another vehicle approaches sufficiently near to render collision or accident probable; provided that on one-way streets this rule shall additionally apply to the right side of the vehicle if it occupies the left side of the street."

Then there is jay-walking, a hazardous and too-common practice and a law violation, that carries the same penalty. Although the jay-walker breaks the law, the responsibility of a driver is not removed, the chief said in citing Section 67 of the code. It reads:

"It shall be unlawful for a pedestrian to cross a street in the business district of the City of Monroe except at crosswalks; provided further that when a pedestrian has actually left the curb at a crosswalk in the business district when no vehicle is sufficiently close to render accident probable, such pedestrian shall have preference and priority to the use of the street over vehicles moving on or turning into the street; provided further that it shall be the duty of drivers and operators of vehicles in all parts of the city of Monroe to maintain a sharp lookout at all times for pedestrians and for children playing on sidewalks and to reduce speed or stop whenever and wherever the circumstances and safety may demand it."

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

BERLIN, June 29.—(AP)—The American army is doing what German troops couldn't do in two world wars—breaking up "the rock of the Marne."

On Aug. 1 it will deactivate the famous third infantry division, an outfit that fought farther, won more medals and suffered more casualties than perhaps any other United States unit in history, and from its alumni in civil life and army posts around the world there is going up a cry: "Why bust up the old third?"

Men leave the "fighting third"—General Dwight Eisenhower and Mark Clark are among its graduates—but they never forget it. They move on to new outfits, but many of them out of old loyalty still wear its blue-and-white shoulder patch—and regulations be damned.

It and the equally renowned first infantry division rank as probably the two finest doughboy divisions ever to serve under the American flag. There are jealousy and rivalry between many combat divisions, but I never heard a soldier question or criticize the battle performance of either the first or third infantry.

What makes such outfits great? Training training, training—and tradition.

Without this basic training and tradition the soldiers of the third couldn't have stuck to the long road from Casablanca to Berchtesgaden, a bitter road marked by such bloody signposts as Sicily, Volturno, Anzio, Mignano, the Vosges, the Colmar pocket and Nuremberg.

The third division was the first activated in 1917, but its component regiments—the seventh, fifteenth and thirtieth—have battle records that go back to the war of 1812.

In the first world war the third saw action at Chateau Thierry and took part in four offensives during which it won its nickname, "Rock of the Marne."

In the last war it set a record of 431 days in the line and made more amphibious landings than any other division in the European theater. It did so well that army commanders, faced with a new campaign, began with:

"Well, I'll need the third division." The third began with 15,000 men. It suffered 34,000 casualties, including more than 6,000 dead.

"Duty—Responsibility— Equality—Freedom!"

In the Glorious History of Our Nation these Honest Words Loom Large. They Tell the Story of the AMERICAN WAY—in Life, in Business, in Government—All Through the Years—UNTIL the Overlords of Labor undertook to Challenge and Change the Very Basis of the Structure that Generations of Americans had Built.

They Belittled DUTY, and for it substituted COMPELSSION. They "vetoed" RESPONSIBILITY, and in its place put POWER. They Laughed at EQUALITY, for their doctrine is SPECIAL PRIVILEGE. And they sought the Death of FREEDOM so that REGIMENTATION might Prevail.

All This and MORE the OVERLORDS of Labor Sought and STILL Seek to do to America—to Louisiana—to ALL of us.

But they have Overreached themselves—they have Ignored the Warnings of History. They have Arrogantly Violated the Rights and Interests of ALL the People. They would TEST WHO RULES AMERICA. The Overlords of Labor have ASKED For It—and they will Get Their ANSWER.

Indeed, they are GETTING that Answer, AND THE STATE OF LOUISIANA IS IN THE LEAD, as the Voice of America Rises in a Thundering Chorus of Indignation to Attest that THE PEOPLE—ALL THE PEOPLE—RULE THIS NATION OF OURS.

Proudly Louisiana sees its Legislature, without malice—without anger—without vengeance—but with Freedom, Justice, and the purpose of a Square Deal For All, to guide them, introduce and pass legislation establishing the "Right to Work" without paying tribute, and introduce and pass through the Senate a Bill—Senate Bill 37—establishing "Equal Responsibility" between Employers and Unions to carry out the terms of contracts.

This Senate Bill 37—which has passed the Senate and IS NOW PENDING IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES completes a Declaration of Independence of the State of Louisiana from the domination of the Overlords of Labor. It will finish the building of a DEFENSE against the Schemes and Plans of these men who seek to impose their will on the People of this State.

Senate Bill 37 is a FAIR Bill. It is a JUST Bill. It takes NOTHING from ANY working man or woman. It simply establishes EQUALITY and forces the Overlords of Labor to KEEP THEIR WORD, just as Employers must ALREADY DO, when they sign collective bargaining contracts.

YOUR Voice should be heard in favor of this Bill, and the Principles of Duty, Responsibility, Equality, and Freedom it Represents. Write, wire, phone, or SEE your Representative at Baton Rouge TODAY. Tell him to work for and VOTE FOR, Senate Bill 37.

Miss Flournoy Weds Donald E. Simmons

E. N. Faulk Home Is The Scene Of An Impressive June Wedding Ceremony

Sentiment, dignity and impressive ceremony characterized the wedding of Miss Laura Morris Flournoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene K. Flournoy of this city and Mr. Donald E. Simmons, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Simmons of New York, on June 22.

The ceremony was performed by Reverend A. M. Serex at eight o'clock in the evening in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Noble Faulk in the presence of members of the two families and a few intimate friends.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Mary Guice Lavin and were shown where to stand by Miss Byrnine Hand and Mrs. John Salisbury, who during the ceremony carried the white satin ribbons which marked the aisle for the bridal procession. Mrs. Flournoy, mother of the bride, wearing a soft aqua draped chiffon model, stood at the door of the drawing room to welcome the guests as they entered. Standing nearby were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Faulk who graciously greeted their guests. Mrs. Faulk wore a white embroidered chiffon evening gown with jeweled pin. Mrs. Simmons, mother of the groom, wore a stunning model of deep blue crepe and lace and a corsage of white gardenias.

A picturesque arch entwined with southern smilax and English ivy at the extreme end of the drawing room formed the improvised altar. It was flanked with Grecian urns overflowing with white gladioli. Baskets of white gladioli formed a flowery enclosure for the wedding party.

Miss Gene Flournoy, the bride's sister, home from New York for the wedding, was the only attendant. She wore a diaphanous gown of flesh colored marquisette with short cap sleeves decked with a narrow ruffle and a long full skirt, bustle effect. She wore long lace mitts and carried an exquisite bouquet of pink Columbia roses, blue candytuft and white tube roses.

The flower girl, Alma Faulk, three year old blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Faulk, preceded the bride to the altar. Her gown was an exact replica of the one worn by the maid of honor. She scattered rose petals from a small French basket.

At the nuptial hour the bride walked down the ivy entwined stairs to the accompaniment of Lohengrin's wedding march. She was met at the foot of the stairs by her father who gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown was of white marquisette with long, full sleeves tight at the wrists and bodice fashioned with a square cut neckline.

MONROE (LA.) MORNING WORLD NIGHTINGALE-TRIMBLE NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED AT THE TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH OF MONROE

On Saturday, June 15, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Mrs. Elna Nightingale became the bride of Monroe S. Trimble, Jr. The wedding took place in the beautiful little chapel of Trinity Lutheran Church. Lighted tapers burned in wrought-iron candelabra and garlands of ferns and evergreens added to the beauty of the ceremony. The altar was banked with white gladioli and asters.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Flora Sholars rendered several selections at the organ and Mr. Harold Riggs sang "O Perfect Love," and "Because." Belated in the old adage, "Married in blue . . . inspired the bride's lovely gown of ice-blue Chiffon silk. She wore a chaplet of gardenias and carried a matching colonial bouquet tied with white taffeta ribbon. The maid of honor, Miss Helen Hayes, wore a lovely shell pink crepe dress. Her bouquet was a miniature of the bride's bouquet.

The flower girl, Alma Faulk, three year old blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Faulk, preceded the bride to the altar. Her gown was an exact replica of the one worn by the maid of honor. She scattered rose petals from a small French basket.

Immediately following the ceremony the families of the young couple gathered to extend their best wishes as did their friends present for the wedding. At this time additional friends began arriving for the reception, who, because of limited numbers, had not been present for the ceremony.

Eight young girls in summery formal passed ices and petit fours during the reception. They were Misses Jo Ann Biedenharn, Betty Ann Taylor, Barbara Faulk, Joann Boardman, Clarice Slagle, Byrnine Handy, Florence Fluker and Mrs. John Salisbury. Also assisting in the courtesies during the reception and wearing becoming evening gowns were the following close friends of the bride's family: Mrs. A. B. Hopson, Mrs. George Gunby, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. Francis Faulk, Mrs. Louise Unglessy, Mrs. James Ball, Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. Mike Smith and Miss Ann Braun. During the reception Miss Betty Rinehart sang two lovely songs, accompanied by Mr. Leon Hamilton at the piano and Mr. Harvey Nelson, violinist.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a black crepe suit with flower hat and black accessories. Following a honeymoon at Miami, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Simmons will be at home at 20 Magaw Place, New York City.

The bride, born and reared in this city where her great great grandfathers lived on adjoining plantations and were prominently identified with the civic life of Monroe from early pioneer days, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School, Principia College, St. Louis, Mo., and the Louisiana State University. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Beta Sigma sororities.

Mr. Simmons has recently returned to civilian life after serving as a first lieutenant in the air corps for three years. He was in the Pacific theater of operations where he served first as a navigator on bombing raids and later as a special service officer. He is at present associated with General Motors Acceptance Corporation, Newark, N. J., until he returns to college in the fall.

Out of town guests present for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Simmons, Sr., Miss Marcia Simmons, of New York City; Mrs. Nelson Hull of Vermilion, Ohio; Miss Mary Evelyn Johnson of Pasadena, California; Mrs. Cynthia Taylor of Baton Rouge, Louisiana; Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Cade and Mr. John Cade of Alexandria, Louisiana.

EX-SEABEE NOW HOUSE BUILDER

Rupert Goodwin To Move Into Own Home He Has Erected

A West Monroe Seabee, returned from many grueling days, weeks and months in the torrid jungle-infested southwest Pacific, has just finished another task, this time right at home. Rupert N. Goodwin has just completed erection of his own home at 804 North Fifth Street, West Monroe.

Returning from extended overseas duty and again resuming his former life with his wife and two small daughters, he realized that a home of their own was the foremost need. His only construction work was that which he had done as a Seabee but he had boundless pluck.

With his father-in-law, W. G. Jasper, with whom the Goodwins lived at 806 North Fourth Street, West Monroe, he schemed as to how to get a home for his little brood in these days of exorbitant prices for materials and real estate.

Ultimately, with the encouragement of the women of the family, Goodwin decided to try his hand at housebuilding. He purchased the lot immediately south of the Jasper home, so that Mrs. Goodwin could be near her parents, and plans were quickly drawn for a small but complete house. Goodwin, employed as draftsman by the Louisiana Power and Light Company, figured he could put in from two to four hours daily on the house and not interfere with his regular job.

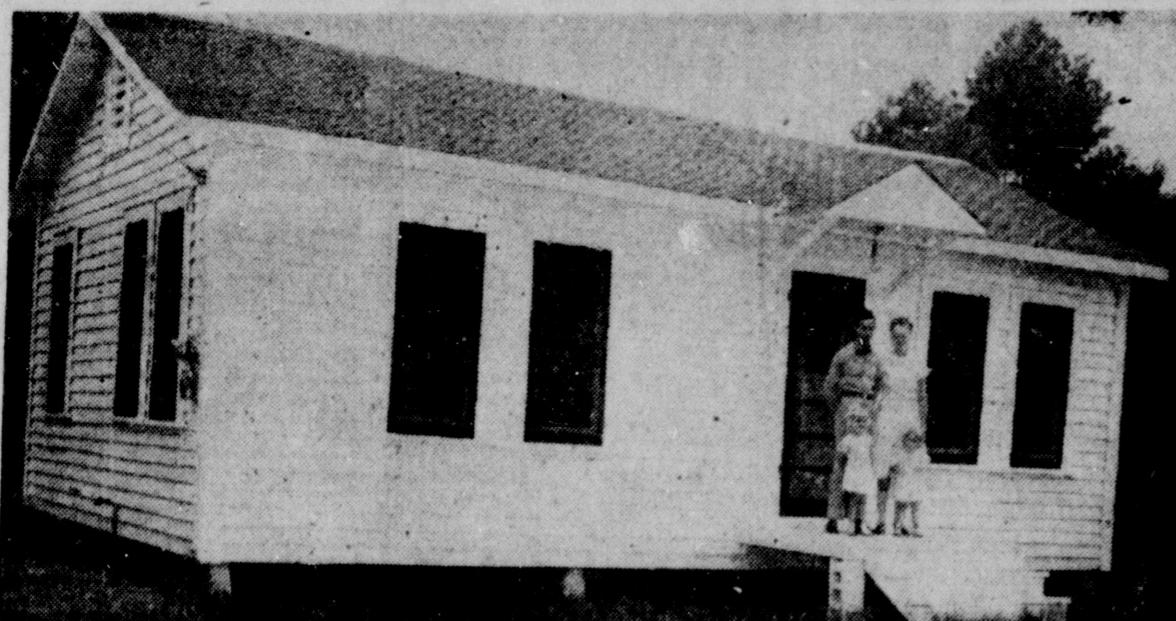

On January 1, last, the foundation was laid for the residence which has dimensions of 30 feet frontage, by 20 feet in depth. Two large bedrooms are provided, a well-appointed bath room, a large kitchen with breakfast nook and plenty of closets and kitchen cupboards.

The quest for materials slowed down the progress of the building but last week, after many delays, it was completed.

Floors are of fir, artistically treated with wood filler and a good coat of varnish. Wood work through the house is of ivory color with walls of sheet rock. The rooms are finished with Kentone and are either Avalon Blue or Cameo Pink.

No trained carpenter was employed, but the job has no appearance of being done by an amateur. Ceilings are high; windows abundant, usually four to a room; windows and doors are well screened and the pride of the house is the bathroom that embodies the latest in modern equipment. No one but Goodwin, with slight aid from his father-in-law, worked on the house with the exception of the installation of plumbing and electrical equipment.

The cost of the lot, the purchase of building material, the plumbing bill, which by the way exceeded $600, brought the actual cost of the house to approximately $2,300. A loan of sufficient size was obtained through a local building and loan association.

Asked if he'd want to build another house again soon and Mr. Goodwin declared with emphasis: "Not on your life. It carries with it too much grief."

PENIEL REVIVAL IS HELD DAILY

The third chapter of John was the Scripture selection for the address by Rev. E. N. Weaver at Peniel Baptist Church before another large crowd Friday night. The speaker pointed out that there is enough of the Gospel contained in this chapter to tell anybody, anywhere, what to do to be saved.

He said in part: "There are three things in this chapter that reveal to us what Jesus tells to Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. First, it reveals to us that a man's position and learning doesn't save him. Although Nicodemus was a man of authority, a man of great power, and a man of much learning, an authority on the Old Testament Scriptures, he was a lost man. Secondly, a man's religion doesn't save him. Nicodemus was an extremely religious man; he went through many religious ceremonies and performances, but at the same time he was a lost man. Then, it teaches us that to be saved one must be born again from above, born of the Holy Spirit and born into the family of God as one is born into his earthly family in this world. Salvation is the gift of God through the Lord Jesus Christ unto the hearts of all men who will believe."

Foster C. Wilson, Bayou student, is leading the singing in a most dynamic way. Services are held daily at 9 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., running on into the week of July 4. The public is invited to attend.

FOURTH BOY FUGITIVE GETS 3-YEAR SENTENCE

Clyde Hyde, 15, said to have been the leader of four boys caught here in a stolen car after they had broken jail at Memphis, is expected to join his companions in the national reformatory at Washington, D. C., where they were sentenced recently by the federal court at Shreveport.

Hyde drew a 3-year term in the same court Wednesday, also on a Dyer act charge and was permitted to remain at liberty under $1,000 bond until it is determined where the sentence will be served. All of the boys were residents of Memphis.

AGED PAPER IS NOW CURIOSITY

Vicksburg, Miss., Issue Of July 2, 1863, Owned By Local Man

R. C. Guy, 290 Lee Avenue, possesses a framed copy of the 4-column issue of the "Daily Citizen," "J. M. Swords, proprietor," published in Vicksburg, Miss., July 2, 1863. It is well yellowed with age and is on wall paper. It may or may not be an "original." Mr. Guy believes it is an "original." He received it from Mrs. A. A. Thomason, formerly of Monroe, now of Texas. At this time when Vicksburg people are discussing, many in hostile mood, the observance of July 4 this year, Mr. Guy thinks his possession has renewed interest.

NOTE: July 4, 1863
Two days bring about great changes. The banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg. General Grant has caught the rabbit and he dined in Vicksburg and he did bring his dinner with him. The "Citizen" lives to see it. For the last time it appears on wall paper. No more will it eulogize the luxury of mule meat and fricassade kitten—urge Southern warriors to such diet nevermore. This is the last wall paper edition and is excepting this note from the types as we found them, it will be valuable hereafter as a curiosity."

Here are some of the items: "The Rebels are reported to be fortifying South Mountain. They have in the vicinity of Williamsport about 6,000 infantry; 1,000 cavalry; and a few pieces of artillery. A squadron of cavalry could undoubtedly capture the entire force this side of South Mountain."

And another: "The Federal General McClellan until recently outside the rear of our city has been superseded. He and Grant could not run in the same harness. He was for splurging and Grant for gassing, both got the loggerheads. So poor Mc had to leave and Grant has it all his own way."

Another comment: "The Yanks outside our city are considerably on the

Popular Monroe Girl Becomes The Bride Of Mr. B. H. Kellogg Of Wellesley, Mass.

Lovely is the word for Miss Martha Clayton Kilpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armon K. Kilpatrick when she walked down a white carpeted aisle flooded with mellow candlelight at Grace Church to become the bride of Mr. Branton Holden Kellogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Kellogg of Wellesley Hills, Mass., on the night of June the twenty-second, at eight o'clock.

Cathedral tapers, hundreds of them, picked the dimness of the altar and cast a shining radiance on the flowery enclosure where the wedding party stood. The lighting of the candles by the acolytes in crisp white and black vestments was one of the impressive features of the ceremony performed by Dr. Edward F. Hayward, rector of Grace Church, who wore the ecclesiastic robes of his office.

This wedding will linger long in memory as it was characterized by considerable beauty of detail. White predominated in the floral decor with subtle touches of green creating a lush background perfect for a mid-summer night. Marconi daisies were gracefully arranged in classic-shaped urns and tall floor receptacles entwined with English ivy. In the background myriad cathedral tapers in white candelabra of graduated lengths were silhouetted against southern ford of Shreveport, Miss Satchie Naiden, Miss Barbara Faulk and Miss Mary Brownrigg of Beaumont, Tex., wore diaphanous gowns of white embroidered batiste. They carried white maline fans adorned with tube roses and wore wreaths of gardenias in their hair.

Mrs. Kilpatrick, the bride's mother walked down the aisle in a beautiful blue-green crepe model with accessories of the same unusual color. She wore at her waistline a cluster of cream-colored gladiolas.

The bride's aunt, Miss Edith Kellogg of Wellesley, Mass., wore a lime-green evening model with a small white flower hat and corsage of orchids.

The bride, walking down the white carpeted aisle with her father who gave her in marriage, wore a wedding gown of gleaming white satin designed with a high round neckline and extended shoulders forming the sleeves. A wide fold of the satin applied with Aloncon lace formed an off-the-shoulder bertha around the deep sheer yoke. Appliques of the lace accented the flared satin peplum. The full gored skirt extended into a chapel train.

The bride's veil was of finger-tip length with a wide circle of embossed bridal illusion edged with Rosepoint lace. She carried a superb bouquet of white stephanotis and white orchids.

The reception, held on the Virginia room in place of the gardens of the Kilpatrick home, due to inclement weather was a brilliant one with fashionable Monroe out en masse. The wedding party including Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick, Mr. Henderson Kellogg and Miss Edith Kellogg, stood at the entrance to the roof to receive the guests. Tall floor standards overflowing with pink gladioli were placed at vantage points and formed a decorative background for the wedding party.

The bride's table placed in the center of the floor was circular and skirted with white tulip over white satin. Mystery gardenias of pronounced beauty encircled the table.

The wedding cake embossed in white roses and valley lilies formed the central decorative note at either end of the table white tapers gleamed in handsome Colonial silver candelabra. White clad attendants passed trays of champagne and individual wedding cakes throughout the evening.

Before the bride left on her honeymoon she tossed her bouquet and it fell into the outstretched hands of Miss Barbara Faulk.

The bride's going away ensemble was quite stunning and very becoming. It was a sage green gabardine tailleur with coco brown accessories and corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg will spend their honeymoon at Three Mile Island, an exclusive resort on Lake Winnipesaukee, New Hampshire. After the 20th of July they will be at home at 14 Belair Road, Wellesley, Mass.

The bride, born and reared in Monroe, is a graduate of Sophie Newcomb College, New Orleans, and was a member of this year's graduating class at the University of Texas. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. The number of prenuptial affairs in her honor testified to her extreme popularity, not only in younger socials, but with the older set as well.

Mr. Kellogg is a graduate of South Kent Preparatory School in Connecticut. He will continue his education at the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Ruth Greer
Is The Bride Of
Arthur Lee Moses.

The beautiful double-ring wedding ceremony of Miss Ruth Greer, daughter of Mrs. S. E. Greer of Monroe, La., and Mr. Arthur Lee Moses, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Moses of West Monroe, La., was performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cash on June 15, 1946, at 6:30 p. m. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. M. Caraway around an improvised alter of daisies and gladioli. The living room was beautifully decorated with daisies and gladioli.

The bride wore a beautiful grey and white model of light wool with corsage of white carnations. The matron of honor, Mrs. Walter Cash wore a model of light blue with corsage of pink gladioli, while the bride's mother was dressed in white with pink gladioli.

The groom was attended by Walter Cash, and the bride was given away by her brother, T. M. Greer. The flower girl, Berlie Ann Cash, wore a blue dress adorned with daisies, and was accompanied by her brother, Larry.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home, and a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom. The bride's table was overlaid with handsome lace, and the dining room was adorned with beautiful yellow and orchid daisies. The punch bowl was presided over by the bride's niece, Miss Mabel Doris Greer, and the groom's niece, Miss Helen Prothro.

After the reception the bride donned a smart beige model with white accessories, left with the bridegroom for a honeymoon in New Orleans.

Upon their return they will be at home to friends at 513 Catalpa street, Monroe.

Mrs. Moses is a registered nurse, and received her training at St. Francis Sanitarium where she will continue nursing. The groom is employed by the Twin-City Printing Company.

LAMBDA SIGMA CHI ANNUAL SUMMER FORMAL IS ONE OF INTERESTING EVENTS OF SEASON

The high-light of the evening was the presentation of the new president, Miss Mary Louise Guerrero, following the grand march which was led by Miss Jo Ann Meredith, the outgoing president. Miss Guerrero was presented with a silver identification bracelet. The outgoing sponsees, Stewart Scott and Tommy Inskeep, also received identification bracelets. The sorority mother, Mrs. M. L. Meredith, and the sorority sponsor, Mrs. B. B. Martin, received corsages of white calla lilies and garlands.

A breakfast at the home of Miss Francis Whittlesey followed the dance. Mrs. C. C. Whittlesey, Mrs. B. B. Martin and Mrs. M. L. Meredith acted as co-hostesses. Members of their dates who enjoyed the evening of dancing were: Miss Sharon Anderson and Homer Sanderson; Miss Ann Atkinson and Sonny DeLoach; Miss Betty Benson and Stewart Scott; Miss Barbara Beuse and George Lester; Miss Jane Birdsong and Bernard Kramer; Miss Ann Braun and Bobby Ledbetter; and Miss Sara Ellen Bruno and Jeff Doliar. Miss Libby Butler and Charles Dean.

HOME CEREMONY UNITES IN MARRIAGE MISS JOY MICHAEL AND MR. ISRAEL LEVINE

Of interest to a wide circle of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Joy Elaine Michael, daughter of Mrs. Mollie Michael of this city, and Mr. Israel Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Levine of New York City on June 23. The ceremony took place in the bride's home with Dr. F. K. Hirsch, officiating in the presence of a small group of friends and members of the family.

The ceremony, characterized by charming simplicity, was performed before an improvised altar banked with California daisies and magnolias and white tapers burning in the background.

Miss Irma Jane Nussbaum, of Dermot, Ark., served as maid of honor. She wore an aqua model with white accessories.

Her corsage was of talisman roses.

Mr. Levine, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride, entering on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Joe Daniel of Winston, wore a beautiful advanced model of bronze sheer with cherry accessories. The bronze orchids on her prayer book were in perfect harmony with the handsome amber comb she wore in her hair.

An informal reception was held and before departing on their honeymoon the young couple cut their beautiful embossed wedding cake. It centered a lace covered, candlelit table in the dining room where daisies Out of town guests for the wedding and magnolias continued the floral theme. A variety of confections and punch was served by Miss Regenia Scherck and Mrs. Joe Daniels.

The bride, until recently, a student at Northeast Junior College, is a graduate of Neville High School.

The groom, who graduated from City College, New York and is now employed there as a public relations council.

He was discharged from the air corps last October after serving as a technician with the Eighth Air Force.

The young couple will reside in New York.

Mr. Levine was in training as a navigator at Selman Field when he met Miss Michael.

Mrs. Levine has many friends in this area, and it was reflected in the many lovely parties and showers given the bride when her wedding date was announced. Among those entertaining for her with the past week were Miss Emily Cunningham, Miss Shirley Kaplan, Miss Marilyn Rosenberg, Miss Regula Scherck and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daniel.

The young couple will reside in New York.

Mr. Levine was in training as a navigator at Selman Field when he met Miss Michael.

Mrs. Levine has many friends in this area, and it was reflected in the many lovely parties and showers given the bride when her wedding date was announced. Among those entertaining for her with the past week were Miss Emily Cunningham, Miss Shirley Kaplan, Miss Marilyn Rosenberg, Miss Regula Scherck and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daniel.

Out of town guests for the wedding

and magnolias continued the floral theme. A variety of confections and punch was served by Miss Regenia Scherck and Mrs. Joe Daniels.

The bride's mother, assisting in the courtesies, wore a multi-colored summer sheer with corsage of carnations.

The groom's mother wore black with corsage of carnations. The maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lilly Michael, was dressed in black and white marquise with an orchid corsage.

The bride, until recently, a student at Northeast Junior College, is a graduate of Neville High School.

The groom, who graduated from City College, New York and is now employed there as a public relations council.

He was discharged from the air corps last October after serving as a technician with the Eighth Air Force.

The young couple will reside in New York.

HORSE SHOW TO ATTRACT MANY TO NEVILLE FIELD

Thoroughbreds To Be On Display In Annual Event Starting Saturday

Hoofbeats on the turf at Neville stadium will be sweet music to the ears of horse lovers next Saturday and Sunday when the second annual horse show will be staged in spectacular manner. The event will be a brilliant one with owners of pedigreed horses from six states and every horse lover in this parish in attendance.

Horse racing, a national pastime, is called the sport of kings because it has been one of their favorite amusements since the earliest dawn of civilization. Horse racing is particularly popular in the South as ladies and gentlemen of the Old South practically grew up in the saddle and were as much at home astride their fine horses as they were in the drawing room.

Today the art of riding is almost lost, but even so there are many Southerners who still thrill to the sight of a fine pedigreed horse, and especially when it is being put through its paces at a horse show. The trotting and pacing horse, several of which will be entered in the horse show, is perhaps the most popular of all. These horses have two gaits and are the connecting link between the walk and the gallop. No one has ever been able to explain why a horse goes from one to the other of these gaits when urged from the walk and guided by the rein to keep from the gallop.

Gentlemen of the Old South spent as much money as their means allowed in raising, training and driving good horses. There was much rivalry and constant vying of each horse-fancier to excel among his fellows and the interest displayed today in selling and "swapping" horseflesh is typical of the Old South.

The horse show in Monroe next Saturday and Sunday is largely the outgrowth of this far-reaching interest in horses.

As is always the case it takes men of vision and unbounded enthusiasm to make a horse show possible.

In Monroe it was Herbert Fink who conceived the idea of a horse show and it was inaugurated last October with such overwhelming success it has now become an annual event. Mr. Fink owns some of the most highly pedigreed horses in this section and has gone in for this sport on a large scale. His stables at his country home are the finest in the country and when completed will accommodate twenty or more horses. One of his horses, "Miss Monroe," has been carrying away blue ribbons at horse shows for the past year. "Miss Monroe" will be entered in the show on Saturday and Sunday and will be ridden by Richard Mary of the famous Hillside stables in Arcadia. The wide acreage at "Hideaway," the Fink home, offers fine grazing land for horses.

It is the aim and desire of Mr. Fink to make Monroe famous for its type of horse shows. No doubt his ambition will be rewarded as he has gone long way since last October when the first horse show attracted country-wide interest.

The thoroughbred American horse is the product of pure breeds imported from England during the 17th and 18th centuries. They first found their way into the Old Dominion of Virginia where they founded a tribe of early race horses, to which are traced today many of the most fashionable pedigrees. From Virginia the thoroughbreds finally found their way into the Carolinas and as far south as Mississippi and Louisiana and later Kentucky. The breeding of thoroughbreds became what might be termed an industry.

The most favorable condition which has proved successful in raising the thoroughbred in the South is that he is housed less and has at all times access to lands covered by the finest of grasses which brings his feet constantly into contact with moisture. The frog of the foot, being like a sponge, absorbs this moisture, thus creating a gentle pressure which spreads the hoof. It is a conceded fact that "no foot, no horse." This is one of the reasons Mr. Fink gives particular attention to his grazing land at "Hideaway."

Many pedigreed horses, all blue ribbon winners and owned by local horse fanciers, will be entered in the horse show. "High Ball," for instance, owned by L. C. Hammons, and J. M. Moreland's "Strutin' Gal." J. C. Liner's horses, all thoroughbreds, will be shown.

Six lovely members of the younger set, Rosalie Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Riley, Miss Esther Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ewing, Miss Sue Anne Windes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Windes, Miss Marguerite Lamkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Lamkin, Miss Ida Sophie Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson, and Mary Anetta Lennon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lennon, have been selected by the promoters of the Monroe horse show to serve as ribbon girls.

GREETINGS, MINA GENEVIEVE LAKE PROVIDENCE, June 29.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmus H. Coleman announce the arrival of a daughter, Mina Genevieve, 7 pounds and 10 ounces, on June 25 at Mercy hospital, Vicksburg, Miss. Mrs. Coleman is the former Genevieve Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gross of Lake Providence.

Beautiful thoroughbred horses will abound in Monroe's second annual horse show at Neville stadium July 6 and 7 but none will be more beautiful than "Helen Missouri," to the right, ridden by Lois Mellor of El Dorado. To the left is J. C. Liner's "Lotta Motion." Lower left is Herbert Fink's "King's Lady," and right, lower section, is "Naughty Lady," ridden by Marie Kent of Fluker, La.

TROOPERS BOOK 5 AS DRUNK DRIVERS

One Fined $100 And Jailed For 30 Days, Another Forfeits $150

Five of the eight arrests made by Troop F of the Monroe State police post during the week were on charges of drunk driving, and one of the accused, Robert P. Peterson of West Monroe, route 4, was fined $100 and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail.

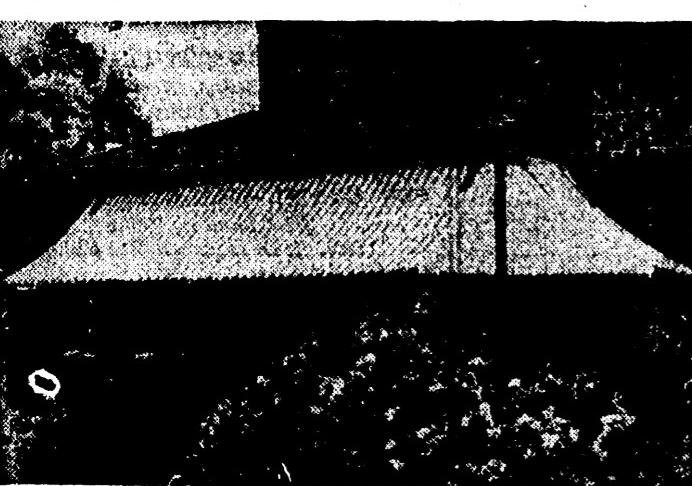

The four others arrested for operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor were E. L. Stubbs, Oak Grove, route 2; Leonard Lee, Chestnut; Henry C. Martin, Jr.,

McGee, disturbing the peace and carrying a concealed weapon, $45 and costs; C. C. Chapman, burglary, sentenced to 12 months' road work, and Laura Nofis, reckless driving, $5 and costs.

A long-handled brush for washing glasses, bottles and other tall containers will prove very useful.

Ice cream was made and sold commercially first in Baltimore in 1851.

They are (left to right) William Earl Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nolan, who finished grammar school last month; Bruce Files, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Files, a junior in high school and holds 36 merit badges; James McLendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McLendon, is a senior patrol leader and cub scout organizer. He is a freshman in Louisiana Tech. McLendon and Files are members of the Order of the Arrow and all three have been at camp at Ki-Ro-Li.

ARE YOU AN ALCOHOLIC? IF SO "A. A." OFFERS HELP

This is the first of a series of articles which will appear in the News- Star-World from time to time, dealing with the organization known as "Alcoholics Anonymous" and offered to our readers as a means of disseminating the principles and purposes of that organization.

Unobtrusively—the basic principle of their organization is not to obtuse—a group of men and women, unashamedly admitting themselves to be alcoholics, has been established in Monroe.

It is a chapter of "Alcoholics Anonymous" and is extending an invitation to others afflicted with the "illness" of alcoholism to join with them in conquering the malady.

At the outset the group wants it understood that it has no quarrel with those who drink. Its slogan is:

"...you drink that is your business; if you want to quit that is our business."

"Alcoholics Anonymous" is a national organization, founded ten years ago with branches or "groups," as the local organizations are known, in nearly every geographical center in the United States and Canada. It has no paid officers; it operates without fees or dues; it offers no "nonsense"—requires no oaths or pledges. But it does offer, by precept and example and understanding cooperation, a means of restoring the afflicted alcoholic to normal and happier living.

And its methods have been publicly accepted by press and pulpit and the medical profession as one of the most effective—if not the most effective—means of attaining that goal.

"A. A." has no desire to foist itself on anyone. To join in the movement the "alcoholic" must do it of his or her own volition. Each group operates as a separate unit—anonymously. It operates without fanfare—without publicity. No one who joins ever is embarrassed. All of the members are, or have been, in the "same boat." Each is an "alcoholic" and the sole purpose of each member is to help others—and in helping others, to help themselves—by proven methods to master their craving for alcohol.

"A. A." does not consider everyone who may take a drink an alcoholic. "Alcoholism" is regarded as a disease—and so accepted by the medical profession. It is to help those that "Alcoholics Anonymous" was founded by men and women themselves a victim and who have found the desired results obtained by the methods of the organization.

As set forth by the national organization and the founders of the movement "we think of alcoholism as an illness; an obsession of the mind coupled with an 'allergy' of the body. It is a shattering sickness—physical, emotional and spiritual. How to expel the obsession that compels us to drink against our will is the problem of every alcoholic."

"The only requirement of A. A. membership is an honest desire to stop drinking. We feel that each man's religious views, if any, are his own affair. While every shade of opinion is found among us, we take no position, as a group, upon controversial questions. No particular point of view is demanded of anyone. Our sole aim is to show sick alcoholics who want to get well how they may do so."

And, it is pointed out "not being reformers, we offer our experience only to those who want it."

The Monroe group may be reached through P. O. Box 309.

BABY SHOW WILL END IN PAGEANT

The grand prize baby show which is being held here under the auspices of the United Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary closed registrations with 250 babies entered for the event. The baby revue will be held in the Ouachita Parish High School Auditorium Monday, July 1, at 3 p.m. Babies will be arranged according to ages and sex.

The handsomest boy and the prettiest girl will be presented a gift.

The grand champion award will be presented to the baby having the greatest number of health, beauty and friendship votes and will be awarded at the pageant Wednesday evening, July 3.

The historical pageant which will be held in the Ouachita Parish High School, Wednesday night, July 3, will be composed of a cast of girls from the school. They will depict different periods of American history, and there will be songs, dances and drills. A queen of victory will be chosen from the cast and will receive a diamond ring. Members of her court will also be recipients of gifts.

Photographs of the entrants in the show are on display in the windows of the J. C. Penney Company.

All prizes will be presented Wednesday night at the high school pageant.

ENLIST TODAY ARMY IS URGING

Deadline Nears For Men To Receive Re-Enlistment Priv- ileges

The army recruiting office will be open all day Sunday as June 30 is the deadline for re-enlistment privileges.

An announcement of vital importance to army officers on terminal leave was made by the Barkdale Field recruiting office in regard to such officers re-enlisting in the regular army by June 30. The Barkdale recruiting officer stated that authority has been received for officers on terminal leave who desire to re-enlist as master sergeants, and retain family allowances privileges, to waive their terminal leave by telegraphic application to the adjutant general. This provision will enable many officers to receive the benefits of the family allowances who otherwise would not be able to re-enlist before the deadline.

The base recruiting officer also pointed out that many veterans do not fully understand the provisions and privileges of re-enlistment before June 30.

According to present war department directives, ex-servicemen who were discharged after May 12, 1945, may re-enlist in the grade they held at time of discharge, provided they do so within 90 days after discharge, or before June 30, whichever date comes first. After June 30, ex-servicemen may re-enlist in grade provided they do so within 20 days after separation.

Any man discharged after May 12,

1945, who has let the 90-day deadline expire, may re-enlist before June 30 and will receive a grade commensurate with his training and ability. The recruiting officer further pointed out that men who re-enlist by June 30 will be assured of the family allowance for the entire period of enlistment. For further information contact your army air forces recruiting officer at 200 South Grand street or call 3083. The A. A. F. recruiting office will be open all day Sunday.

'LONG HOLIDAY' HAZARDS CITED

Chief Asks Drivers To Be 'Extra Cautious' Over July Fourth

Foreseeing a tremendous volume of traffic during the Fourth of July weekend holiday that will extend for many from next Thursday through Sunday night, Chief of Police J. D. Busby yesterday called upon the public to cooperate with his department's continuous safety campaign by being extra-cautious and observe all regulations during this particularly perilous period.

Highways and streets will be thronged over the holiday this year with the thousands of persons who have foregone trips and vacations during the war and are starting to catch up in their pleasure driving, said the chief, and he added, "This long week-end, worn out tires and the seasonal festive spirit combine to create a most serious hazard."

Recalling the annual heavy toll exacted by the mid-summer holiday in the nation over past Independence days, the chief addressed this appeal to drivers: "Let's make Monroe one place where the Fourth does not mean death to any of our residents, but a city dedicated to thanksgiving for the freedom for which Americans have fought and won."

Mattie Ula Benjamin, colored, was in parish jail in default of $1,000 following arraignment on a charge of forgery. She is accused of endorsing and cashing a government check belonging to Georgia Lee Benjamin.

At liberty under $500 bond on a whiskey charge is Henry Williams, Negro, alias Acy Washington, of near Ferriday. The bond was provided by Dr. W. C. Kailer, a Ferriday veterinarian.

While on the topic of safety, Chief Busby remarked the frequency of accidents caused by the sudden careless opening of doors on the "traffic side" of vehicles, and he again pointed out that such an act is a violation of the traffic code and is punishable by a fine of $1 to $250 or imprisonment from one to 60 days. He cited Section 25 of the traffic code, which reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to open the door of a vehicle, or to attempt to enter or alight from a vehicle, on the left side, or traffic side, when another vehicle approaches sufficiently near to render collision or accident probable; provided, that on one-way streets this rule shall additionally apply to the right side of the vehicle if it occupies the left side of the street."

Then there is jay-walking, a hazardous and too-common practice and a law violation, that carries the same penalty. Although the jay-walker breaks the law, the responsibility of the driver is not removed, the chief said in citing Section 67 of the code. It reads:

"It shall be unlawful for a pedestrian to cross a street in the business district of the City of Monroe except at crosswalks; provided further that when a pedestrian has actually left the curb at a crosswalk in the business district, when no vehicle is sufficiently close to render accident probable, such pedestrian shall have preference and priority to the use of the street over vehicles moving on or turning into the street; provided further that it shall be the duty of drivers and operators of vehicles in all parts of the city of Monroe to maintain a sharp lookout at all times for pedestrians and for children playing on sidewalks and to reduce speed or stop whenever and wherever the circumstances and safety may demand it."

Boyle's Notebook

BERLIN, June 29.—(P)—The American army is doing what German troops couldn't do in two world wars—breaking up the rock of the Marne."

On Aug. 1 it will deactivate the famous third infantry division, an outfit that fought still worse, won more medals and suffered more casualties than perhaps any other United States unit in history, and from its alumni in civil life and army posts around the world there is going up a cry:

"Why bust up the old third?"

Men leave the "fighting third"—Generals Dwight Eisenhower and Mark Clark are among its graduates—but they never forget it. They move on to new outfits, but many of them out of old loyalty still wear its blue-and-white shoulder patch—and regulations be damned.

It and the equally renowned first infantry division rank as probably the two finest doughboy divisions ever to serve under the American flag. There are jealousy and rivalry between many combat divisions, but I never heard a soldier question or criticize the battle performance of either the first or third infantry.

What makes such outfits great? Training training, training—and tradition.

Without this basic training and tradition the soldiers of the third couldn't have stuck to the long road from Cascablanca to Berchtesgaden, a bitter road marked by such bloody signposts as Sicily, Volturno, Anzio, Mignano, the Vosges, the Colmar pocket and Nuremberg.

The third division was the first activated in 1917, but its component regiments—the seventh, fifteenth and thirtieth—have battle records that go back to the war of 1812.

In the first World War the third saw action at Chateau Thierry and took part in four offensives during which it won its nickname, "Rock of the Marne."

In the last war it set a record of 431 days in the line and made more ampibious landings than any other division in the European theater. It did so well that army commanders, faced with a new campaign, began with:

"Well, I'll need the third division." The third began with 15,000 men. It suffered 34,000 casualties, including more than 6,000 dead.

CADDY PASTOR TO HEAD TECH GROUP

RUSTON, La., July 29.—(Special)—Rev. Newman G. Preston, Jr., Shreveport, has been named director of the Wesley Foundation at Louisiana Tech, replacing Faye Barr, who has resigned to do graduate work.

Having received a B. S. degree from the L. S. U. College of Commerce and a Bachelor of divinity degree from Duke University, Rev. Preston has one year of graduate study at Yale Divinity School, Yale University, specializing in student work.

Rev. Preston also served as pastor of the Methodist Church in Hillsboro, N. C., from November, 1943, to August, 1945, and of the South Meriden Methodist Church in South Meriden, Conn., from September, 1945, to May, 1946.

"Duty—Responsibility—Equality—Freedom!"

In the Glorious History of Our Nation these Honest Words Loom Large. They Tell the Story of the AMERICAN WAY—in Life, in Business, in Government—All Through the Years—UNTIL the Overlords of Labor undertook to Challenge and Change the Very Basis of the Structure that Generations of Americans had Built.

They Belittled DUTY, and for it substituted COMPELATION. They "vetoed" RESPONSIBILITY, and in its place put POWER. They Laughed at EQUALITY, for their doctrine is SPECIAL PRIVILEGE. And they sought the Death of FREEDOM so that REGIMENTATION might Prevail.

'All This and MORE the OVERLORDS of Labor Sought and STILL Seek to do to America—to Louisiana—to ALL of us.'

But they have Overreached themselves—they have Ignored the Warnings of History. They have Arrogantly Violated the Rights and Interests of ALL the People. They would TEST WHO RULES AMERICA. The Overlords of Labor have ASKED For It—and they will Get Their ANSWER.

Indeed, they are GETTING that Answer, AND THE STATE OF LOUISIANA IS IN THE LEAD, as the Voice of America Rises in a Thundering Chorus of Indignation to Attest that THE PEOPLE—ALL THE PEOPLE—RULE THIS NATION OF OURS.

Proudly Louisiana sees its Legislature, without malice—without anger—without vengeance—but with Freedom, Justice, and the purpose of a Square Deal For All, to guide them, introduce and pass legislation establishing the "Right to Work" without paying tribute, and introduce and pass through the Senate a Bill—Senate Bill 37—establishing "Equal Responsibility" between Employers and Unions to carry out the terms of contracts.

This Senate Bill 37—which has passed the Senate and IS NOW PENDING IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES completes a Declaration of Independence of the State of Louisiana from the domination of the Overlords of Labor. It will finish the building of a DEFENSE against the Schemes and Plans of these men who seek to impose their will on the People of this State.

Senate Bill 37 is a FAIR Bill. It is a JUST Bill. It takes NOTHING from ANY working man or woman. It simply establishes EQUALITY and forces the Overlords of Labor to KEEP THEIR WORD, just as Employers must ALREADY DO, when they sign collective bargaining contracts.

YOUR Voice should be heard in favor of this Bill, and the Principles of Duty, Responsibility, Equality, and Freedom it Represents. Write, wire, phone, or SEE your Representative at Baton Rouge TODAY. Tell him to work for and VOTE FOR, Senate Bill 37.

EX-SEABEE NOW HOUSE BUILDER

Rupert Goodwin To Move Into Own Home He Has Erected

A West Monroe Seabee, returned from many grueling days, weeks and months in the torrid jungle-infested southwest Pacific has just finished another task, this time right at home. Rupert N. Goodwin has just completed erection of his own home at 804 North Fifth Street, West Monroe.

Returning from extended overseas duty and again resuming his former life with his wife and two small daughters, he realized that a home of their own was the foremost need. His only construction work was that which he had done as a Seabee but he had boundless pluck.

With his father-in-law, W. G. Jasper, with whom the Goodwins lived at 806 North Fourth Street, West Monroe, he schemed as to how to get a home for his little brood in these days of exorbitant prices for materials and real estate.

Ultimately, with the encouragement of the women of the family, Goodwin decided to try his hand at house-building. He purchased the lot immediately south of the Jasper home, so that Mrs. Goodwin could be near her parents, and plans were quickly drawn for a small but complete house. Goodwin, employed as draftsman by the Louisiana Power and Light Company, figured he could put in from two to four hours daily on the house and not interfere with his regular job.

On January 1, last, the foundation was laid for the residence which has dimensions of 30 feet frontage, by 20 feet in depth. Two large bedrooms are provided, a well-appointed bath room, a large kitchen with breakfast nook and plenty of closets and kitchen cupboards.

The quest for materials slowed down the progress of the building but last week, after many delays, it was completed.

Floors are of fir, artistically treated with wood filler and a good coat of varnish. Wood work through the house is of ivory color with walls of sheet rock. The rooms are finished with Kentone and are either Avalon Blue or Cameo Pink.

No trained carpenter was employed, but the job has no appearance of being done by an amateur. Ceilings are high; windows abundant, usually four to a room; windows and doors are well screened and the pride of the house is the bathroom that embodies the latest in modern equipment. No one but Goodwin, with slight aid from his father-in-law, worked on the house with the exception of the installation of plumbing and electrical equipment.

The cost of the lot, the purchase of

HERE'S WHAT AN AMATEUR BUILT

building material, the plumbing bill, which by the way exceeded $800, brought the actual cost of the house to approximately $2,300. A loan of sufficient size was obtained through a local building and loan association.

Asked if he'd want to build another house again soon and Mr. Goodwin declared with emphasis: "Not on your life. It carries with it too much grief."

PENIEL REVIVAL IS HELD DAILY

The third chapter of John was the Scripture selection for the address by Rev. E. N. Weaver at Peniel Baptist Church before another large crowd Friday night. The speaker pointed out that there is enough of the Gospel contained in this chapter to tell anybody anywhere, what to do to be saved.

He said in part: "There are three things in this chapter that reveal to us what Jesus tells to Nicodemus, a very important Warsaw official who rules the Jews. First, it reveals to us that a man's position and learning doesn't save him. Although Nicodemus was a man of authority, a man of great power, and a man of much learning, an authority on the Old Testament Scriptures, he was a lost man. Secondly, a man's religion doesn't save him. Nicodemus was an extremely religious man; he went through many religious ceremonies and performances, but at the same time he was a lost man. Then, it teaches us that to be saved one must be born again from above, born of the Holy Spirit and born into the family of God as one is born into his earthly family in this world. Salvation is the gift of God through the Lord Jesus Christ unto the hearts of all men who will believe."

Foster C. Wilson, Baylor student, is leading the singing in a most dynamic way. Services are held daily at 9 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., running on into the week of July 4. The public is invited to attend.

FOURTH BOY FUGITIVE GETS 3-YEAR SENTENCE

Clyde Hyde, 15, said to have been the leader of four boys caught here in a stolen car after they had broken jail at Memphis, is expected to join his companions in the national reformatory at Washington, D. C., where they were sentenced recently by the federal court at Shreveport.

Hyde drew a 3-year term in the same court Wednesday, also on a Dyer act charge, and was permitted to remain at liberty under $1,000 bond until it is determined where the sentence will be served. All of the boys were residents of Memphis.

AGED PAPER IS NOW CURIOSITY

Vicksburg, Miss., Issue Of July
2, 1863, Owned By Local Man

R. C. Guy, 2904 Lee Avenue, possesses a framed copy of the 4-column issue of the "Daily Citizen," "J. M. Swords, proprietor," published in Vicksburg, Miss., July 2, 1863. It is well yellowed with age and is on wall paper. It may or may not be an "original." Mr. Guy believes it is an "original." He received it from Mrs. A. A. Thomason, formerly of Monroe, now of Texas. At this time when Vicksburg people are discussing, many in hostile mood, the observation of July 4 this year, Mr. Guy thinks his possession has renewed interest.

At the bottom of the last column appears the following:

"NOTE: July 4, 1863."

"Two days bring about great changes. The banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg. General Grant has 'caught the rabbit' and he dined in Vicksburg and he did bring his dinner with him. The 'Citizen' lives to see it. For the last time it appears on 'wall paper.' No more will it eulogize the luxury of mule meat and fricasseed kitten—urge Southern warriors to such diet nevermore. This is the last wall paper edition and is excepting this note from the types as we found them, it will be valuable hereafter as a curiosity."

Here are some of the items: "The Rebels are reported to be fortifying South Mountain. They have in the vicinity of Williamsport about 6,000 infantry; 1,000 cavalry; and a few pieces of artillery. A squadron of cavalry could undoubtedly capture the entire force this side of South Mountain."

And another: "The Federal General McClelland until recently outside the rear of our city has been superseded. He and Grant could not run in the same harness. He was for spurring and Grant for gassing, both got the loggerheads. So poor McC had to leave and Grant has it all his own way."

Another comment: "The Yanks outside our city are considerably on the
